BUDGET GAP $1.5 MILLION . . .

Exon And NU Move Closer

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Gov. J. James Exon and University of Nebraska officials appeared Wednesday to have moved within $1.5 million of each other in recommendations and requests for next year's budget.

In a letter to the Legislature's Budget Committee, the governor said he would support an increase of about $2.2 million in general fund appropriations over his original requests.

In another letter to the committee, NU Chancellor D. B. Varner proposed a "continuation" budgeting concept which he said would require $3.7 million more than Exon had first proposed.

Both letters were made public late Wednesday.

Proposals Summarized

The governor's release of his communication, dated April 13, was followed by the university's release of the Varner letter, dated April 5. Exon said his summarized proposals he had outlined for the committee on April 7.

Exon told the committee, which meets at noon Thursday to take action on NU budget recommendations, that his suggested increase "can be met within the framework of existing tax rates."

Of the total $2.2 million, Exon said, some $613,000 would go to the NU Medical Center, while most of the remainder would be tagged for specific programs at the Lincoln campuses and outstate activities.

Net Hike Of 7.5%

"The net percentage increase" for the Lincoln and outstate programs, the governor said, would jump from the 3.5% of his original proposal to 7.5%, including both general funds and other monies.

The additional funds would be provided mainly for major programs, such as administration, instruction and plant operation and maintenance on the Lincoln campuses and the hospital at the medical center.

Included was some $730,000 the governor had previously said he would recommend be added to his original proposals for agricultural research.

Seek To Stall Cuts

"We are agreeing to this approach," Exon wrote, "only if the university officials will concur that they will not close down necessary facilities and programs, including summer school, limitation of enrollment, or deterioration of the programs to train family physicians as threatened in some quarters.

"No such actions were ever recommended by the governor," Exon said.

He told the committee the increases in certain programs could be funded partly by a reduction of some $750,000 in a $1 million "regents discretionary fund" identified in his original budget message.

Varner's letter, although stressing that the Board of Regents still favored an earlier proposal for a "mid-point in the Big 8" concept, said the university recognized such a plan would require general fund appropriations of some $8 million more than Exon had first proposed.

'More Modest'

The chancellor said the new, "more modest proposal," would be based on acceptance of the governor's original proposals for NU at Omaha and of the governor's revised proposal for the medical center, but a continuation funding formula for NU-Lincoln.

That formula, Varner said, would provide the Lincoln programs with $3.1 million more than Exon had first offered.

The plan would provide funds for a $300 increase for each full-time employe, add a 4.2% cost-of-living hike for items purchased, provide funds to maintain two new buildings and cover extra costs for such items as fuel and utilities.

Tuition Increase

It would also apparently assume an increase in tuition to the level suggested by the regents last fall and adopted by Exon. That hike, however, had been tied to a request for some $17.5 million more than Exon suggested in his message to the Legislature early this year.

That kind of hike in tuition would indicate a change in the thinking of at least some regents who had said they could not support asking students to assume that kind of burden without significant increases in appropriations.

Exon also told the Budget Committee his proposals would provide for the increased enrollment envisioned by the university.

'No Growth'

Varner said, however, that NU's plan would "anticipate no growth in enrollment for the year ahead and certainly no enrichment of the program which exists.

"On the other hand," he said, "it would not necessitate significant cutbacks in the current level of operations because of budgetary constraints."

"It would," he added, "permit us to continue the operation essentially at the existing level."

Exon told the committee he was recommending the increases "after hours and hours of painstaking study and review," the result of a number of private discussions with university officials.

Cincinnati (UPI) — The Rev. Ted Moore, pastor of the Church of Christ in Big Prairie, Ohio, paid off a bet he had made with his congregation. CHOU WANTS TO PAY VISIT

He Hasn't Seen North America

. . . U.S. TEAM IS RECEIVED

By JOHN RODERICK

Peking (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai, announcing that U.S. newsmen will be allowed to enter China "in batches" hinted Wednesday that he wants to visit North America.

He also said a "long cultural exchange" between Britain and China may be in the offing and discussed the American hippie movement.

Chou, 73, spoke at a reception for table tennis teams from the United States, Britain, Canada, Nigeria and Colombia. These were invited to visit China when the world championships ended in Japan a week ago.

Chou said many American correspondents have wished to come to China but there had to be a first group. "They will come in batches," he said, adding that newsmen from other countries also will be invited.

Resident American correspondents have been barred from China since 1949. A few writers have been admitted from time to time for brief visits. Other groups of foreign correspondents, such as British, French and Canadian, operate here regularly on a restricted basis.

The American writers and television men invited in for this week's visit by the table tennis team comprise the first group of U.S. correspondents to come here in 22 years.

Chou, who was formerly foreign minister, recognized this AP correspondent from his assignment to China 23 years ago. Chou said: "Mr. Roderick, you have opened the door."

The hint that Chou would like to visit North America came in a remark that he had never seen that continent. He thus did not specifically speak of a visit to the United States, which has no diplomatic relations with Peking. Canada has such relations, established recently by the Pierre Elliott Trudeau government. Ambassadors were named Tuesday.

Chou is often spoken of as China's leading moderate. He said his government wants to have contacts with all countries, even those with which it has no diplomatic relations. He indicated Chinese teams would accept invitations from the British, Nigerians, Canadians and Colombians to play table tennis in those countries later this year.

Jack Howard, of Seattle, Wash., captain of the U.S. team, told Chou he hoped a Chinese team would visit the United States. The premier replied this was up to Graham Steenhoven, president of the U.S. Table Tennis Association. Steenhoven said later the Chinese had been invited.

Turning to the Americans, the premier said, "In the past exchanges between the peoples of China and the United States have been very numerous. They have been cut off for a long time. Now, with your acceptance of our invitation, you have opened a new page in the relations of the Chinese and the American people. I am confident that this beginning again of our friendship will certainly meet with the majority support of our two peoples."

Chou said many "American friends" came to China in the past.

Glenn Cowan, 19, of Santa Monica, Calif., one of the 15 members of the U.S. table tennis delegation, asked Chou what he thought of the American hippie movement.

"I'm not very clear about it," the Mandarin turned revolutionary replied. "In the second place what I have seen is only very superficial. But perhaps the youth of the world today are dissatisfied with their present situation and want to seek the truth.

"In the course of changes of ideology among young people various forms are bound to emerge," he said.

"These forms cannot be said to be final because in their search youth must go through various processes. This should be allowed to them. When we were young it was the same with us. I understand the ideas of youth. They are very curious."

$30 Million Tax Shift Gets Initial OK

. . . PROPERTY EXEMPTION, TECH SCHOOL PROPOSALS ADVANCED

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Completing a spectacular double play, the Legislature Wednesday handed strong initial approval to proposals which would shift about $30 million in annual tax support from property to sales and income levies.

After the lengthiest debate of the 1971 session, lawmakers stamped 31-13 first stage endorsement on a 50% personal property tax exemption bill carrying a sales-income price tag of some $24.8 million in 1972.

That measure would trigger a one-half percent hike in the state sales tax and a one percent personal income tax boost or a 4% increase in the income tax alone.

Would Shatter Budget

If it remains intact, attracts at least 25 votes on final reading and withstands a certain gubernatorial veto (that will take 30 votes), it will not merely break Gov. J. James Exon's budget, it will shatter it.

In a surprise move, lawmakers amended the proposal to create a statewide system of technical community colleges to provide for full state funding of the schools and advanced the revised package on a 32-8 vote.

The Legislature served notice that it will look to an old limited sales tax source—the excise tax on beer and liquor — to provide the $5 million in annual funding required to implement the proposal.

Pulled From Committee

On a 27-12 vote, senators yanked from the Revenue Committee Sen. Terry Carpenter's bill to hike beer and liquor taxes and brought it to the floor for later consideration.

Time ran out on the Unicameral before it could attempt an astonishing property tax relief triple play.

Scheduled for consideration Thursday morning is LB462, the proposal to raise the level of state financial aid to local schools from $35 million to $89 million a year.

LB573, Sen. Jules Burbach's massive personal property tax exemption plan providing business and agricultural exemptions, was altered at his request to slow the pace of increasing exemptions in the future.

Under the new proposal, a 50% exemption would be in effect for three years. Then, beginning in 1975, an additional 10% exemption would be provided each year until the total reached 90% in 1978.

With that reduced pace (his original proposal called for a 90% exemption by 1974), Burbach said, there would probably need to be no further increase in sales and income tax rates after 1972 to fund the exemptions.

Technical College Plan Is Advanced

Should Pay Bill

The natural growth of sales-income tax revenue should pay the bill for additions taking effect after 1974, he said.

Burbach was able to hold his plan together against a series of assaults from friend and foe, chiefly aimed at expanding or reducing the exemptions.

A motion to kill, tossed into the debate by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, was smashed on an 11-30 count.

Exemptions

Here are the farm and business exemptions which would be provided by the bill:

—business inventories, $8.6 million.
—business equipment, $6.8 million.
—agricultural machinery and equipment, $3.1 million.
—livestock and feeds, $5.3 million.
—grain and seed, $1.0 million.

Those taxes now go to the support of local government, and would be replaced by state sales-income tax allotments.

LB573 provides property tax relief "which is so badly needed" and begins to lift the burden from an essentially "unfair" tax on equipment and inventory, Burbach said.

Its enactment should result in an accelerated economic climate in the state, he argued.

Opponents said the bill unfairly shifts the tax burden to the average taxpayer, especially those in urban areas.

"Businessmen and farmers are not the only people who need relief," Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island argued.

'Socking It To You'

"They're socking it to you today," Sen. Ernest Chambers told his urban colleagues.

"It's a lousy deal," Klaver said.

An effort by Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha to hold the initial exemption to 10% and add 10% each year for the following eight years was rejected on a 12-31 count.

Sen. Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove was rebuffed on a 6-33 vote when he attempted to reduce the first year exemption to 20%.

Elrod sought to add motor vehicles to the list of exemptions "to provide some relief for everyone," but that proposal, whose cost was figured at another $11.5 million, fell on a 12-27 vote.

Burbach said a 50% initial exemption is "mandatory" if property tax relief is to be of any significant size.

Eleven of the 13 opposing votes were cast by Lincoln and Omahha senators.

Here is the vote on the motion to advance the bill:

For: Burbach, Carpenter, Carsten, Carstens, Clark, Craft, DeCamp, Duis, Epke, Hasebroock, Holmquist, Johnson, Keyes, Kime, Kokes, Lewis, Mahoney, Maresh, Morgan, Moylan, Nore, Schmit, Stromer, Stull, Swanson, Waldo, Waldron, Warner, Whitney, Wiltse, Ziebarth.
Against: Chambers, Goodrich, Klaver, Luedtke, Marvel, Orme, Savage, Simpson, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Syas, Wallwey.
Not Voting: Barnett, Elrod, Kennedy, Kremer, Proud.

Muskie Says FBI Spied On Earth Day Activities

Washington (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie broadened congressional criticism of the FBI Wednesday by accusing it of massive spying on 40 to 60 of last April's Earth Day antipollution observances.

"If antipollution rallies are a subject of intelligence concern" the Maine Democrat said in a Senate speech, "is anything immune?"

He said "there is no justification for any part of the federal intelligence community surreptitiously observing and reporting on legitimate political events which do not affect our national security or which do not involve a potential crime."

'Fishing Expedition'

Muskie, an unannounced candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, accused the FBI of engaging in general political surveillance without any indication of a specific target. "It was a fishing expedition," he said.

Muskie said neither President Nixon nor Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell "will do anything to change this situation," adding that "The President, in the face of reports of investigations that should outrage the nation, remains silent."

Neither the FBI nor the Justice Department had any immediate comment on Muskie's speech.

Leftist Groups

FBI sources indicated that any surveillance of Earth Day activities might have stemmed from efforts to keep tabs on such groups as Students for a Democratic Society and Progressive Labor Party, which it describes as a pro-Communist Chinese organization.

Muskie's speech came just 10 days after House Democratic leader Hale Boggs accused the FBI of tapping congressional telephones, a charge the FBI denied.

Muskie commented that "a large percentage of congressmen believe their phones are tapped" and told reporters that while "I make no such assumptions, I do not refute them either."

Board Proposed

In his speech, Muskie proposed creation of a new independent board to oversee the FBI and other federal intelligence agencies. He released also what he said was an FBI report describing in detail activities in Washington during last year's Earth Week, including a rally at which he spoke on April 22, 1970.

"I understand that this is but one of about 40 to 60 FBI reports of Earth Day rallies on April 22, 1970," he said.

Arms Limitation Needs CIA Help, Official Says

Washington (AP) — U.S. intelligence will have a major and vital role in any international agreement to limit strategic arms," Director Richard Helms of the Central Intelligence Agency told an editors' meeting Wednesday.

While giving the American Society of Newspaper Editors a rare public report on the functions of his supersecret agency, Helms said it would be "unthinkable to conclude a strategic arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union without the means for monitoring compliance."

In his first public speech since he became chief of the CIA in 1966, Helms reported that "a number of well-placed and courageous Russians," along with U2 photography, provided data on Soviet missile systems which helped the United States at the time of the 1962 Cuban missile crisis.

Helms insisted the CIA has "no domestic security role" and no police, subpoena or law-enforcement functions, although "our efforts to obtain foreign intelligence in this country have generated some of the more virulent criticism" of his agency.

Helms said if there is a chance a citizen traveling abroad has acquired foreign information that can be useful, "we are certainly going to try to interview him," and attempts will be made to hire students interested in working for the government.

"The trouble is that to those who insist on seeing us as a pernicious and pervasive secret government, our words 'interview' and 'hire' translate into suborn, subvert and seduce or something worse," he added. "We use no compulsion. If a possible source of information does not want to talk to us, we go away quietly."

Helms said he cannot give "an easy answer to the objections raised by those who consider intelligence work incompatible with democratic principles.

"The nation must to a degree take it on faith that we, too, are honorable men devoted to her service."

Helms said the CIA makes no foreign policy and "is not and cannot be its own master. It is the servant of the U.S. government, undertaking what that government asks it to do, under the directives and controls the government has established."

BUDGET GAP $1.5 MILLION . . .

Exon And NU Move Closer

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Gov. J. James Exon and University of Nebraska officials appeared Wednesday to have moved within $1.5 million of each other in recommendations and requests for next year's budget.

In a letter to the Legislature's Budget Committee, the governor said he would support an increase of about $2.2 million in general fund appropriations over his original requests.

In another letter to the committee, NU Chancellor D. B. Varner proposed a "continuation" budgeting concept which he said would require $3.7 million more than Exon had first proposed.

Both letters were made public late Wednesday.

Proposals Summarized

The governor's release of his communication, dated April 13, was followed by the university's release of the Varner letter, dated April 5. Exon said his summarized proposals he had outlined for the committee on April 7.

Exon told the committee, which meets at noon Thursday to take action on NU budget recommendations, that his suggested increase "can be met within the framework of existing tax rates."

Of the total $2.2 million, Exon said, some $613,000 would go to the NU Medical Center, while most of the remainder would be tagged for specific programs at the Lincoln campuses and outstate activities.

Net Hike Of 7.5%

"The net percentage increase" for the Lincoln and outstate programs, the governor said, would jump from the 3.5% of his original proposal to 7.5%, including both general funds and other monies.

The additional funds would be provided mainly for major programs, such as administration, instruction and plant operation and maintenance on the Lincoln campuses and the hospital at the medical center.

Included was some $730,000 the governor had previously said he would recommend be added to his original proposals for agricultural research.

Seek To Stall Cuts

"We are agreeing to this approach," Exon wrote, "only if the university officials will concur that they will not close down necessary facilities and programs, including summer school, limitation of enrollment, or deterioration of the programs to train family physicians as threatened in some quarters.

"No such actions were ever recommended by the governor," Exon said.

He told the committee the increases in certain programs could be funded partly by a reduction of some $750,000 in a $1 million "regents discretionary fund" identified in his original budget message.

Varner's letter, although stressing that the Board of Regents still favored an earlier proposal for a "mid-point in the Big 8" concept, said the university recognized such a plan would require general fund appropriations of some $8 million more than Exon had first proposed.

'More Modest'

The chancellor said the new, "more modest proposal," would be based on acceptance of the governor's original proposals for NU at Omaha and of the governor's revised proposal for the medical center, but a continuation funding formula for NU-Lincoln.

That formula, Varner said, would provide the Lincoln programs with $3.1 million more than Exon had first offered.

The plan would provide funds for a $300 increase for each full-time employe, add a 4.2% cost-of-living hike for items purchased, provide funds to maintain two new buildings and cover extra costs for such items as fuel and utilities.

Tuition Increase

It would also apparently assume an increase in tuition to the level suggested by the regents last fall and adopted by Exon. That hike, however, had been tied to a request for some $17.5 million more than Exon suggested in his message to the Legislature early this year.

That kind of hike in tuition would indicate a change in the thinking of at least some regents who had said they could not support asking students to assume that kind of burden without significant increases in appropriations.

Exon also told the Budget Committee his proposals would provide for the increased enrollment envisioned by the university.

'No Growth'

Varner said, however, that NU's plan would "anticipate no growth in enrollment for the year ahead and certainly no enrichment of the program which exists.

"On the other hand," he said, "it would not necessitate significant cutbacks in the current level of operations because of budgetary constraints."

"It would," he added, "permit us to continue the operation essentially at the existing level."

Exon told the committee he was recommending the increases "after hours and hours of painstaking study and review," the result of a number of private discussions with university officials.

$30 Million Tax Shift Gets Initial OK

Completing a spectacular double play, the Legislature Wednesday handed strong initial approval to proposals which would shift about $30 million in annual tax support from property to sales and income levies.

After the lengthiest debate of the 1971 session, lawmakers stamped 31-13 first stage endorsement on a 50% personal property tax exemption bill carrying a sales-income price tag of some $24.8 million in 1972.

The natural growth of sales-income tax revenue should pay the bill for additions taking effect after 1974, he said.

Burbach was able to hold his plan together against a series of assaults from friend and foe, chiefly aimed at expanding or reducing the exemptions.

A motion to kill, tossed into the debate by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, was smashed on an 11-30 count.

Muskie Says FBI Spied On Earth Day Activities

Washington (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie broadened congressional criticism of the FBI Wednesday by accusing it of massive spying on 40 to 60 of last April's Earth Day antipollution observances.

"If antipollution rallies are a subject of intelligence concern" the Maine Democrat said in a Senate speech, "is anything immune?"

He said "there is no justification for any part of the federal intelligence community surreptitiously observing and reporting on legitimate political events which do not affect our national security or which do not involve a potential crime."

'Fishing Expedition'

Muskie, an unannounced candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, accused the FBI of engaging in general political surveillance without any indication of a specific target. "It was a fishing expedition," he said.

Muskie said neither President Nixon nor Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell "will do anything to change this situation," adding that "The President, in the face of reports of investigations that should outrage the nation, remains silent."

Neither the FBI nor the Justice Department had any immediate comment on Muskie's speech.

Leftist Groups

FBI sources indicated that any surveillance of Earth Day activities might have stemmed from efforts to keep tabs on such groups as Students for a Democratic Society and Progressive Labor Party, which it describes as a pro-Communist Chinese organization.

Muskie's speech came just 10 days after House Democratic leader Hale Boggs accused the FBI of tapping congressional telephones, a charge the FBI denied.

Muskie commented that "a large percentage of congressmen believe their phones are tapped" and told reporters that while "I make no such assumptions, I do not refute them either."

Board Proposed

In his speech, Muskie proposed creation of a new independent board to oversee the FBI and other federal intelligence agencies. He released also what he said was an FBI report describing in detail activities in Washington during last year's Earth Week, including a rally at which he spoke on April 22, 1970.

"I understand that this is but one of about 40 to 60 FBI reports of Earth Day rallies on April 22, 1970," he said.

Arms Limitation Needs CIA Help, Official Says

Washington (AP) — U.S. intelligence will have a major and vital role in any international agreement to limit strategic arms," Director Richard Helms of the Central Intelligence Agency told an editors' meeting Wednesday.

While giving the American Society of Newspaper Editors a rare public report on the functions of his supersecret agency, Helms said it would be "unthinkable to conclude a strategic arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union without the means for monitoring compliance."

In his first public speech since he became chief of the CIA in 1966, Helms reported that "a number of well-placed and courageous Russians," along with U2 photography, provided data on Soviet missile systems which helped the United States at the time of the 1962 Cuban missile crisis.

Helms insisted the CIA has "no domestic security role" and no police, subpoena or law-enforcement functions, although "our efforts to obtain foreign intelligence in this country have generated some of the more virulent criticism" of his agency.

Helms said if there is a chance a citizen traveling abroad has acquired foreign information that can be useful, "we are certainly going to try to interview him," and attempts will be made to hire students interested in working for the government.

"The trouble is that to those who insist on seeing us as a pernicious and pervasive secret government, our words 'interview' and 'hire' translate into suborn, subvert and seduce or something worse," he added. "We use no compulsion. If a possible source of information does not want to talk to us, we go away quietly."

Helms said he cannot give "an easy answer to the objections raised by those who consider intelligence work incompatible with democratic principles.

"The nation must to a degree take it on faith that we, too, are honorable men devoted to her service."

Helms said the CIA makes no foreign policy and "is not and cannot be its own master. It is the servant of the U.S. government, undertaking what that government asks it to do, under the directives and controls the government has established."

U.S. Relaxes Embargo On Trade With China

World News

Washington (AP) — President Nixon announced Wednesday a five-point program to ease relations between the United States and Communist China, largely through relaxing of the long-term embargo on trade between the two countries.

Nixon's long-awaited decision, coupled with Premier Chou En-lai's statement to American table tennis players about "a new page" in U.S.-Chinese relations, marked a notable step in the gradual thaw replacing the prolonged freeze between Washington and Peking.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon made his decision two or three weeks ago, following a high-level administration review begun last December.

"So the substance of the action has no connection with the recent action by the Peoples Republic of China in its invitation to the U.S. table tennis team and surrounding circumstances," he said.

Timing 'Appropriate'

But White House officials acknowledged that the timing of Nixon's announcement was, as they put it, appropriate in the aura of good will stemming from Peking's hospitality in the unprecedented current visit to China by a U.S. table tennis group.

The Nixon announcement did not deal with U.S. policy on the strong move expected in the United Nations this fall for admission of Red China to the world body.

Nor did it get into what the United States might do in the future about officially recognizing the Peking regime, with whom it now has no diplomatic relations. Ziegler said a Washington decision on that is still "way down the line."

The presidential announcement — issued by the White House as a one-page statement — dealt with a range of travel and trade restrictions which have been in effect since the early 1950s.

In line with his State of the World message last February promising to "examine what further steps we might take to create broader opportunities for contacts between the Chinese and American peoples," Nixon said he has decided on these actions:

—The United States is prepared to give fast handling for visas, or entry permits, for visitors or groups of visitors from Red China.

—U.S. currency controls previously barring use of American dollars in dealings with Red China will be dropped.

—American oil companies may now supply fuel to ships or planes going to and from Red China, except on Chinese-owned or Chinese-chartered vessels sailing to or from North Vietnam, North Korea or Cuba.

—U.S. ships and planes may now carry Chinese cargoes between non-Chinese ports, and U.S.-owned foreign-flag ships may call at Chinese ports.

—The U.S. government will prepare a list of nonstrategic goods which may be exported directly to Red China, without a specific license. Following a presidential review and approval of items on this list, direct imports of specified items from mainland China also will be authorized.

Japan Says Move To Ease Tensions

Tokyo (AP) — Japanese Foreign Ministry sources said Thursday the latest U.S. step to ease trade relations with Communist China would contribute to the easing of tensions in Asia.

They said Japan expects the Peking government would take a corresponding step to further promote mutual understanding between the United States and China.

The sources expressed a great interest in what reaction Peking would show to the new U.S. policy.

Links Due Today

London (AP) — Direct telephone links between Britain and Communist China are being restored Thursday for the first time in nearly 22 years.

The British government said Wednesday the initiative came from Peking.

Diplomats and businessmen here hailed the move as another key signal that Red China wants improved relations with the capitalist West on a person-to-person basis.

Mao Tse-tung's Communists cut off phone lines to Britain in May 1949 shortly after taking power on the mainland.

No. Viet Using Flamethrowers Near Fire Base

Saigon (AP) — North Vietnamese troops using flamethrowers battled South Vietnamese forces Wednesday on two sides of Fire Base 6 in the central highlands.

As the siege of the base began its third week, some of the weary South Vietnamese defenders attempted to flee the outpost on landing skids of a U.S. helicopter lifting out American advisers.

One American adviser was reported killed and another missing in the latest fighting.

Capt. Le Van Phuc, a spokesman for the South Vietnamese 2nd Corps headquarters in Pleiku, said North Vietnamese forces used flamethrowers for the first time since fighting broke out around the base March 31.

The U.S. chopper took out four of the five American advisers at the frontier base near the border junction of Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese headquarters claimed 158 North Vietnamese were killed Tuesday night and Wednesday in battles half a mile northwest of the base and a mile southeast of the hilltop outpost.

The government troops had heavy American air support. Half the enemy deaths were attributed to air strikes. South Vietnamese casualties in both actions were given as four killed, six missing and 39 wounded.

Saigon claimed 62 enemy killed at a cost of two South Vietnamese wounded in a series of clashes southeast of the base that lasted until after dark Wednesday. The other 96 enemy dead, and the bulk of government casualties, were reported earlier in the action northwest of Fire Base 6.

Great Minds Consider Taxes

©The New York Times

By RUSSELL BAKER

Washington — There will be no ribaldry or callous jest today. Taxation is too solemn a subject for the mouthings of fools. Rather, with deference and respect, we give over this space today to those great minds who have expressed themselves on taxation down through history in terms worthy to be chiseled in marble or hung in embroidery over horsehair sofas. Thus:

William Shakespeare — "Each of us owes his government a fleece, and he who yields it today is quits for tomorrow, at least until the post office improves its service so well that the government can deliver your penalty notice in tomorrow morning's mail."

Thomas Jefferson — "We hold this truth to be self-evident; that the oil men are created with certain inalienable rights, and that among these are money, money and more money, as well as a loophole in which to preserve it."

Julius Caesar — "I came, I saw, I conquered, but the government's tax agents seized most of my purse before I could walk from the ring to my dressing room."

Louis XIV —"I have often been asked why so much of my wealth is poured into the construction of Versailles. What a poor understanding such questions show of the principles of taxation! By taking a fast depreciation on each year's construction, I have been able to shelter enough income from the tax collector to maintain my mistresses in a style appropriate to my royal station in life. I am told that this principle is not unheard of in the United States, and that this admixture of capital and carnal lust accounts for the many vast constructions there which far exceed Versailles, if not in grandiosity, at least in impoverishment of taste."

Benjamin Franklin —"Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy and wise, but to become wealthy, or at least to protect some reasonable share of wealth from a government ever desirous of the poorest wretch's meager currency, I recommend mounting a multiplicity of endeavors. If, for example, a man goes into the electrical science business and uses the roof of his house to conduct experiments with kites in electrical storms, a deduction of a percentage of the house's maintenance costs may be justified on ground that business is conducted on its roof. A print shop in the basement would increase one's deductions, and they would be increased even further by using the first floor as a political office, the second floor as an office for the conduct of diplomacy. And the attic as an office where a man might work at writing such saleable materials as an autobiography or an almanac. A genius can avoid impoverishment under the tax code; indeed, the tax code may force a man to become a genius to avoid penury."

Refrain from old Pentagon drinking song — "Fifteen cost overruns on a taxpayer's back! Ho ho ho, and a bottle of napalm!"

Presidents Roosevelt through Nixon, Mayors La Guardia through Lindsay, Governors Lehman through Rockefeller, senators from A through Z, representatives from Alabama through Wyoming — "We will tax and tax, and tax and tax, and tax and - - - "

Abraham Lincoln — "It takes no skill to pluck a goose; the trick is to strip him down to the goose flesh without provoking a quack."

Heinrich Himmler — "You ralice, of course, dot ve haff ways of makink you pay?"

Ivan the Terrible — "Is a man not a taxpayer? If you bleed him, will he not pay more? If you kick him, will he not turn over the key to his safe deposit box? If you seize his property and attach his salary and auction his car, or even merely threaten him with such things, will he not, next year, on the 15th of April, be less greedy to retain the debatable dollar for himself?"

The Marquis de Sade — "Taxes will never be as much fun as a cat-'o-nine-tails."

I am told that this principle is not unheard of in the United States, and that this admixture of capital and carnal lust accounts for the many vast constructions there which far exceed Versailles, if not in grandiosity, at least in impoverishment of taste."

Benjamin Franklin —"Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy and wise, but to become wealthy, or at least to protect some reasonable share of wealth from a government ever desirous of the poorest wretch's meager currency, I recommend mounting a multiplicity of endeavors. If, for example, a man goes into the electrical science business and uses the roof of his house to conduct experiments with kites in electrical storms, a deduction of a percentage of the house's maintenance costs may be justified on ground that business is conducted on its roof. A print shop in the basement would increase one's deductions, and they would be increased even further by using the first floor as a political office, the second floor as an office for the conduct of diplomacy. And the attic as an office where a man might work at writing such saleable materials as an autobiography or an almanac. A genius can avoid impoverishment under the tax code; indeed, the tax code may force a man to become a genius to avoid penury."

Refrain from old Pentagon drinking song — "Fifteen cost overruns on a taxpayer's back! Ho ho ho, and a bottle of napalm!"

Presidents Roosevelt through Nixon, Mayors La Guardia through Lindsay, Governors Lehman through Rockefeller, senators from A through Z, representatives from Alabama through Wyoming — "We will tax and tax, and tax and tax, and tax and - - - ."

Abraham Lincoln — "It takes no skill to pluck a goose; the trick is to strip him down to the goose flesh without provoking a quack."

Heinrich Himmler — "You ralice, of course, dot ve haff vays of makink you pay?"

Ivan the Terrible — "Is a man not a taxpayer? If you bleed him, will he not pay more? If you kick him, will he not turn over the key to his safe deposit box? If you seize his property and attach his salary and auction his car, or even merely threaten him with such things, will he not, next year, on the 15th of April, be less greedy to retain the debatable dollar for himself?"

The Marquis de Sade — "Taxes will never be as much fun as a cat-'o-nine-tails."

National Merit Scholarships Awarded To 10 Nebraskans

Shannon M. Dawson, of 1940 S. 44th St., a senior at Pius X High School, was named Wednesday as one of 10 Nebraska winners of four-year merit scholarships by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC).

Approximately 1,800 high school seniors across the United States were honored in the first of three major announcements of merit scholarship winners to be made this year by NMSC President Edward C. Smith.

The merit scholarships awarded Wednesday provide between $400 and $6,000 each ($100 to $1,500 per year), depending upon the individual student's need. The awards are underwritten by business and industrial firms, foundations, trusts, labor unions, professional groups, and individuals who sponsor the National Merit Scholarship Program. Most of the awards are named for the sponsoring organization.

Shannon, winner of the Prudential Insurance Company of America Merit Scholarship, plans to major in classical languages and art.

Other Nebraska winners, with their high school, scholarship sponsor, and proposed college major include:

SHANNON DAWSON
Lincoln Winner

Wayne E. Stuenkel, Fremont High School, Hormel Foundation, mathematics.

Mark A. Venneman, Archbishop Bergan High School, Fremont, Hormel Foundation, chemistry.

Gayleen A. Walraven, Fremont High School, Hormel Foundation, accounting.

Allen G. Peck, Bellevue High School, Air Force Merit Scholarship, mathematics.

David L. Applegate, Bellevue High School, Air Force Merit Scholarship, undecided.

Barbara J. Dohnal, Westside High School, Fruehauf Corporation, biochemistry.

Kevin L. Stokke, Westside High School, Standard Oil (Indiana), biology.

Stephen J. Willett, Archbishop Rummel High School, Thomas J. Watson Memorial Scholarship of International Business Machines Corp., mathematics.

The merit scholars named Wednesday were chosen from among 15,000 highly qualified students who became merit finalists in the 1971 Merit Program. A total of 710,000 students entered the competition, which began with the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test in February of 1970.

All of the merit scholars were chosen from among the 15,000 finalists. The finalists are those who scored in about the upper half of one percent of graduating seniors in their state on the qualifying test, confirmed this performance on a second test, and received the endorsement of their schools.

The stipends accompanying the four-year merit scholarships are calculated by NMSC according to standard procedures used by most colleges, and are meant to provide the difference between the student's estimated college costs and his family's ability to pay them. Individual stipends are not made public, since they are based in part on confidential information.

In the fifteen programs to date, National Merit Scholarship Corporation and sponsors have expended or committed $74.4 million.

1971 STATE MOTHER HONORED

Gov. J. James Exon Wednesday honored Mrs. Louis Nuernberger of Wakefield as 1971 Nebraska State Mother in a ceremony at the State Capitol. Mrs. Neurnberger has held offices in her Presbyterian Church organizations; Chapter CZ, PEO; Eastern Star and the American Legion Auxilary, has worked with the Red Cross, various hospitals and the Nebraska Children's Home. Shown left to right are, Mrs. Exon, Mrs. Nuernberger, Gov. Exon and Mrs. Ralph Hill, state chairman of the Mother of the Year Committee.

Chamber Of Commerce Honors Omaha Firms

Over 200 Omaha area firms will be honored at a Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs Luncheon Thursday at the Hilton Hotel.

The firms will be honored for their participation in the National Alliance of Businessmen's JOBS '70 program. During 1970 a total of 263 firms participated in the program and pledged 3,470 job openings. Of this number, 1,933 were placed and 1,423 still remain on the payroll.

Main speaker for the event will be William C. Woodward, President of the National Alliance of Businessmen. Mr. Woodward in "on loan" to the NAB from the Aluminum Company of America (ALCOA) where he is Vice President of Sales.

Master of Ceremonies duties will be performed by Gordon Ellis, President and Chief Executive Officer, Fairmont Foods Company and Chairman of the Chamber's Public Affairs Committee.

Howard P. Doerr, Vice President and General Manager for Nebraska Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, and Vice President of the Chamber's Urban Affairs Council will present certificates of recognition to William F. Bachman, Assistant General Manager, OPPD and Walter M. Scholes, General Sales Manager, OPPD, for the leadership they contributed to the program during 1970.

C. Howard Burnett, Assistant Vice President for Personnel, Union Pacific Railroad Co., and member of the Chamber's Board of Directors and Executive Committee will present the speaker. Burnett is Metropolitan Area Chairman of NAB.

Fire Hits Bird's Nest At Mansion

A fire Wednesday night at the governor's mansion turned out to be for the birds.

A family member of one of Gov. J. J. Exon's staff noticed acrid smoke and rang the alarm which was answered immediately by Lincoln fire units.

As it turned out, some birds had built nests in the eaves of the house and one of the nests apparently had been set smoldering by lightbulbs. Firemen removed the offending nest, along with a couple of others just to be on the safe side.

Roller Accident Claims Operator

Lakeside (AP) — The State Patrol Wednesday reported the death of Calvin Cooledge Bryant, 46, of Hyannis, in a road construction accident.

Officers said Bryant was operating a blacktop roller on Nebraska 2 just east of Lakeside when he lost control.

The machine went over an embankment, threw Bryant off and ran over him, officers said.

An autopsy was planned to determine if the cause may have been a heart attack, the patrol reported.

Burning Ban Really Isn't

State Fire Marshal Joseph Pluta said Wednesday his statement on outside burning was merely a "recommendation" and not an outright ban.

"There is no state law that gives the fire marshal the right to ban all burning," Pluta said. "It's a gray area. That's why I used the word 'recommends.'"

Pluta had issued a statement Tuesday in which he noted the dry conditions throughout the state and "recommends that outdoor burning stop until significant precipation is received over the state area."

BLACK MILITANTS' FATE IN HANDS OF THE JURY

Omaha (UPI) — The jury deliberated five hours without reaching a decision Wednesday night in the first degree murder trial of two black militants charged with the booby trap bombing of a white police officer.

Accused in the death last Aug. 17 of Patrolman Larry Minard are Edward Poindexter, 26, and David Rice, 23.

Judge Donald Hamilton began reading his instructions to the panel at 3:15 p.m. CST.

Resume In Morning

Deliberations in the Douglas County District Court trial were to resume at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. The panel was put up for the night at Omaha's Hilton Hotel after announcing it had reached no verdict.

Final arguments ended following an impassioned plea by former Gov. Frank B. Morrison, Douglas County defender who represented Poindexter.

Minard died when lured to a vacant house on Omaha's Near North Side by a fake phone call. He picked up a suitcase in the house and it exploded in his face.

'Scales Of Justice'

Morrison produced a large version of the "scales of justice" before the jury, dropping weights on each side as he went over his case. As expected, the defense far outweighed the prosecution when the scales were tipped.

The former governor, his voice quivering with emotion, said the state's chief witness against Rice and Poindexter, 16-year-old Duane Peak, has a "demented mind" and laughed about the plot allegedly hatched between himself and the two defendants to set the bomb.

Peak also faces first degree murder charges, but is alleged to have made a deal for a lesser charge for turning state's evidence.

"For the first time in my life I have seen the state try to convict basically on the testimony of one witness — and that witness is an admitted perjurer," Morrison said.

'Eloquent' Summation

Morrison quoted from the Bible, Gettsburg Address and other documents in what the prosecution later admitted was an "eloquent" summarization. He told of meetings he had with five presidents and other government officials such as the late Robert F. Kennedy in trying to explain his views of justice to the jury.

Morrison questioned whether a white man would be judged on the same scale for the same crime, alluding to the "hate and vindictiveness of our times."

The ex-governor also referred to the 1969 slaying of a Negro girl shot during a breakin investigation by a white policeman. That incident touched off rioting and burning amounting to $1 million.

"Vivian Strong and Larry Minard didn't die in vain, and this great city under God can have a new birth of freedom," Morrison said.

Deputy County Attorney Sam Cooper countered that Minard wasn't out to "hassle anybody" the night of the bombing, but "was only there to help somebody."

Color Not Considered

County Attorney Donald Knowles said the color of the skin had no bearing on why he prosecuted the case. "If it did, I ought to be impeached," he added.

"I've been tried in this courtroom more than anyone else in this city."

Earlier Wednesday the prosecution said Rice and Poindexter had "a beautiful plan to blow up a pig — and that pig was Omaha Patrolman Larry Minard."

Special prosecutor Arthur O'Leary made the charge in closing arguments of the 2½ week-old trial.

The prosecution said the intent was not to kill Minard, "but just any police officer."

"He (Minard) was hardly in a position of brutalizing a member of a minority race," O'Leary said. "He was only answering a distress call."

'Teachers'

Terming Peak only an "errand boy" for the other two, O'Leary asked, "Where did Duane Peak learn to hate?" His "teachers of hate" were Rice and Poindexter, he alleged.

O'Leary said the jury must "tiptoe through the tulips" in balancing the conflicting testimony of the various witnesses. "The only party who remembers specific times is one of the murderers — Duane Peak."

The overall evidence will corroborate Peak's testimony, he added.

O'Leary referred to Black Panther literature written by Rice and Poindexter which had been introduced into evidence. A cartoon drawn by Rice had the caption "political power grows from the barrel of a gun."

An article written by Poindexter said blacks were "stupid" until "blood of the pig is flowing like the Muddy Mo."

O'Leary said it was not believable that a ninth grade dropout such as Peak could think up such a plan and build the bomb himself.

Although Rice and Poindexter have alibis for the night of the bombing, the prosecution said they were still involved in the conspiracy and are equally guilty.

Guilt Admitted

Peak has admitted actually placing the bomb trap.

"Let's call a rose a rose," O'Leary said. "They're Black Panthers and it's their political philosophy.

Justice is going to be done in this country only when the people who aren't injured become as indignent as those who are."

Assistant County Public Defender Tom Kenney, who represented Poindexter, said he was "appalled" that he should have been brought to trial.

He said the prosecution was "short on evidence and long on emotion." As he made the statement he held for the jury to see prosecution evidence including Minard's bloody clothing and a picture of the body.

"It's to get you mad," he told the jury.

Kenney said there was nothing secret about the writings of Rice or Poindexter, but "don't substitute this rhetoric for the malice of murder."

No witness during the trial corroborated Peak's testimony, he maintained.

"He's trying to get out of an atrocity he committed himself," he said.

Kenney also questioned a statement made by Peak that he was not afraid of Rice or Poindexter. "If they're killers, he should be afraid," he said.

Furthermore, Kenney asked the jury, "Would David Rice or Edward Poindexter involve himself in a scheme so imbecilic, so stupid, so unplanned?"

Leftists Arrested

San Sebastian, Spain (UPI) — Police announced that 56 leftists and Basque separatists have been arrested for alleged political offenses in the past three months in Guipuzcoa province of the Basque region of northern Spain.

Omaha Machinist Thinks He's Found Steamship That Sank 131 Years Ago

Omaha (AP) — An Omaha machinist and cutting tool grinder, Allen Coleman, 44, thinks he has found in the silt of the Missouri River a ship that sank 131 years ago while hauling a bell for a Jesuit mission.

This would be 25 years earlier than the sinking of the Bertrand which went to its grave in 1864. The Bertrand was uncovered in 1969 and much of its cargo placed in a museum at DeSoto Bend.

Coleman believes he has located a steamboat on the Nebraska side of the river just south of the Illinois Central Railroad bridge.

Records Cited

The treasure hunter says records indicate that the vessel sank with supplies as well as the bell ordered by the Rev. Pierre Jean DeSmet, S. J. for a Council Bluffs mission.

Coleman, whose father was a river man, says he remembers sighting the corner of a smokestack following a Missouri River flood in the early 1940s.

Nebraska News

About two years ago, he returned to the area with a metal detector that registered something beneath the sand, silt-layered surface a hundred yards or so from the present river bed.

Possible Smoke Stack

Recently, he and his 25-year-old son, Alan, uncovered a metal cylindrical object at the work site. They think it is the base of an oldtime steamboat smokestack.

In the next month, he plans to sink two giant casings to the deck of what he feels is a ship.

Coleman estimates the casing project will cost more than $3,000.

"If we find something on the ship," he said, "we're in no financial position to dig it up. Then we'd have to have a contractor."

If he can prove the ship has cargo, he expecst his exploration may turn a nice profit.

Cycle Passenger Dies In Collision With Automobile

Omaha (AP) — A 16-year-old motorcycle passenger became the state's 83rd traffic fatality Wednesday, when an automobile making a left turn collided with the two-wheeler in south Omaha.

Omaha police reported Scott Rushlau, 16, of Omaha, dead on arrival at a city hospital.

The driver of the motorcycle, Steven J. Horvath, 19, of Omaha, was treated and released, according to spokesmen at St. Joseph Hospital.

The driver of the automobile, Frank W. Werth, 69, was arrested and booked on charges of failure to yield the right of way to traffic, Omaha police reported.

The current traffic fatality total of 83 compares with a total of 94 one year ago.

One Man Killed As Pickup Truck Strikes Bridge

Petersburg (UPI) — Jerome Leifield of Pettersburg was killed about 7:40 a.m. Wednesday when the pickup truck he was driving struck a bridge railing and careened into a ravine 3½ miles southeast of here.

He was dead when an ambulance arrived at the scene.

Two passengers, Debbie Leifield, 17, and Kevin Leifield, 8, were hospitalized at Albion.

Trooper Jim Winn of the Nebraska Patrol at Albion investigated the mishap.

Playmate's Efforts Fail; Boy Drowns

Bertrand (AP) — Jeffrey Lynn Wilmot, 6, of Holdrege, was discovered drowned in the snow melt waters in the Bertrand swimming pool Tuesday night about two hours after he had been reported missing.

Phelps County Attorney Clark Noble said the boy had gone to Bertrand with his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Wilmot, who recently had taken a house in Bertrand and was preparing to move into it. He was playing with 8-year-old Maurice Cole while his mother painted. Somehow they got into the pool area.

Noble said the Cole boy reported that Jeffrey slipped into the waters of the pool and he had tried to shove some benches out to him, but Jeffrey was unable to hold onto the benches.

The Bertrand Fire Department recovered the boy.

Phelps County Sheriff Dwayne C. Newman, Noble, Robert Thompson of the State Patrol and Bertrand Marshal Harold Karstner joined firemen in the search.

Besides his mother, the boy is survived by a sister, who lives with a grandmother in Cambridge and his father, Duane Wilmot of McCook.

Woman Dies In Car-Truck Crash

Omaha (AP) — A Holdrege woman, Mrs. Rubin Anderson, was killed in a car-truck accident in northwest Omaha shortly before noon, police reported.

Her husband also injured in the accident, was reported in critical condition at Methodist Hospital in Omaha. The truck driver, not immediately identified, was hospitalized with back injuries but was in good condition.

The truck is owned by Don Rogert Trucking Co. of Waterloo.

Tractor Accident Kills Dalton Man

Dalton (UPI) — James Devier, 35, rural Dalton, was killed late Wednesday morning when the tractor he was driving in his farm yard tipped over and pinned him under the rear wheels.

The Cheyenne County Attorney's office said Devier was cleaning a cattle pen on his farm 2 miles south and 1 mile east of here when the accident occurred.

Judge Donald Hamilton began reading his instructions to the panel at 3:15 p.m. CST.

Resume In Morning

Deliberations in the Douglas County District Court trial were to resume at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. The panel was put up for the night at Omaha's Hilton Hotel after announcing it had reached no verdict.

Final arguments ended following an impassioned plea by former Gov. Frank B. Morrison, Douglas County defender who represented Poindexter.

Minard died when lured to a vacant house on Omaha's Near North Side by a fake phone call. He picked up a suitcase in the house and it exploded in his face.

'Scales Of Justice'

Morrison produced a large version of the "scales of justice" before the jury, dropping weights on each side as he went over his case. As expected, the defense far outweighed the prosecution when the scales were tipped.

The former governor, his voice quivering with emotion, said the state's chief witness against Rice and Poindexter, 16-year-old Duane Peak, has a "demented mind" and laughed about the plot allegedly hatched between himself and the two defendants to set the bomb.

Peak also faces first degree murder charges, but is alleged to have made a deal for a lesser charge for turning state's evidence.

"For the first time in my life I have seen the state try to convict basically on the testimony of one witness — and that witness is an admitted perjurer," Morrison said.

'Eloquent' Summation

Morrison quoted from the Bible, Gettsburg Address and other documents in what the prosecution later admitted was an "eloquent" summarization. He told of meetings he had with five presidents and other government officials such as the late Robert F. Kennedy in trying to explain his views of justice to the jury.

Morrison questioned whether a white man would be judged on the same scale for the same crime, alluding to the "hate and vindictiveness of our times."

The ex-governor also referred to the 1969 slaying of a Negro girl shot during a breakin investigation by a white policeman. That incident touched off rioting and burning amounting to $1 million.

"Vivian Strong and Larry Minard didn't die in vain, and this great city under God can have a new birth of freedom," Morrison said.

Deputy County Attorney Sam Cooper countered that Minard wasn't out to "hassle anybody" the night of the bombing, but "was only there to help somebody."

Color Not Considered

County Attorney Donald Knowles said the color of the skin had no bearing on why he prosecuted the case. "If it did, I ought to be impeached," he added.

"I've been tried in this courtroom more than anyone else in this city."

Earlier Wednesday the prosecution said Rice and Poindexter had "a beautiful plan to blow up a pig — and that pig was Omaha Patrolman Larry Minard."

Special prosecutor Arthur O'Leary made the charge in closing arguments of the 2½ week-old trial.

The prosecution said the intent was not to kill Minard, "but just any police officer."

"He (Minard) was hardly in a position of brutalizing a member of a minority race," O'Leary said. "He was only answering a distress call."

'Teachers'

Terming Peak only an "errand boy" for the other two, O'Leary asked, "Where did Duane Peak learn to hate?" His "teachers of hate" were Rice and Poindexter, he alleged.

O'Leary said the jury must "tiptoe through the tulips" in balancing the conflicting testimony of the various witnesses. "The only party who remembers specific times is one of the murderers — Duane Peak."

The overall evidence will corroborate Peak's testimony, he added.

O'Leary referred to Black Panther literature written by Rice and Poindexter which had been introduced into evidence. A cartoon drawn by Rice had the caption "political power grows from the barrel of a gun."

An article written by Poindexter said blacks were "stupid" until "blood of the pig is flowing like the Muddy Mo."

O'Leary said it was not believable that a ninth grade dropout such as Peak could think up such a plan and build the bomb himself.

Although Rice and Poindexter have alibis for the night of the bombing, the prosecution said they were still involved in the conspiracy and are equally guilty.

Guilt Admitted

Peak has admitted actually placing the bomb trap.

"Let's call a rose a rose," O'Leary said. "They're Black Panthers and it's their political philosophy.

Justice is going to be done in this country only when the people who aren't injured become as indignent as those who are."

Assistant County Public Defender Tom Kenney, who represented Poindexter, said he was "appalled" that he should have been brought to trial.

He said the prosecution was "short on evidence and long on emotion." As he made the statement he held for the jury to see prosecution evidence including Minard's bloody clothing and a picture of the body.

"It's to get you mad," he told the jury.

Kenney said there was nothing secret about the writings of Rice or Poindexter, but "don't substitute this rhetoric for the malice of murder."

No witness during the trial corroborated Peak's testimony, he maintained.

"He's trying to get out of an atrocity he committed himself," he said.

Kenney also questioned a statement made by Peak that he was not afraid of Rice or Poindexter. "If they're killers, he should be afraid," he said.

Furthermore, Kenney asked the jury, "Would David Rice or Edward Poindexter involve himself in a scheme so imbecilic, so stupid, so unplanned?"

Omaha Machinist Thinks He's Found Steamship That Sank 131 Years Ago

Omaha (AP) — An Omaha machinist and cutting tool grinder, Allen Coleman, 44, thinks he has found in the silt of the Missouri River a ship that sank 131 years ago while hauling a bell for a Jesuit mission.

This would be 25 years earlier than the sinking of the Bertrand which went to its grave in 1864. The Bertrand was uncovered in 1969 and much of its cargo placed in a museum at DeSoto Bend.

Coleman believes he has located a steamboat on the Nebraska side of the river just south of the Illinois Central Railroad bridge.

Records Cited

The treasure hunter says records indicate that the vessel sank with supplies as well as the bell ordered by the Rev. Pierre Jean DeSmet, S. J. for a Council Bluffs mission.

Coleman, whose father was a river man, says he remembers sighting the corner of a smokestack following a Missouri River flood in the early 1940s.

Nebraska News

About two years ago, he returned to the area with a metal detector that registered something beneath the sand, silt-layered surface a hundred yards or so from the present river bed.

Possible Smoke Stack

Recently, he and his 25-year-old son, Alan, uncovered a metal cylindrical object at the work site. They think it is the base of an oldtime steamboat smokestack.

In the next month, he plans to sink two giant casings to the deck of what he feels is a ship.

Coleman estimates the casing project will cost more than $3,000.

"If we find something on the ship," he said, "we're in no financial position to dig it up. Then we'd have to have a contractor."

If he can prove the ship has cargo, he expecst his exploration may turn a nice profit.

Cycle Passenger Dies In Collision With Automobile

Omaha (AP) — A 16-year-old motorcycle passenger became the state's 83rd traffic fatality Wednesday, when an automobile making a left turn collided with the two-wheeler in south Omaha.

Omaha police reported Scott Rushlau, 16, of Omaha, dead on arrival at a city hospital.

The driver of the motorcycle, Steven J. Horvath, 19, of Omaha, was treated and released, according to spokesmen at St. Joseph Hospital.

The driver of the automobile, Frank W. Werth, 69, was arrested and booked on charges of failure to yield the right of way to traffic, Omaha police reported.

The current traffic fatality total of 83 compares with a total of 94 one year ago.

One Man Killed As Pickup Truck Strikes Bridge

Petersburg (UPI) — Jerome Leifield of Pettersburg was killed about 7:40 a.m. Wednesday when the pickup truck he was driving struck a bridge railing and careened into a ravine 3½ miles southeast of here.

He was dead when an ambulance arrived at the scene.

Two passengers, Debbie Leifield, 17, and Kevin Leifield, 8, were hospitalized at Albion.

Trooper Jim Winn of the Nebraska Patrol at Albion investigated the mishap.

Playmate's Efforts Fail; Boy Drowns

Bertrand (AP) — Jeffrey Lynn Wilmot, 6, of Holdrege, was discovered drowned in the snow melt waters in the Bertrand swimming pool Tuesday night about two hours after he had been reported missing.

Phelps County Attorney Clark Noble said the boy had gone to Bertrand with his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Wilmot, who recently had taken a house in Bertrand and was preparing to move into it. He was playing with 8-year-old Maurice Cole while his mother painted. Somehow they got into the pool area.

Noble said the Cole boy reported that Jeffrey slipped into the waters of the pool and he had tried to shove some benches out to him, but Jeffrey was unable to hold onto the benches.

The Bertrand Fire Department recovered the boy.

Phelps County Sheriff Dwayne C. Newman, Noble, Robert Thompson of the State Patrol and Bertrand Marshal Harold Karstner joined firemen in the search.

Besides his mother, the boy is survived by a sister, who lives with a grandmother in Cambridge and his father, Duane Wilmot of McCook.

Woman Dies In Car-Truck Crash

Omaha (AP) — A Holdrege woman, Mrs. Rubin Anderson, was killed in a car-truck accident in northwest Omaha shortly before noon, police reported.

Her husband also injured in the accident, was reported in critical condition at Methodist Hospital in Omaha. The truck driver, not immediately identified, was hospitalized with back injuries but was in good condition.

The truck is owned by Don Rogert Trucking Co. of Waterloo.

Tractor Accident Kills Dalton Man

Dalton (UPI) — James Devier, 35, rural Dalton, was killed late Wednesday morning when the tractor he was driving in his farm yard tipped over and pinned him under the rear wheels.

The Cheyenne County Attorney's office said Devier was cleaning a cattle pen on his farm 2 miles south and 1 mile east of here when the accident occurred.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By RUSSELL BAKER

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is in Washington this week, attending meetings of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Today's column is by humorist Russell Baker.)

WASHINGTON—American spy satellites have detected a lot of big holes in the ground in Russia. Twenty of these holes are large enough to accommodate the biggest war rocket in the world, and naturally our intelligence people suspect the worst.

If we unquestioningly accept their judgment that those Russian holes have been dug to house super-rockets, we shall have to put up several more billions to tuck more rockets of our own into more holes in America.

Obviously, it behooves us to think carefully about these Russian holes. The first possibility is that the Russians have devised a cheap method for driving us to bankruptcy.

Someone in Moscow, with deep understanding of the American mentality, may have foreseen that we would reflexively reply to 20 Russian holes with $20 billion worth of new American rocketry. Assuming that the cost of digging a hole in Russia is comparable to what an American contractor would charge here, the Russians could get 20 fairly good-sized holes for about $200 million.

It would be well worth the cost if the holes could scare us into sinking $20 billion into new war machinery, for we would have wasted 100 times as much money as the Russians.

Yes, wasted. Consider: Our rockets go into those holes for use only if we are attacked. But if the Russian holes have no weapons in them, they cannot very well attack us, and we, therefore, cannot use our expensive new weapons. Our policy of refusing to strike first, coupled with our tendency to get alarmed about holes in Russia, thus seems to give the Russians an overwhelming advantage in any competition at which each country's object is to force the other's financial ruination.

It seems unarguable that the Russian holes are not weapons of economic warfare, but a defensive response to the many, many, many holes which Russian spy satellites have detected in America during the last few months.

These gigantic holes must have caused consternation in the Kremlin—if that is where the Russian leaders still plot their deviltry. They must surely have had, for example, an aerial photograph of the giant hole located right here in Washington in 23rd Street between M and L Streets. A hole that close to the White House, big enough to house the largest rocket on earth! What must they have thought?

Having so few cars, they would surely not have realized that what they were seeing was a pothole. Most probably they do not even know what a pothole is. A satellite picture showing a hole as big as the 23rd Street pothole, with that black glistening machinery buried deep within, would inevitably have alarmed them.

Even if they had heard of potholes, they would not have believed in one so big that it contained an entire Cadillac limousine and the diplomatic staff of a small neutral nation. Obviously, their photo interpreters took the Cadillac in the 23rd Street pothole for an intercontinental missile.

It is obvious, then, that the Russians are indeed planting missiles to retaliate against our potholes, and that we are in danger of putting in more missiles to retaliate against the Russian missiles that are being targeted on our potholes. Can this insane race be stopped?

Yes, and it must be. By a crash program to fill in our potholes. If the Cadillac cannot be rescued, that heroic diplomatic staff will have to be paved over for peace.

What finer end for those who have chosen diplomacy as a way of life?

'You're Both Very Generous!'

U.S. Keeps Hands Off

The government of Pakistan, located in the less populated but more powerful western part of that geographically-divided nation enjoys the economic, military and political support of the Soviet Union, Communist China and the United States. It is an odd set of allies to keep on one's string only if it is forgotten that each of the major powers has a stake in Pakistan's future and that Pakistan profits from the competition.

So it is that the U.S., with its interest in the central government at heart, sits back without so much as a reproachful word and watches the bloodbath unfold in Pakistan's eastern province.

The idea of an autonomous Bengali nation in the East, or Bangla Desh, as the natives there proudly proclaim, is doomed to failure, observers say. The efficient, well-equipped Pakistani Army is regaining control of the cities and rural areas that it lost when the rebellion was at its peak. Indiscriminate slaughter of unarmed peasants is rampant; some 6,000 died in the provincial capital of Dacca alone, according to reports. The only sliver of hope the Bengalis have, supposedly, is in a prolonged guerrilla war, which, if carried off, would weaken the resolve of the central government and lead ultimately to autonomy or independence for East Pakistan.

The recent history of Pakistan gives weight to the argument that it never had a chance to be a viable nation, considering that its parts are a thousand miles apart and while predominantly of the same religion, it is composed of two different peoples. The U.S. is not accountable for that, however.

But the United States finds itself in a familiar position — that of giving support to a dictatorial government which is oppressing and murdering thousands of its subjects. The question is, should the U.S. stand aside and say nothing because of guilt associated with the war in Vietnam, let alone because of its interest in a stable Pakistani government, and not add its weight to the body of world opinion opposing the crimes against humanity in East Pakistan?

Fieldhouse Support Slipping?

A number of state senators apparently are having second thoughts about financing a new University of Nebraska fieldhouse and new state office building through revenues derived from an increase in the cigarette tax. The bill bumping the tobacco tax up a nickel to 13c a pack, LB87, was advanced from select file Tuesday by a 26-7 margin, one more vote than was needed.

The measure received an overwhelming 41-3 first-round vote of approval last week following a talk to the Legislature by NU Athletic Director Bob Devaney. This time, sixteen senators either were absent or declined to record their preference in the matter and opponents of the bill gained four votes.

We hope this does not indicate a serious erosion of support for LB87. It is all very well and good to talk about needs more urgent than the fieldhouse, but the feeling prevails that significant funding for those talked-about higher priorities would receive very little support if the cigarette tax bill were thrown out. It still seems to be an all-or-nothing situation and LB87 is a reasonable revenue vehicle by which to finance priority items that can stand on their own merits.

The cigarette tax bill is not the only indicator of a possible change in legislative thinking. We lower out sights again to the resolution level. Last week, the Legislature unanimously adopted a resolution commending President Nixon for his decision to pesonally review the court-martial conviction of Lt. Calley.

This week, the Legislature defeated a resolution urging Congress to seek a complete withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam by next April 1. Without commenting on the result of the vote, we find the attitude of some senators somewhat peculiar. Several of them agreed that the Legislature had "no business" considering the issue. One said the responsibility for determining Vietnam policy rests in Washington, not Lincoln. Another said he thought "we're overstepping our bounds . . . we have plenty to do to keep us busy here." Right on! The Legislature should consider big issues, such as the Calley case, but not little things, like the war.

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

The Possibilities

Lincoln, Neb.

Let me make it perfectly clear that you would be hard put to find a more enthusiastic Nebraska football fan in this state than I. Also, as a smoker, I offer no objection to a five per cent increase in the cigarette sales tax, nor would I object to an increase in the liquor tax or would I find fault in a tax on parimutuel betting — provided that the money derived therefrom would be used to benefit the majority of the citizens of our state.

With the advent of the five per cent increase in the cigarette tax, I would soberly suggest that my good friend in the athletic department ticket office recall posthaste all advanced season football ticket reservations, such tickets to be reissued to cigarette smokers. Three-pack-a-day smokers would have first priority, followed closely by two-pack-a-dayers, then one-pack, and so on. Our celebrity-swayed legislators could then be called into special session, wherein each application could be reviewed thoroughly, and the tickets distributed fairly.

The repercussions of this tax would be endless. With citizens willing to go to any lengths to obtain a duo of this elusive prize, a startling increase in cigarette sales would expand the coffers of the state so greatly that we could throw in a new coliseum, new baseball uniforms, several basketball nets. The chancellor could keep his maid.

We can close our eyes and picture the electrifying spectacle at the initial home game this fall. After the first Nebraska touchdown of the afternoon, rather than the red and white balloons rising majestically over the stadium, the fans—with the help of the public address system—could en masse inhale at the count of one and exhale at the count of three. While the gladiators upon the field of battle stand at rapt attention, this great mushrooming cloud would envelop us all. This awesome sight could be followed by fans wheezing our revered battle cry of "Don't Smoke In Bed!", altered slightly from the worn "Go Big Red!"

Imagine the television cameras grinding away to record this inspiring view, probably with a running commentary by Heywood Hale Broun, resplendent in his timeless plaid sports jacket. Not to be outdone, of course, "Sports Illustrated" would feature a full color spread on the center foldout sheet of its October issue.

The irony of the proposal before the Legislature is that athletes and coaches alike, who profess to shun tobacco like the plague, should be the beneficiaries of this legislative act of benevolence.

With the obvious success of the first increase in the cigarette sales tax, we could then go on to less needy areas with subsequent increases—such as providing a decent wage scale for institutional employes and providing for better facilities and training for our retarded and institutionalized. We might even go so far as to dangle the promise of tax relief before the eyes of our elderly who are dependent upon Social Security checks and pensions for their subsistence.

All this makes one long for the gaseous TV cigarette commercials. At least one can feel secure in the knowledge that one had never made a trip to the polls to cast one's ballot for a mindless commercial.

Young Offer Hope

Lincoln, Neb.

As a young person who has traveled a great deal, I was immensely interested in your April 12 "In Perspective" column.

I was rather surprised, but certainly glad to see that an editor had taken such a stand. The concept you presented should become a part of every individual's life.

We are an integral part of the cosmos, and it is about time we started realizing that everything we do as individuals has an effect on all of mankind. Our identity should not be secular or nationalistic, but rather as a citizen of humanity. We have to strive to dismantle boundaries, walls and curtains, as they are such a negative aspect of mankind.

All this we have to try to make possible, as surely the present status of the world does not make sense. Perhaps 20- But perhaps we are treading But pehaps we are treading such a thin line that idealism is the only valid answer.

Bravo, Mr. Dobler! We need more individuals like you who are willing to converse with a 20-year-old and find out what he is thinking. Perhaps what the young person cites as his ultimate goal is not too realistic, but nevertheless it is full of hope.

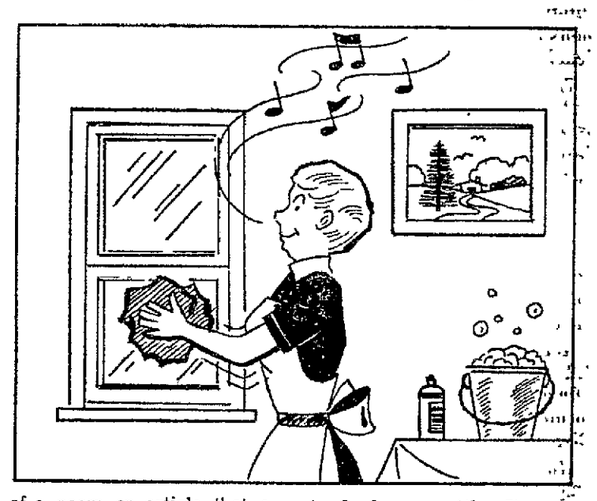
Patchwork Prairie Country



Yellow is spring. It is in the upturned face of a daffodil and the flower bells of the forsythia. Yellow is spring in the throat of a meadowlark and the soft down of baby ducklings. Yellow is the molten gold of the sun illuminating a transitory radiance across the hills and fields. It is the housewife singing a love song as she washes the windows, for no one can stay long in the aura of brilliant sunlight and remain lonely and depressed for long.

Yes, I would say when it comes to finding a mood in color, yellow does very well. Spring is peeking through the glitter.

"Simplify! Simplify!" said Thoreau as he lived his uncluttered life.

It is the season for such action, I decided. Closets shall be stripped of unnecessary clutter, kitchen cupboards with an accumulation of plastic containers must be cleared and other not-quite-necessary items disposed of in one clean sweep.

All went well until I delved into the shelves of a closed bookcase where I had put magazines and other publications for reading at a later date. Some I had barely glanced at, picking out the story I intended to read when I found the time. Others I had marked by pages that included a nugget of a poem or article that appealed to me.

I began sorting and reading, turning to first one article then another, finishing a story that I had begun months ago or catching a wisp of poetry in motion.

Each magazine went into a neat little pile. A peek here and a peek there . . . this one goes here, this one the other.

Suddenly I realized that I was getting no place fast. Many more good features in the magazines were still unread. So the material I intended to discard suddenly became too interesting and worthwhile. I put them all back into their place again and vow that when the first long day of spring rain comes, I am going to work my way down through the pile of magazines

Surely when good ol' Thoreau uttered those words, "Simplify, simplify," he couldn't have imagined what a task it would be in this day and age. But I must admit it was a good idea.

There is always a critical time on the farm when the hay supply is devoured by the hungry livestock before the pastures are green and ready to support a herd of cattle.

The Farmer has had to buy alfalfa hay the last few weeks to feed our cattle. It seems their appetite is twice as hearty when they eat hay that is purchased. The small calves also nibble away their share. But soon with a good supply of rain and warm sunlight, the grass will grow thick and lush and the cattle can be put to graze in the pasture.

Now that the country roads have dried and the days are warm, motor bikes or motor scooters have taken to the byways. They hurtle along our road, throbbing with a thrust of fuel that feeds the engines glistening in the sun with their chrome trim and bright new paint.

Put a boy on one of these machines and he becomes as powerful as the Norse god, Thor, who was god of war, strength and thunder.

I suppose they sense a feeling of greatness as they ride as masters of the power beneath them, splitting the wind, racing over the ground.

After the motor scooters, a boy grows into a motorcycle. These massive roaring engines seem to me to be more dangerous to the youth for they call for more daring. At least it would seem to the riders. They weave along the highways and lean precariously while going around a curve. I shudder when I see these cycles roaring down the roadway.

White House Dinners Produce GOP Funds

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is using the White House to throw fund-raising dinners for the Republican campaign chest.

He invites fat cats to the White House for quiet, de rigeur dinners. Afterward, over Sancerre and cigars, they are hit up for political contributions.

Few financial tycoons can resist an invitation to dine at the White House, and they arrive resplendent in black tie and tux to be plucked.

To preserve the presidential dignity, Nixon doesn't stay around for the sordid financial pitch. He makes some lofty remarks about peace and prosperity, then discreetly departs before the money tree is shaken.

The latest White House fund-raiser was held on April 8 less than three weeks after the President declared on TV his firm support for limiting campaign contributions.

A glittering gathering of Illinois millionaires, dressed in their fancy duds, munched on delectables from the White House kitchen and listened to the President talk.

He told how he was turning the Vietnam war over to the Vietnamese and said he was sorry he hadn't followed his own advice when he urged stock market speculators to start buying a year ago.

He started to leave, paused to listen respectively to Illinois Gov. Richard Ogilvie, then made good his escape.

Thereupon, lesser White House celebrities took over and began to warm up the group for the plucking. Even Harry Dent, the President's Southern strategist, joined in the political evangelism.

"Southerners just love the President," oozed Dent in his best Dixie dialect.

First on his feet to offer financial aid was insurance tycoon W. Clement Stone, perhaps the sweetest sugar daddy of them all, who contributed a traceable $650,000 to the GOP in 1968, another $1 million in 1970 through a maze of channels.

But the William Stone, who resembles the late comedian Robert Benchley, has received unfavorable publicity for his beneficence. Presumably with this in mind, R. Douglas Stuart, the Quaker Oats magnate, suggested bluntly that Clem Stone's name ought to be kept out of their fund-raising effort.

"You are absolutely right," said Stone amiably. "I agree with you completely."

In the awesome atmosphere of the White House, full of good food and drink, the money men offered little resistance. Indeed, the fat cats are expected to line up for a chance to be dunned at a White House dinner. And the rustle of every unfolding bill and the scratch of pen on check add emphasis to the need for reforming the greatest evil in the American political system.

America Remains Land Of Extremes, Contrasts; People Here Long For Goodness And Generosity

LONDON — Bumper sticker seen in California: "Remember when Air Was Clean And Sex Was Dirty?"

Traveling around America, one's first overwhelming impression is change. So much has happened in the last half-dozen years: black consciousness, with all its visible signs. The youth revolution, fair target for taunts but an undeniable fact. The ecology movement, evidently more than a fad.

The physical deterioration of cities hits hard. All the newspaper horror stories about New York do not prepare the visitor for the sheer sense of seediness, the filth and broken streets and run-down buildings and empty faces.

Washington, with its old aesthetic charm of open vistas, is being sunk by grandiosity. Edward Stone's giant catastrophe, the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, has ruined the river front. On Pennsylvania Avenue the enormous FBI headquarters is going up, the costliest federal office building yet: an appropriate symbol of official worship.

But the wonder of the country is the contrast between official Washington and reality. The President and his city seem frozen in yesterday's attitudes, concerned with vainglory. The country is longing for change — not only in things but in values.

That is the significance of the young. It is easy to laugh at it all, or resent it, but to someone who has been away from America, the existence of a separate youth culture is one of the most remarkable facts of life. And it is not limited to the East or the upper middle class. In colleges across the country, and high schools, there is the sense of another nation developing.

Beyond the freakish look, this other America is characterized by different goals. The old acquisitiveness has lost its grip. Some young people still doubtless dream of being the richest in town. But more are determined to find some social purpose in existence, or alternatively just to exist.

America is still more of everything: bigger, louder, worst and best, the extremes, the contrast.

Visit the new campus of the University of California at Santa Cruz, a place of incredible beauty. The visitor sees fields and redwood forest, occasionally a library or dormitory in the wilderness, a whole earth restaurant set up by the students in ecological and nutritional dedication. There can be nothing like the peace and wholeness of this place in the old world.

Then back into the rented car. On the radio a strident voice is talking about "Road Love"; he is advertising a brand of automobile, or was it gasoline? Then the voice quotes Melvin Laird on how "vicious" the North Vietnamese were in their reaction to the invasion of Laos.

☆ ☆ ☆

But the most lasting impression is of people longing to do good, yearning to express their frustrated altruism. For Americans still want to be the most generous people anywhere, the most idealistic.

And here the distinction between generations fades. Sally Giese of Richland Center, Wis., is a student at the University of Wisconsin. She has long blonde hair and large, gold-rimmed glasses.

"My parents don't like what the war is doing to the economy," she says, "or to this country. But I have to understand they were brought up a certain way—they can't help it. My father voted for Wallace. But they're upset by the same things we are. If you could only tap that feeling . . ."

Robert Coles, the inspiring Harvard psychiatrist and student of American life, spends much of his time with ordinary families—factory workers, policemen, middle Americans.

"What I find is frustrated populism and idealism," he says. "They want to know why we don't get out of the war. They long for affirmative leadership, for inspiration. They are tired of negative politicians."

Again and again people say that they wish they as individuals could make a difference. That reiterated doubt makes America a poignant country now.

But the truth is that the individual still does count in America. Public opinion killed the Supersonic Transport in the United States when it has not been able to express itself in Britain or France or the U.S.S.R. Consumer watchdogs worry American corporations more than any others. Only in the U.S. could a 29-year-old Army captain challenge the country's political leader on a moral issue and make the impact that Capt. Aubrey Daniel has in the Calley case.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By RUSSELL BAKER

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is in Washington this week, attending meetings of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Today's column is by humorist Russell Baker.)

WASHINGTON—American spy satellites have detected a lot of big holes in the ground in Russia. Twenty of these holes are large enough to accommodate the biggest war rocket in the world, and naturally our intelligence people suspect the worst.

If we unquestioningly accept their judgment that those Russian holes have been dug to house super-rockets, we shall have to put up several more billions to tuck more rockets of our own into more holes in America.

Obviously, it behooves us to think carefully about these Russian holes. The first possibility is that the Russians have devised a cheap method for driving us to bankruptcy.

★

Someone in Moscow, with deep understanding of the American mentality, may have foreseen that we would reflexively reply to 20 Russian holes with $20 billion worth of new American rocketry. Assuming that the cost of digging a hole in Russia is comparable to what an American contractor would charge here, the Russians could get 20 fairly good-sized holes for about $200 million.

It would be well worth the cost if the holes could scare us into sinking $20 billion into new war machinery, for we would have wasted 100 times as much money as the Russians.

Yes, wasted. Consider: Our rockets go into those holes for use only if we are attacked. But if the Russian holes have no weapons in them, they cannot very well attack us, and we, therefore, cannot use our expensive new weapons. Our policy of refusing to strike first, coupled with our tendency to get alarmed about holes in Russia, thus seems to give the Russians an overwhelming advantage in any competition at which each country's object is to force the other's financial ruination.

It seems unarguable that the Russian holes are not weapons of economic warfare, but a defensive response to the many, many holes which Russian spy satellites have detected in America during the last few months.

These gigantic holes must have caused consternation in the Kremlin—if that is where the Russian leaders still plot their deviltry. They must surely have had, for example, an aerial photograph of the giant hole located right here in Washington in 23rd Street between M and L Streets. A hole that close to the White House, big enough to house the largest rocket on earth! What must they have thought?

Having so few cars, they would surely not have realized that what they were seeing was a pothole. Most probably they do not even know what a pothole is. A satellite picture showing a hole as big as the 23rd Street pothole, with that black glistening machinery buried deep within, would inevitably have alarmed them.

Even if they had heard of potholes, they would not have believed in one so big that it contained an entire Cadillac limousine and the diplomatic staff of a small neutral nation. Obviously, their photo interpreters took the Cadillac in the 23rd Street pothole for an intercontinental missile.

It is obvious, then, that the Russians are indeed planting missiles to retaliate against our potholes, and that we are in danger of putting in more missiles to retaliate against the Russian missiles that are being targeted on our potholes. Can this insane race be stopped?

Yes, and it must be. By a crash program to fill in our potholes. If the Cadillac cannot be rescued, that heroic diplomatic staff will have to be paved over for peace.

What finer end for those who have chosen diplomacy as a way of life?

'You're Both Very Generous!'

U.S. Keeps Hands Off

The government of Pakistan, located in the less populated but more powerful western part of that geographically-divided nation enjoys the economic, military and political support of the Soviet Union, Communist China and the United States. It is an odd set of allies to keep on one's string only if it is forgotten that each of the major powers has a stake in Pakistan's future and that Pakistan profits from the competition.

So it is that the U.S., with its interest in the central government at heart, sits back without so much as a reproachful word and watches the bloodbath unfold in Pakistan's eastern province.

The idea of an autonomous Bengali nation in the East, or Bangla Desh, as the natives there proudly proclaim, is doomed to failure, observers say. The efficient, well-equipped Pakistani Army is regaining control of the cities and rural areas that it lost when the rebellion was at its peak. Indiscriminate slaughter of unarmed peasants is rampant; some 6,000 died in the provincial capital of Dacca alone, according to reports. The only sliver of hope the Bengalis have, supposedly, is in a prolonged guerrilla war, which, if carried off, would weaken the resolve of the central government and lead ultimately to autonomy or independence for East Pakistan.

The recent history of Pakistan gives weight to the argument that it never had a chance to be a viable nation, considering that its parts are a thousand miles apart and while predominantly of the same religion, it is composed of two different peoples. The U.S. is not accountable for that, however.

But the United States finds itself in a familiar position — that of giving support to a dictatorial government which is oppressing and murdering thousands of its subjects. The question is, should the U.S. stand aside and say nothing because of guilt associated with the war in Vietnam, let alone because of its interest in a stable Pakistani government, and not add its weight to the body of world opinion opposing the crimes against humanity in East Pakistan?

Fieldhouse Support Slipping?

A number of state senators apparently are having second thoughts about financing a new University of Nebraska fieldhouse and new state office building through revenues derived from an increase in the cigarette tax. The bill bumping the tobacco tax up a nickel to 13c a pack, LB87, was advanced from select file Tuesday by a 26-7 margin, one more vote than was needed.

The measure received an overwhelming 41-3 first-round vote of approval last week following a talk to the Legislature by NU Athletic Director Bob Devaney. This time, sixteen senators either were absent or declined to record their preference in the matter and opponents of the bill gained four votes.

We hope this does not indicate a serious erosion of support for LB87. It is all very well and good to talk about needs more urgent than the fieldhouse, but the feeling prevails that significant funding for those talked-about higher priorities would receive very little support if the cigarette tax bill were thrown out. It still seems to be an all-or-nothing situation and LB87 is a reasonable revenue vehicle by which to finance priority items that can stand on their own merits.

The cigarette tax bill is not the only indicator of a possible change in legislative thinking. We lower out sights again to the resolution level. Last week, the Legislature unanimously adopted a resolution commending President Nixon for his decision to pesonally review the court-martial conviction of Lt. Calley.

This week, the Legislature defeated a resolution urging Congress to seek a complete withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam by next April 1. Without commenting on the result of the vote, we find the attitude of some senators somewhat peculiar. Several of them agreed that the Legislature had "no business" considering the issue. One said the responsibility for determining Vietnam policy rests in Washington, not Lincoln. Another said he thought "we're overstepping our bounds . . . we have plenty to do to keep us busy here." Right on! The Legislature should consider big issues, such as the Calley case, but not little things, like the war.

Your Six Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

The Possibilities

Lincoln, Neb.

Let me make it perfectly clear that you would be hard put to find a more enthusiastic Nebraska football fan in this state than I. Also, as a smoker, I offer no objection to a five per cent increase in the cigarette sales tax, nor would I object to an increase in the liquor tax or would I find fault in a tax on parimutuel betting — provided that the money derived therefrom would be used to benefit the majority of the citizens of our state.

With the advent of the five per cent increase in the cigarette tax, I would soberly suggest that my good friend in the athletic department ticket office recall posthaste all advanced season football ticket reservations, such tickets to be reissued to cigarette smokers. Three-pack-a-day smokers would have first priority, followed closely by two-pack-a-dayers, then one-pack, and so on. Our celebrity-swayed legislators could then be called into special session, wherein each application could be reviewed thoroughly, and the tickets distributed fairly.

The repercussions of this tax would be endless. With citizens willing to go to any lengths to obtain a duo of this elusive prize, a startling increase in cigarette sales would expand the coffers of the state so greatly that we could throw in a new coliseum, new baseball uniforms, several basketball nets. The chancellor could keep his maid.

We can close our eyes and picture the electrifying spectacle at the initial home game this fall. After the first Nebraska touchdown of the afternoon, rather than the red and white balloons rising majestically over the stadium, the fans—with the help of the public address system—could en masse inhale at the count of one and exhale at the count of three. While the gladiators upon the field of battle stand at rapt attention, this great mushrooming cloud would envelop us all. This awesome sight could be followed by fans wheezing our revered battle cry of "Don't Smoke In Bed!", altered slightly from the worn "Go Big Red!"

Imagine the television cameras grinding away to record this inspiring view, probably with a running commentary by Heywood Hale Broun, resplendent in his timeless plaid sports jacket. Not to be outdone, of course, "Sports Illustrated" would feature a full color spread on the center foldout sheet of its October issue.

The irony of the proposal before the Legislature is that athletes and coaches alike, who profess to shun tobacco like the plague, should be the beneficiaries of this legislative act of benevolence.

With the obvious success of the first increase in the cigarette sales tax, we could then go on to less needy areas with subsequent increases—such as providing a decent wage scale for institutional employes and providing for better facilities and training for our retarded and institutionalized. We might even go so far as to dangle the promise of tax relief before the eyes of our elderly who are dependent upon Social Security checks and pensions for their subsistence.

All this makes one long for the gaseous TV cigarette commercials. At least one can feel secure in the knowledge that one had never made a trip to the polls to cast one's ballot for a mindless commercial.

Young Offer Hope

Lincoln, Neb.

As a young person who has traveled a great deal, I was immensely interested in your April 12 "In Perspective" column.

I was rather surprised, but certainly glad to see that an editor had taken such a stand. The concept you presented should become a part of every individual's life.

We are an integral part of the cosmos, and it is about time we started realizing that everything we do as individuals has an effect on all of mankind. Our identity should not be secular or nationalistic, but rather as a citizen of humanity. We have to strive to dismantle boundaries, walls and curtains, as they are such a negative aspect of mankind.

All this we have to try to make psssible, as surely the present status of the world does not make sense. Perhaps 20- But perhaps we are treading But pehaps we are treading such a thin line that idealism is the only valid answer.

Bravo, Mr. Dobler! We need more individuals like you who are willing to converse with a 20-year-old and find out what he is thinking. Perhaps what the young person cites as his ultimate goal is not too realistic, but nevertheless it is full of hope.

Patchwork Prairie Country

Yellow is spring. It is in the upturned face of a daffodil and the flower bells of the forsythia. Yellow is spring in the throat of a meadowlark and the soft down of baby ducklings. Yellow is the molten gold of the sun illuminating a transitory radiance across the hills and fields. It is the housewife singing a love song as she washes the windows, for no one can stay long in the aura of brilliant sunlight and remain lonely and depressed for long.

Yes, I would say when it comes to finding a mood in color, yellow does very well. Spring is peeking through the glitter.

"Simplify! Simplify!" said Thoreau as he lived his uncluttered life.

It is the season for such action, I decided. Closets shall be stripped of unnecessary clutter, kitchen cupboards with an accumulation of plastic containers must be cleared and other not-quite-necessary items disposed of in one clean sweep.

All went well until I delved into the shelves of a closed bookcase where I had put magazines and other publications for reading at a later date. Some I had barely glanced at, picking out the story I intended to read when I found the time. Others I had marked by pages that included a nugget of a poem or article that appealed to me.

I began sorting and reading, turning to first one article then another, finishing a story that I had begun months ago or catching a wisp of poetry in motion.

Each magazine went into a neat little pile. A peek here and a peek there . . . this one goes here, this one the other.

Suddenly I realized that I was getting no place fast. Many more good features in the magazines were still unread. So the material I intended to discard suddenly became too interesting and worthwhile. I put them all back into their place again and vow that when the first long day of spring rain comes, I am going to work my way down through the pile of magazines.

Surely when good ol' Thoreau uttered those words, "Simplify, simplify," he couldn't have imagined what a task it would be in this day and age. But I must admit it was a good idea.

There is always a critical time on the farm when the hay supply is devoured by the hungry livestock before the pastures are green and ready to support a herd of cattle.

The Farmer has had to buy alfalfa hay the last few weeks to feed our cattle. It seems their appetite is twice as hearty when they eat hay that is purchased. The small calves also nibble away their share. But soon with a good supply of rain and warm sunlight, the grass will grow thick and lush and the cattle can be put to graze in the pasture.

Now that the country roads have dried and the days are warm, motor bikes or motor scooters have taken to the byways. They hurtle along our road, throbbing with a thrust of fuel that feeds the engines glistening in the sun with their chrome trim and bright new paint.

Put a boy on one of these machines and he becomes as powerful as the Norse god, Thor, who was god of war, strength and thunder.

I suppose they sense a feeling of greatness as they ride as masters of the power beneath them, splitting the wind, racing over the ground.

After the motor scooters, a boy grows into a motorcycle. These massive roaring engines seem to me to be more dangerous to the youth for they call for more daring. At least it would seem to the riders. They weave along the highways and lean precariously while going around a curve. I shudder when I see these cycles roaring down the roadway.

White House Dinners Produce GOP Funds

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is using the White House to throw fund-raising dinners for the Republican campaign chest.

He invites fat cats to the White House for quiet, de rigeur dinners. Afterward, over Sancerre and cigars, they are hit up for political contributions.

Few financial tycoons can resist an invitation to dine at the White House, and they arrive resplendent in black tie and tux to be plucked.

To preserve the presidential dignity, Nixon doesn't stay around for the sordid financial pitch. He makes some lofty remarks about peace and prosperity, then discreetly departs before the money tree is shaken.

The latest White House fund-raiser was held on April 8 less than three weeks after the President declared on TV his firm support for limiting campaign contributions.

A glittering gathering of Illinois millionaires, dressed in their fancy duds, munched on delectables from the White House kitchen and listened to the President talk.

He told how he was turning the Vietnam war over to the Vietnamese and said he was sorry he hadn't followed his own advice when he urged stock market speculators to start buying a year ago.

He started to leave, paused to listen respectively to Illinois Gov. Richard Ogilvie, then made good his escape.

Thereupon, lesser White House celebrities took over and began to warm up the group for the plucking. Even Harry Dent, the President's Southern strategist, joined in the political evangelism.

"Southerners just love the President," oozed Dent in his best Dixie dialect.

First on his feet to offer financial aid was insurance tycon W. Clement Stone, perhaps the sweetest sugar daddy of them all, who contributed a traceable $650,000 to the GOP in 1968, another $1 million in 1970 through a maze of channels.

But the William Stone, who resembles the late comedian Robert Benchley, has received unfavorable publicity for his beneficence. Presumably with this in mind, R. Douglas Stuart, the Quaker Oats magnate, suggested bluntly that Clem Stone's name ought to be kept out of their fund-raising effort.

"You are absolutely right," said Stone amiably. "I agree with you completely."

In the awesome atmosphere of the White House, full of good food and drink, the money men offered little resistance. Indeed, the fat cats are expected to line up for a chance to be dunned at a White House dinner. And the rustle of every unfolding bill and the scratch of pen on check add emphasis to the need for reforming the greatest evil in the American political system.

Corporal Punishment Restriction Is Buried

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Ernest Chambers' bill to restrict the use of corporal punishment in the schools was buried Wednesday on a lop-sided final reading vote of 12 to 34.

The measure, LB446, had struggled all the way across the legislative board, gathering slender majority margins along the way.

But many of its earlier "supporters" abandoned the sharply contested proposal at the showdown.

Only two of Lancaster County's six senators supported the bill in its final test.

LB446 would have prohibited the use of corporal punishment upon school pupils — with a number of exceptions.

Written Permission

The prohibition would have been waived for children whose parents provided written permission in advance.

Other exceptions included: to quell a disturbance, to obtain weapons in the possession of a pupil, for the protection of persons or property, or in self-defense.

Chambers has contended the use of force against pupils in the schools has the effect of teaching them to use violence on others.

During earlier floor debates on the bill, Chambers showed senators large paddles which are used on students in Omaha's Horace Mann Junior High School.

Prior to Wednesday's final reading vote, Chambers distributed copies of a letter from Omaha's Human Relations Department strongly endorsing his bill.

Termed Barbaric

"The present system of allowing school personnel to administer paddlings whether with or without the permission of their parents is barbaric and outmoded," Roger Sayers, department director, wrote Chambers.

"This form of punishment is definitely not conducive to a creative atmosphere for learning. Education cannot be beaten into the child.

"The concern of the school administration and state senators should be with the educational system and the social environment which fosters the attitudes of corporal punishment within public schools."

Chambers also distributed copies of a letter from the Rev. Vincent Mainelli, president of the Eastern Nebraska Mental Health Association.

Endorsed Exceptions

His letter endorsed the exceptions which had been added to the bill during earlier floor consideration.

"We would hope ultimately, however, that the school system would place sufficient emphasis on the alternatives available in the disciplining of students in its teacher orientation program so that teachers would develop a better understanding of human behavior and would thus be better able to create healthy learning situations in their classrooms," the Rev. Mr. Mainelli wrote.

Here is the final reading vote which killed LB446:

For: Carstens, Chambers, DeCamp, Duis, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Orme, Skarda, Stahmer, Swanson, Waldron.
Against: Barnett, Burbach, Carpenter, Carsten, Clark, Craft, Elrod, Epke, Goodrich, Hasebrook, Holmquist, Johnson, Kennedy, Keyes, Kime, Klaver, Kokes, Lewis, Luedtke, Maresh, Nore, Proud, Savage, Simpson, Snyder, Stromer, Stull, Syas, Waldo, Wallwey, Warner, Whitney, Wiltse, Ziebarth.
Not Voting: Kremer, Mahoney, Schmit.

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Your power mower is a time-saving convenience, but keep in mind it can also be a dangerous weapon. Be certain your mower is in good repair prior to the mowing season. Follow the manufacturer's manual of directions, and recognize the common sense rules of mower operation.

Keep children and pets well out of the way when the mower is being used and check your lawn for all debris that could be thrown by the mower. Mow your lawn in such a pattern that you need not pull the mower backwards, and never refuel the machine while the engine is running or is excessively hot.

Remember that mower blade generates enough force to slash toes, shear fingers and throw stones and small bits of metal with the speed of a rifle bullet. Those shields and belt guards should be left in place.

Retirement Hotel Life Suggested For Mother

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT

Question:—My mother has been working right along since her husband died. Now at 72 years old, she has been retired. She never had much of a yen for cooking and housekeeping since her prime interest has been her work. Also, she's sort of spoiled by having always been in the midst of interesting people at the office. I've been talking with her as to where she'd be most content to live. What are your thoughts?

Answer:—I'd suggest that she consider a retirement hotel. Here she'll have the minimum of meal-making and housekeeping, because her quarters would probably be a nice size room and bath.

Many of the hotels provide two and sometimes three meals a day as part of the monthly charges. Linen, maid service and other special attention is also available in hotel-type living.

This provides the possibility of sociability at dining hours. There would probably be someone on call 24 hours a day in case of an emergency. There may even be a doctor in residence and a small infirmary available. Many of the better hotels have cultural and recreational activities on the premises or nearby.

It's like living in a clubhouse and ought to fit your mother's needs just fine.

A reader writes: — Regarding your article in the Los Angeles Examiner about the lady who has been a widow for two years and would like to remarry. Well, it seems that there are a lot of women facing the same problem.

I am 56 and very active, go to dances and love to bowl and do a lot of things that would be more enjoyable if I had a companion, but I never met anyone yet that I would say is marriage material. They are either too old for me, or they drink too much, or they escort you home and try to prove their manhood. Sex is a wonderful thing and I wish men would only wake up and realize how much better it could be if there was a little affection connected with it, instead of just self-satisfaction.

I have gone to a lot of places, from churches, to ballrooms, to singles clubs and it seems the women have the men in such a state of mind that they don't want any responsibility for a wife or a home, so some women let them move in with them and keep them for pets. Well, for my part, that is not what I call a man.

I have even joined a computer dating program, which folded up, and I, alone with a lot of other people, lost my money. Oh yes, they are supposed to introduce you to men in your age bracket and to those who have similar interests, but the men they introduce you to don't begin to share the same likes and dislikes.

Bill To Permit Increase In Retirement Pay Held

By United Press International

A committee of the Legislature decided Wednesday to hold for later consideration a bill which would allow public employe retirement benefits to increase, or decrease, along with the cost of living.

The bill (LB531), sponsored by Omaha Sen. Richard F. Proud, is in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment. It would repeal the present constitutional provision which prohibits any changes in retirement benefits.

The Legislature would be authorized, but not required, to establish new payment formulas based on the cost of living under the terms of the proposal.

Cost of Living

"Several retired people have contacted me saying they are having trouble keeping up with the cost of living," Proud told the committee.

Appearing in support of the bill were Frank Wolf and C. W. Minard, both of Omaha and former Omaha Public Power District employes.

Wolf noted the bill would not only help those now drawing retirement by allowing increases, but would also allow the Legislature in the future to cut back if the cost of living went down.

Benefits For Widows

The committee also held a bill (LB194) sponsored by Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke, which would allow widows of teachers who die while teaching to receive the spouse's benefits.

The bill would release payments to a widow, however, only if the teacher had completed at least 20 years of service and was 55 years of age.

"As it is now, everyone is eliminated from receiving the money that has been paid in (to the retirement fund)—it goes back to the state and the school district," State Education Association Executive Director John Lynch said.

Earlier Retirement

He also noted the bill would allow for earlier retirement. It would allow teachers to retire at 62 instead of 65, but at a lower pension payment rate.

"With increased pressures of today, teachers are finding it tougher and tougher to reach 65 without running out of gas," Lynch told the committee.

Another bill (LB555) held in committee would allow widows of retired judges, or those who die in service, to receive the retirement benefits.

Redistricting Bill Passed

THE Legislature Wednesday ordered governmental subdivisions in the state — counties, cities and school districts, for example — to bring themselves into compliance with the "one man, one vote," concept enunciated by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Passed 45-1 on final reading was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB368, which requires governmental subdivisions whose governing boards are elected by districts to revise district boundaries by next Jan. 1. The new districts must have approximately equal population as measured by the 1970 federal census.

If a subdivision fails to comply, members of the governing board shall be elected at large.

LB368 carries the emergency clause and takes effect the moment it is signed by Gov. J. James Exon.

Sen. Calvin Carsten of Avoca cast the lone dissenting vote.

Also passed on final reading Wednesday:

LB470, refining law governing special schools for truant or incorrigible children. Ziebarth, Whitney, Simpson, Kennedy. 42-4.

"Sold in one day!"

"If I would have had one hundred cars, I believe I could have sold them. I had phone call after call," said the party who ran this Journal-Star Want Ad:

Action Deferred On Food Tax Exemption Bill

State Sen. William Skarda of Omaha Wednesday decided to delay for another day his attempt to raise from the Legislature's Revenue Committee a bill to repeal the state sales tax on food.

The bill, LB567, has been stalled in the committee for weeks on a tie vote and Skarda would need 25 votes to bring it onto the Unicameral floor.

Skarda had earlier promised his attempt Wednesday but decided to delay it one day.

The bill would fulfill a major campaign promise made by Gov. J. J. Exon and the measure has been strongly backed by Exon.

RE-ELECT SAM MAYOR

Sam Schwartzkopf

930 Eldon Drive
Lincoln, Nebraska 68510

To My Fellow Citizens of Lincoln:

Thank you!

Your strong support in last week's primary election was most encouraging. The majority vote which you cast on my behalf can only indicate that you want to maintain the steady and orderly growth of our capitol city.

We all realize that there is much yet to be done for Lincoln. I want to continue working as your mayor to see that it gets done.

I will continue to campaign vigorously between now and the general election so that all the people of Lincoln will have an opportunity to know about my past accomplishments, present city programs and future municipal goals.

As we move toward the general election on May 4, I will need and greatly appreciate your continued support.

Sincerely,

Corporal Punishment Restriction Is Buried

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Ernest Chambers' bill to restrict the use of corporal punishment in the schools was buried Wednesday on a lop-sided final reading vote of 12 to 34.

The measure, LB446, had struggled all the way across the legislative board, gathering slender majority margins along the way.

But many of its earlier "supporters" abandoned the sharply contested proposal at the showdown.

Only two of Lancaster County's six senators supported the bill in its final test.

LB446 would have prohibited the use of corporal punishment upon school pupils — with a number of exceptions.

Written Permission

The prohibition would have been waived for children whose parents provided written permission in advance.

Other exceptions included: to quell a disturbance, to obtain weapons in the possession of a pupil, for the protection of persons or property, or in self-defense.

Chambers has contended the use of force against pupils in the schools has the effect of teaching them to use violence on others.

During earlier floor debates on the bill, Chambers showed senators large paddles which are used on students in Omaha's Horace Mann Junior High School.

Prior to Wednesday's final reading vote, Chambers distributed copies of a letter from Omaha's Human Relations Department strongly endorsing his bill.

Termed Barbaric

"The present system of allowing school personnel to administer paddlings whether with or without the permission of their parents is barbaric and outmoded," Roger Sayers, department director, wrote Chambers.

"This form of punishment is definitely not conducive to a creative atmosphere for learning. Education cannot be beaten into the child.

"The concern of the school administration and state senators should be with the educational system and the social environment which fosters the attitudes of corporal punishment within public schools."

Chambers also distributed copies of a letter from the Rev. Vincent Mainelli, president of the Eastern Nebraska Mental Health Association.

Endorsed Exceptions

His letter endorsed the exceptions which had been added to the bill during earlier floor consideration.

"We would hope ultimately, however, that the school system would place sufficient emphasis on the alternatives available in the disciplining of students in its teacher orientation program so that teachers would develop a better understanding of human behavior and would thus be better able to create healthy learning situations in their classrooms," the Rev. Mr. Mainelli wrote.

Here is the final reading vote which killed LB446:

For: Carstens, Chambers, DeCamp, Duis, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Orme, Skarda, Stahmer, Swanson, Waldron.
Against: Barnett, Burbach, Carpenter, Carsten, Clark, Craft, Elrod, Epke, Goodrich, Hasebroock, Holmquist, Johnson, Kennedy, Keyes, Kime, Klaver, Kokes, Lewis, Luedtke, Maresh, Nore, Proud, Savage, Simpson, Snyder, Stromer, Stull, Syas, Waldo, Wallwey, Warner, Whitney, Wiltse, Ziebarth.
Not Voting: Kremer, Mahoney, Schmit.

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Your power mower is a time-saving convenience, but keep in mind it can also be a dangerous weapon. Be certain your mower is in good repair prior to the mowing season. Follow the manufacturer's manual of directions, and recognize the common sense rules of mower operation.

Keep children and pets well out of the way when the mower is being used and check your lawn for all debris that could be thrown by the mower. Mow your lawn in such a pattern that you need not pull the mower backwards, and never refuel the machine while the engine is running or is excessively hot.

Remember that mower blade generates enough force to slash toes, shear fingers and throw stones and small bits of metal with the speed of a rifle bullet. Those shields and belt guards should be left in place.

Retirement Hotel Life Suggested For Mother

By HENRY SCHMIDT

Question:—My mother has been working right along since her husband died. Now at 72 years old, she has been retired. She never had much of a yen for cooking and housekeeping since her prime interest has been her work. Also, she's sort of spoiled by having always been in the midst of interesting people at the office. I've been talking with her as to where she'd be most content to live. What are your thoughts?

Answer:—I'd suggest that she consider a retirement hotel. Here she'll have the minimum of meal-making and housekeeping, because her quarters would probably be a nice size room and bath.

Many of the hotels provide two and sometimes three meals a day as part of the monthly charges. Linen, maid service and other special attention is also available in hotel-type living.

This provides the possibility of sociability at dining hours. There would probably be someone on call 24 hours a day in case of an emergency. There may even be a doctor in residence and a small infirmary available. Many of the better hotels have cultural and recreational activities on the premises or nearby.

It's like living in a clubhouse and ought to fit your mother's needs just fine.

A reader writes: — Regarding your article in the Los Angeles Examiner about the lady who has been a widow for two years and would like to remarry. Well, it seems that there are a lot of women facing the same problem.

I am 56 and very active, go to dances and love to bowl and do a lot of things that would be more enjoyable if I had a companion, but I never met anyone yet that I would say is marriage material. They are either too old for me, or they drink too much, or they escort you home and try to prove their manhood. Sex is a wonderful thing and I wish men would only wake up and realize how much better it could be if there was a little affection connected with it, instead of just self-satisfaction.

I have gone to a lot of places, from churches, to ballrooms, to singles clubs and it seems the women have the men in such a state of mind that they don't want any responsibility for a wife or a home, so some women let them move in with them and keep them for pets. Well, for my part, that is not what I call a man.

I have even joined a computer dating program, which folded up, and I, alone with a lot of other people, lost my money. Oh yes, they are supposed to introduce you to men in your age bracket and to those who have similar interests, but the men they introduce you to don't begin to share the same likes and dislikes.

History Repeats Itself

With just a little imagination Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill turned time back to the 16th Century and pretended they were in a golden coach — on their way to a function to be held in Queen Elizabeth's court. In the front seat of Mr. DuTeau's surrey are Mr. and Mrs. Joy. Mr. Hill, who has already assisted Mrs. Hill into the carriage, is about to step into the vehicle.

Life in the 20th Century isn't quite the same as it was in the 1500's. Golden coaches are a minus quantity — there are no 'gallant knights in shining armor,' and Sir Walter Raleigh and the episode of his coat and the mud puddle is just something you read about.

The Elizabethan era, nevertheless, will be very much with us on Saturday evening when the Lincoln Community Playhouse Guild has its Beaux Arts Ball at the Lincoln Country Club. Costumes are much in order, but failing a costume this spectacular event is strictly a black tie, and formal gown affair.

We suspect that the Lincoln Country Club driveway will be lined with motor vehicles on Saturday evening — there might be just one carriage — not the 'coach and four' of the Eliizabethan days—but a surrey with the fringe on top.

A foursome of Community Playhouse devotees who plan to attend the ball, decided to try out the carriage. They did, through the courtesy of Al DuTeau, at the DuTeau farm.

Then, of course, a bit of research was done concerning the dances during the Elizabethan era. The popular one was the minuet, and the members of a certain six-some were not about to be wallflowers on Saturday evening. Done up in their best bib and tucker they did some rehearsing, and we're guessing that even as graceful as they seem to be they prefer the waltz, or a foxtrot—or maybe even the 'shag.'

BOOKS: "The New Centurions"

By INDIRA SINGH

Joseph Wambaugh is known by many names, but he prefers to be called a policeman. In his 10th year as a sergeant in the Los Angeles Police Department, he decided to write a book about the subject he knew best: the cop.

His novel "The New Centurions" which follows the lives of three L.A.P.D. policemen, came out recently and is now third on the best seller list. Chief Edward Davis of the Los Angeles Department found that the novel distinctly painted an unflattering picture. He wrote several publishers suggesting alterations in the text. As a reply the publishers printed three more editions without changes. Infuriated, Chief Davis "admonished" author cum policeman, Wambaugh. All this meant, was that he was mildly rebuked for not submitting his manuscript for approval before it was published.

"The New Centurions" (a title in which Wambaugh attempts to make a philosophical comparison between the modern policeman and his counterpart in Caesar's Rome) is an extremely interesting book. It deals with the lives of three young men who risk it each day for a 498 dollars per month job. The characters are realistic, if not altogether non-fictional.

There is Serge Duran, a tough Mexican who spend five years on the force searching for his identity. Then there is Gus Plebesly who cares more for human involvement than the lustrous gold of polished buttons. The third is Roy Fehler, a white liberal intellectual who emerges as the strongest character in the book. Almost an image of the novelist, Roy is the philosopher symbolically shut away from the world behind the blue serge uniform. Ironically he reaches full maturity, just before he receives a fatal wound in the line of duty.

The novel clicks with humor. There is the scene when the morning roll call is being taken by the sergeant on duty, who reads the daily crime list and priceless comments are passed on by the on-going watch. The dialogue is savage and brutal, and some pages are almost too realistic. Throughout the novel the author manages, by some miracle, to write with a combination of empathy and objectivity.

The climax of the novel unfolds during August 1965. The riots in Watts. There is the angry confrontation between mobs and the tense isolated policemen.

Author Wambaugh is no rebel. He firmly believes in authority, and even his literary battles with Chief Davis made him feel uneasy. According to him the television image of the cop is awefully wholesome and terribly tiresome. But his book is already under contract for a movie, and his second novel, also about a policeman, is almost finished. He wants to continue writing, but at the same time prefers to wear his blue uniform.

The brutal mobs, and the riots are somewhat alien to a reader from a small city, but nevertheless the problems are there to be confronted. More and more towns are finding themselves with these problems, and it is necessary to understand them, and the policeman who is in the midst. The absurdity however lies in attempting to enforce morality with a gun or a club.

Call him "pig" or "sir", the policeman has always had a place in the upkeep of society. The Centurion perhaps does not cherish his role, but nevertheless it is society that deems his presence a necessity.

History Repeats Itself

With just a little imagination Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill turned time back to the 16th Century and pretended they were in a golden coach — on their way to a function to be held in Queen Elizabeth's court. In the front seat of Mr. DuTeau's surrey are Mr. and Mrs. Joy. Mr. Hill, who has already assisted Mrs. Hill into the carriage, is about to step into the vehicle.

Life in the 20th Century isn't quite the same as it was in the 1500's. Golden coaches are a minus quantity — there are no 'gallant knights in shining armor,' and Sir Walter Raleigh and the episode of his coat and the mud puddle is just something you read about.

The Elizabethan era, nevertheless, will be very much with us on Saturday evening when the Lincoln Community Playhouse Guild has its Beaux Arts Ball at the Lincoln Country Club. Costumes are much in order, but failing a costume this spectacular event is strictly a black tie. and formal gown affair.

We suspect that the Lincoln Country Club driveway will be lined with motor vehicles on Saturday evening — there might be just one carriage — not the 'coach and four' of the Eliizabethan days—but a surrey with the fringe on top.

A foursome of Community Playhouse devotees who plan to attend the ball, decided to try out the carriage. They did, through the courtesy of Al DuTeau, at the DuTeau farm.

Then, of course, a bit of research was done concerning the dances during the Elizabethan era. The popular one was the minuet, and the members of a certain six-some were not about to be wallflowers on Saturday evening. Done up in their best bib and tucker they did some rehearsing, and we're guessing that even as graceful as they seem to be they prefer the waltz, or a foxtrot—or maybe even the 'shag.'

BOOKS: "The New Centurions"

By INDIRA SINGH

Joseph Wambaugh is known by many names, but he prefers to be called a policeman. In his 10th year as a sergeant in the Los Angeles Police Department, he decided to write a book about the subject he knew best: the cop.

His novel "The New Centurions" which follows the lives of three L.A.P.D. policemen, came out recently and is now third on the best seller list. Chief Edward Davis of the Los Angeles Department found that the novel distinctly painted an unflattering picture. He wrote several publishers suggesting alterations in the text. As a reply the publishers printed three more editions without changes. Infuriated, Chief Davis "admonished" author cum policeman, Wambaugh. All this meant, was that he was mildly rebuked for not submitting his manuscript for approval before it was published.

"The New Centurions" (a title in which Wambaugh attempts to make a philosophical comparison between the modern policeman and his counterpart in Caesar's Rome) is an extremely interesting book. Abby: tell the sister you didn't say it

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Many widows and divorcees wonder why they are seldom invited to parties with mixed couples, but they are always welcome if it's a "hen party" or if some woman's husband is out of town.

I can tell them why. Because most married women are selfish and jealous. They don't want a single female near their husbands. I know this because my wife is guilty of this jealousy and selfishness.

My wife's younger sister became widowed six years ago. She had a 3-year-old son. She came over often with her little boy, and they were always welcome. The boy and I became great pals. About a year ago, this sister-in-law and her boy stopped coming over. I also noticed that my wife's whole family turned cool toward me. At a family gathering, I learned from the boy, who is now nine, that my wife had told her sister that I did not want her coming over so much.

I was shocked and told my wife I was going to tell her sister that I never said any such thing.

My wife said, "Go ahead. It won't do you any good. Blood is thicker than water."

What is your advice?

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♦	Pass	1♠	Pass
2NT	Pass	3NT

Opening lead — five of clubs.

Psychology is an important factor in both the bidding and play, but there is no magic rule to tell you how the minds of the other three players at the table are working. You do what you can to interpret what they are doing, and at the same time you send out messages of your own which you hope will not fall on deaf ears.

One of declarer's important jobs is to try to lead the defenders astray and in that way increase whatever chance he has for the contract. It stands to reason that it can hardly do your opponents much good if they get misled by your approach to the play, and therefore the more often you can fool them the greater your chance of success.

Consider this unusual example from a duplicate pair game. At most tables declarer went down one in either three notrump or four spades, but our story concerns itself with the lone declarer who bid and made three notrump.

It would seem that South must fail against a club lead. He wins the ten with the jack and either then or later plays a diamond in an effort to acquire a ninth trick. If East grabs the ace at once and returns a club, South falls one trick short.

The declarer who made three notrump performed the feat rather cagily. After winning the club lead with the jack he cashed the ace of spades. He next played the king of diamonds, acting to all intents and purposes as though the spade ace was a singleton and as if he were trying to establish the diamond queen as an entry to cash dummy's spades.

East fell right into the trap. He carefully ducked the diamond in an effort to shut out the spades. Declarer thereupon ran nine tricks without testing his luck any more.

Fall, Winter Fashions In Italy

This is the time of the year when Italian fashion designers are giving previews of their talents, and letting the feminine world know what is in store for it.

In Florence for the showings is Odette Mengine, fashion writer for the Associated Press, and this is her story:

FLORENCE, Italy — Simplicity rather than extravagance emerged as the theme Monday night in the ready to wear fall-winter collections of Italian high fashion designers, and many would like to see women in hats. But one designer, Heniz Riva, stuck with hot pants even for cold weather.

The length of dresses and coats for day wear finally settled at just below the knee. Lines were straight and simple with classical suits and neatly cut coats. Most outfits had wide belts on or above the waistline and marqued shoulders that were sometimes exaggerated.

Andre Laug chose vivid colors to brighten the cold seasons, as did many other designers. Laug mixed them bravely in the case of a black pleated skirt topped by an emerald jacket and bright blue beret.

For evening, his woman was long and slender, with dresses reaching the ankle. For cocktails he showed glittering lame dresses worn with a large velvet beret.

A new idea for coats was Fabiani's half coat-half cape, bright red over white trousers.

Culottes and trousers remained popular for both evening and day wear. The Fontana sisters showed black and red trouser suits half check and half striped. Red, black and white were their choice also for evening trousers with embroidered blouses. Like Laug, Heinz Riva used brilliant colors.

Hot pants made their first appearance with Heinz Riva. He played around with colors, combining orange shorts with a green coat and purple hat and blouse. Some of his skirts had provocative slits in front.

Gregoriana preferred softer colors, half shades of pinks and mauves or browny greys. Her little bowler-shaped hats in organza net did not appear to give much protection from wind and rain. Some of her long dresses and jackets were edged with feathers resembling boas.

Most designers gave their models hats. There were Genghis Khan fur bonnets in Titti Brugnoli's collection, turbans for Ognibene-Zendman, long stocking caps at Balestra's to wrap around the neck like a scob, and pheasant-feathered hunting hats for Barocco.

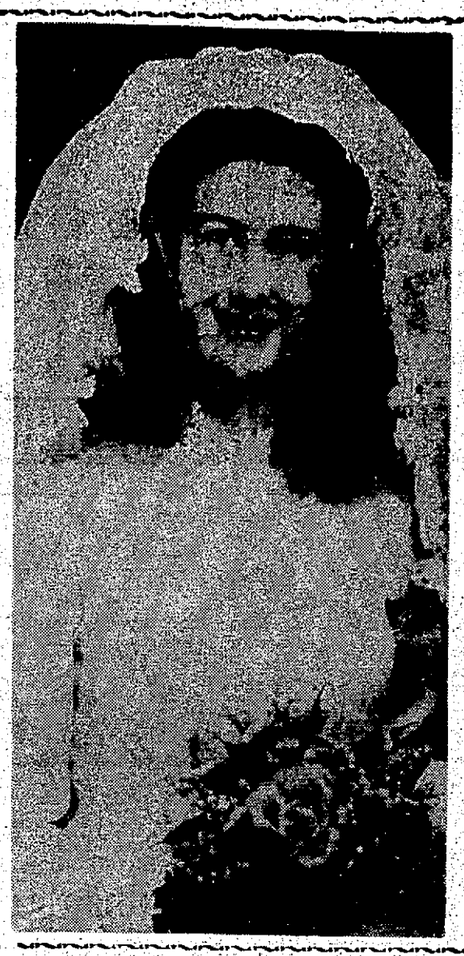
Wednesday Bride



The wedding of Miss Katherine Louise Frick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Frick, and Stephen Lee Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Harvey, took place on Wednesday evening, April 14, at St. Teresa's Catholic Church. The lines of the 7 o'clock ceremony were solemnized by the Rev. Eugene Vaap.

Wearing alike floor-length frocks of crepe in the peach shade were attendants, Miss Connie King of Norfolk, maid of honor; bridesmaids Miss Joleen Harvey and Miss Denise Harvey, sisters of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Victor Steele, the bridesmatron. Each carried three long-stemmed deep peach colored roses.

Serving Mr. Harvey as best man was William Crowley of Pocatello, Idaho, and the groomsmen and ushers included Douglas Savery, Ken Debos of Omaha, Bud Gray, Jim Taylor, and Ernie Moniz.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of satin organza and Swiss lace. A panel of the lace patterned the fitted bodice and fashioned the mandarin collar, and was repeated at the cuffs of the Bishop sleeves. Beneath the fitted bodice, which was circled with the lace, the A-line silhouette skirt was given back interest by a lace bordered chapel-length train. The train-length Madonna mantilla also was bordered with lace, and she carried an arrangement of roses in the peach shade and lilies of the valley on a white Bible.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas, Mr. Harvey and his bride will reside in Nebraska City, where the bridegroom is associated with the Weinman Auto Co.

Mrs. Jaycee Award

Mrs. Ron Hoffman has been named the recipient of the 1971 Lincoln Mrs. Jaycees Dedicated Service Award.

The presentation was made Wednesday evening, April 14, at the general membership meeting which was held at the Elk's Club.

The award is presented annually to a Lincoln Mrs. Jaycee who has participated in the organization's activities for five years or longer.

Mrs. Hoffman has been a Mrs. Jaycee since 1965 and has since been a membership director on the board of directors; Mrs. Jaycee president, serving from 1968 through 1969; and has served as advisor for the past two years.

She was named the Outstanding Mrs. Jaycee in 1967, and has served as chairman of many committees.

The award recipient has two children and is active in school and church activities, as well as working part time.

Chapter GD

Mrs. G. E. Scofield, past state president of the PEO, will present the program at the Thursday evening, April 15, meeting of PEO Chapter GD.

The 7:30 o'clock event will be held at the home of Mrs. Jon K. Feistner, 2417 Woodsdale Blvd., and assisting hostesses will include Mrs. Mark Backhaus and Mrs. Charles M. Pallesen.

MISS SUSAN BRANSHAW

This morning announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Branshaw of Green Bay, Wis., of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Barbara, to Paul Michael Stoehr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Stoehr of Lincoln.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 14.

Miss Branshaw is attending the University of Wisconsin at Green Bay.

Mr. Stoehr is a graduate of the University of Nebraska with a degree in electrical engineering. He now is associated with the Charmin Paper Co., in Green Bay.

'Our Little Miss'

Representing Nebraska in the 1970 Our Little Miss Pageant were Miss Jill Pershing (left) and Miss Jody Pershing (right), who are twin sisters. Jody was chosen for the outstanding sportswear outfit. Center is Miss Jill Hoffman who represented Nebraska as Miss La Petite.

What does it mean to a little girl to be a beauty pageant contestant? For contestants in our Our Little Miss children's beauty and talent pageant it will mean a wonderful experience meeting many other children and an opportunity to be recognized.

This summer, Nebraska will have its first state pageant on Saturday, June 19. Children will be selected for the international pageant in three divisions: (1) Miss LaPetite—age 3 through 6, to model in party dress and sportwear of her own choice; (2) Our Little Miss—age 7 through 12, to model in party dress and sportswear of your own choice, and a three minute talent presentation; and (3) the Grand Talent Winner—who will be chosen from the Our Little Miss age category, and who also will be entered in the International competition.

Local winners will receive official "Our Little Miss" trophies, certificates, and crowns and entry to the International Pageant. Winners of the World's Our Little Miss Pageant, which will be held Sept. 3 through Sept. 9 in Miami, will receive cash college scholarships (Little Miss—$1,000 and Miss La Petite—$500), wardrobes and national publicity.

Deadline for Nebraska entries is April 30 (See application blank on this page). The state pageant will be held on Saturday, June 19, in Lincoln, at the Radisson-Cornhusker Hotel, and the International Pageant will be televised nationally from Miami.

State director and coordinator are Eldene Pershing and Bonnie Hoffman, respectively. Their children, Miss Jill Pershing and Miss Jody Pershing, who are twin sisters, and Miss Jill Hoffman were contestants in the Our Little Miss and Miss LaPetite Pageant last year as members at large.

Attendants Named

Announcing plans this morning for an April wedding is Miss Kathryn Ann Jones, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Emerson Jones, whose marriage to Robert G. Wilson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wilson, all of Auburn, will be an event of Sunday.

The bride-elect has named her sister, Mrs. William P. Ward of Dallas, Tex., as her matron of honor for the 4 o'clock service to be solemnized at the Westminister Presbyterian Church. Attending Miss Jones as bridesmaids will be Miss Pamela Hilton, Miss Lynn Boyer and Miss Mariellen Wilson, sister of the future bridegroom.

William W. Nelson will serve Mr. Wilson as best man, and the groomsmen will be Greg Williams of Denver, Colo., James Grant, III, of Auburn, Lester Krenk of Jacksonville, Ill., Ted Kirk, James Pittenger, Wayne Moles of Seward, Jeffery Wilson of Auburn, brother of the bridegroom-to-be, and Emerson Jones, brother of the bride-to-be.

Miss Jones, who is a senior at the University of Nebraska, was honored at a luncheon on March 19 at the home of Mrs. Burton Fulsom. Guests included members of Mrs. Jones' bridge club, and the bride-elect was presented with a group gift from the members.

On Thursday, March 25, Miss Jones was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Lee G. Liggett, and attendants included the bride-elect's college friends.

Miss Jones and her fiance shared honors on Saturday, March 27, at a cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson.

A 'round-the-clock' brunch for the bride-elect and Mr. Wilson was held on Sunday, March 28 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Faytinger. Hosts and hostesses for the affair were the Faytingers, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dalton and Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Windle. Guests were asked to bring appropriate gifts for different hours of the day and evening.

Mrs. Dale Tinstman and Mrs. Gene Eaton were hostesses for a kitchen shower on Tuesday, March 30. The luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Tinstman.

Friends from high school days greeted Miss Jones on Monday evening, April 5, at the home of Mrs. Richard Marshall. Miss Jones shared honors with another bride-elect, Miss Teresa Vant, and Mrs. Gene Budig served as co-hostess with Mr. Marshall.

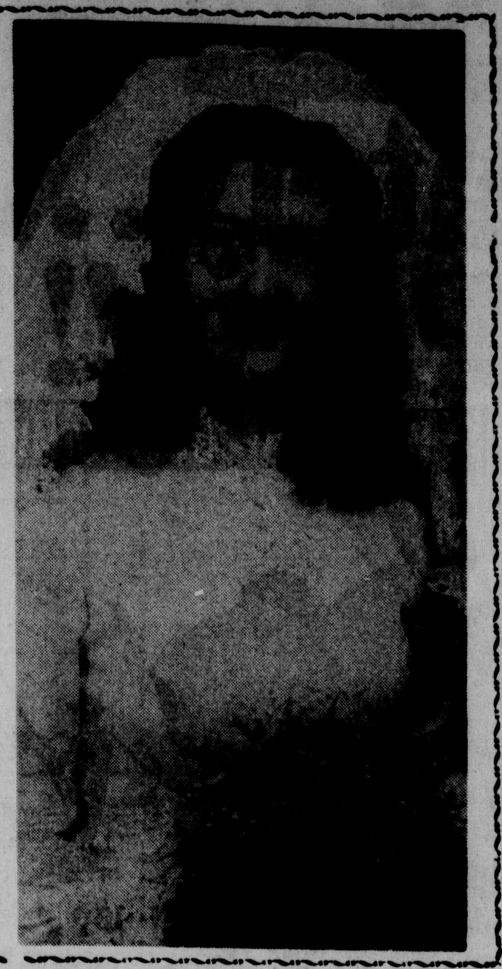
Wednesday Bride



The wedding of Miss Katherine Louise Frick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Frick, and Stephen Lee Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Harvey, took place on Wednesday evening, April 14, at St. Teresa's Catholic Church. The lines of the 7 o'clock ceremony were solemnized by the Rev. Eugene Vaap.

Wearing alike floor-length frocks of crepe in the peach shade were attendants, Miss Connie King of Norfolk, maid of honor; bridesmaids Miss Joleen Harvey and Miss Denise Harvey, sisters of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Victor Steele, the bridesmatron. Each carried three long-stemmed deep peach colored roses.

Serving Mr. Harvey as best man was William Crowley of Pocatello, Idaho, and the groomsmen and ushers included Douglas Savery, Ken Debos of Omaha, Bud Gray, Jim Taylor, and Ernie Moniz.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of satin organza and Swiss lace. A panel of the lace patterned the fitted bodice and fashioned the mandarin collar, and was repeated at the cuffs of the Bishop sleeves. Beneath the fitted bodice, which was circled with the lace, the A-line silhouette skirt was given back interest by a lace bordered chapel-length train. The train-length Madonna mantilla also was bordered with lace, and she carried an arrangement of roses in the peach shade and lilies of the valley on a white Bible.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas, Mr. Harvey and his bride will reside in Nebraska City, where the bridegroom is associated with the Weinman Auto Co.

Mrs. Jaycee Award

Mrs. Ron Hoffman has been named the recipient of the 1971 Lincoln Mrs. Jaycees Dedicated Service Award.

The presentation was made Wednesday evening, April 14, at the general membership meeting which was held at the Elk's Club.

The award is presented annually to a Lincoln Mrs. Jaycee who has participated in the organization's activities for five years or longer.

Mrs. Hoffman has been a Mrs. Jaycee since 1965 and has since been a membership director on the board of directors; Mrs. Jaycee president, serving from 1968 through 1969; and has served as advisor for the past two years.

She was named the Outstanding Mrs. Jaycee in 1967, and has served as chairman of many committees.

The award recipient has two children and is active in school and church activities, as well as working part time.

MISS MARY KAY RICHARD

Campus circles will have more than casual interest in the announcement made this morning by Dr. and Mrs. Warren E. Richard of Hastings, of the engagement of their daughter, Mary Kay, to Daniel E. Schatz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville H. Schatz of Falls City.

Miss Richard is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. Schatz also is a junior at the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

MISS SUSAN BRANSHAW

This morning announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Branshaw of Green Bay, Wis., of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Barbara, to Paul Michael Stoehr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Stoehr of Lincoln.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 14.

Miss Branshaw is attending the University of Wisconsin at Green Bay.

Mr. Stoehr is a graduate of the University of Nebraska with a degree in electrical engineering. He now is associated with the Charmin Paper Co., in Green Bay.

Campus grape vine says the University of Nebraska is featuring a crash pad — drug cure program — without medical assistance, but with knowledge of officials. True?
—H.D., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: No, says the man who would know — head of the NU Student Health Center, Dr. Sam Fuenning. If drug cases come to the health center, they are handled like routine health cases, Dr. Fuenning says.

There is on campus a Crisis Health Aide program. Dr. Fuenning says students can call the crisis aide any time of the day or night if they have a problem and this includes a drug abuse problem.

I would appreciate the address of Sen. Birch Bayh.
—Brian B., Plymouth

ACTION LINE: Sen. Bayh, a Democrat from Indiana, can best be reached by writing him at: U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

What will happen if actor George C. Scott wins the best actor award and then refuses the statue? —W.W., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Since no one has ever refused an Oscar award, it is not known what would happen. There have been many cases where the winner was not present at the Academy Awards ceremony, but had someone accept the statue.

Scott indicates he will not be at the ceremony and no one there will represent him. It will be interesting, to say the least, if he wins.

One observer notes that Scott is getting as much publicity out of saying he will refuse as he would normally get for winning and accepting. And for an actor, publicity is boxoffice money.

I was told by a friend that any mark other than an "X" on a ballot would void the ballot. True?
—Naed Tsorf, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Not true, say Lancaster County Election Commission officials.

If the intent of the voter can be determined, then the ballot is counted.

When the May general election rolls around and I have decided to vote only, for example, for two persons for city council, will this void my ballot since there are four to be elected?
—Alfred P., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Again from the Lancaster County Election Commission office: No.

Even if you did not mark a single preference on the ballot, while there would be nothing to count, that ballot would be placed among the ballots to be counted.

It is your personal choice if you desire to vote for only one person on the entire ballot, for example, and leave all other spaces blank. That action will not void your ballot.

Large dogs in the neighborhood damage trees and shrubs and deface patios. We can't catch them and they are mean animals. What to do? —R.A.O., Lincolnshire

ACTION LINE: Contact the agency responsible for enforcing Lincoln ordinances pertaining to loose dogs: Humane Society at 477-3949.

Where can I obtain a copy of a death certificate?
—T.H., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Write or stop in at the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the Statehouse. The fee is $2 per copy.

Make sure you have this information: full name and date and place of death.

Travel Club Covers Only Offbeat Areas

By KATHLEEN NEUMEYER

Los Angeles (UPI) — Fourteen years ago a group here formed a travel club, but it took them eight years to decide where to go.

It wasn't a surprising problem.

To join Travelers Century Club, members must already have visited 100 countries. Everywhere someone suggested they go, someone else had already been.

"We'd say, how about a trip to India and Burma, and right away hands would go up all over the room with people saying they'd been there," club founder Ross Davidson recalled.

Finally Davidson, a travel agent with wanderlust, came up with a plan to fly the group to Greenland and Iceland, with a charter flight to the North Pole. Twenty-four made that two-week jaunt in July, 1966.

Since then Davidson has escorted members on excursions to the remote Tassili and Hoggar regions of the Sahara, using camels part of the way; the islands of the Indian Ocean and the game parks of Kenya; and on an around-the-world flight by chartered jet, with flights over both the North and South poles.

In May a group will cruise to the Galapagos Islands, Easter Island and Robinson Crusoe Island.

The club's official list recognizes 262 countries and island groups which they count because they are removed from the parent countries geographically, politically or ethnologically.

News of the club spread by word of mouth to the 174 members from all over the world who pay initiation fees of $25 in return for the privilege of attending club dinners, usually in Southern California, and going along on the trips.

However, outsiders are allowed to go on the trips, too, if there is room, and many of the travelers are accompanied by spouses who haven't yet been to 100 countries.

"Actually, we don't make any kind of check at all," said Davidson, who is permanent secretary-treasurer of the club. "Most people wouldn't lie about a thing like that."

Members don't get any special rates on club outings.

"Most of these people are wealthy, anyway, to have been able to afford so much traveling," Davidson explained. "Everything is first class — maximum comfort.

"For our around-the-world trip last year, we rented a Convair 990. We stripped the plane, completely recarpeted and painted, and yanked out all but the seats we would need. Then we installed five lounges for use in playing cards or working jigsaw puzzles."

Davidson said there were few problems in shepherding groups of such experienced travelers.

"They really roll with the punches," he said.

"We'd say, how about a trip to India and Burma, and right away hands would go up all over the room with people saying they'd been there," club founder Ross Davidson recalled.

Finally Davidson, a travel agent with wanderlust, came up with a plan to fly the group to Greenland and Iceland, with a charter flight to the North Pole. Twenty-four made that two-week jaunt in July, 1966.

Since then Davidson has escorted members on excursions to the remote Tassili and Hoggar regions of the Sahara, using camels part of the way; the islands of the Indian Ocean and the game parks of Kenya; and on an around-the-world flight by chartered jet, with flights over both the North and South poles.

In May a group will cruise to the Galapagos Islands, Easter Island and Robinson Crusoe Island.

The club's official list recognizes 262 countries and island groups which they count because they are removed from the parent countries geographically, politically or ethnologically.

News of the club spread by word of mouth to the 174 members from all over the world who pay initiation fees of $25 in return for the privilege of attending club dinners, usually in Southern California, and going along on the trips.

However, outsiders are allowed to go on the trips, too, if there is room, and many of the travelers are accompanied by spouses who haven't yet been to 100 countries.

"Actually, we don't make any kind of check at all," said Davidson, who is permanent secretary-treasurer of the club. "Most people wouldn't lie about a thing like that."

Members don't get any special rates on club outings.

"Most of these people are wealthy, anyway, to have been able to afford so much traveling," Davidson explained. "Everything is first class — maximum comfort.

"For our around-the-world trip last year, we rented a Convair 990. We stripped the plane, completely recarpeted and painted, and yanked out all but the seats we would need. Then we installed five lounges for use in playing cards or working jigsaw puzzles."

Davidson said there were few problems in shepherding groups of such experienced travelers.

"They really roll with the punches," he said.

Kmart FISK TIRE GUARANTEE

TREAD WEAR-OUT GUARANTEE
All Fisk tires are guaranteed against tread wear-out for the number of months specified on the sales invoice. If the tread is less than 2/32" deep before the end of specified period of use, Kmart will make an allowance* on the purchase of new tire proportionate to the number of months remaining in the time guarantee. (Number of months will be computed from date of purchase.)

TREAD LIFE GUARANTEE
If a Fisk tire fails due to defects in workmanship or material or as a result of road hazard (except in cases of abuse of repairable puncture, as determined by Kmart) at any time while 2/32" or more of the original tread remains, Kmart will, at its option, either repair the tire or make an allowance* on the purchase of a new tire proportionate to the amount of original tread remaining.

This guarantee does not apply to truck or commercial use and is honored nationwide at all Kmart Tire Centers.

*Basis for allowance to be the actual selling price in effect at the time of the adjustment, plus federal excise tax.

New Drug Would Fight Diseases Including Cold

Chicago (AP) — The development of a drug which is reported to be effective against a wide spectrum of viral diseases, including the common cold, was described in reports to a conference of biologists this week.

The reports came in papers given by Dr. Paul Gordon and Dr. Eric R. Brown, both of the Chicago Medical School, and in a discussion of clinical studies in Argentina by Dr. Alvin J. Glasky.

Glasky is president of Newport pharmaceuticals, Inc., of Newport Beach, Calif., which makes the drug NPT-10381 that Gordon developed.

He said the Argentine ministry of health on April 8 approved the drug for commercial use on the basis of studies directed by Dr. Jose Ink, who Glasky said specializes in the field of infectious disease.

Glasky said Ink's report, published Jan. 8 in La Prensa Medica Argentina, showed NPT-10381 to be a highly effective treatment against viral pneumonia, encephalitis, measles, chicken pox, shingles, influenza and the common cold, among others.

"It would be unfortunate to concentrate on the common cold," he said, because this phase involved "only 20 or 30 patients — not enough to establish efficacy."

The big value of the drug, he said, is against more serious viral infections for which science had been unable to discover effective treatment.

In the treatment of viral infections, he said, NPT-10381 "could be a breakthrough comparable to the discovery of penicillin" and other related antibiotics in the treatment of bacterial diseases.

Argentine studies were conducted by 17 doctors in four hospitals, Glasky said, and the drug was administered in tablet form to more than 500 persons.

Within 24 Hours

The Argentine report said those treated for colds were rid of the usual symptoms — fever, headache, weakness, lack of appetite and rapid heartbeat within 24 hours. The tests indicated the drug has no toxic effects.

Glasky and Gordon said clinical studies were begun in Argentina and the United States in July 1970 and are being conducted in some 20 medical centers in these and other countries, including Germany and Mexico.

They said Argentina was able to approve the drug first for two reasons. Glasky said Ink's program was "more responsive and more efficient."

Gordon said requirements for approval for public use in the United States include "many more patients" and more time to evaluate results. Glasky said he hoped the U.S. findings would be released in a couple months.

The papers given by Gordon and Brown at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology dealt largely with animal experiments with NPT-10381.

Bills 'Padded' By Waldorf

©The New York Times

New York — State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz sued the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for more than $452,800 Wednesday, accusing the luxurious Park Avenue establishment of adding "hidden" charges on the bills of its customers.

The suit, filed in State Supreme Court in Manhattan, complained that the hotel had padded guests' bills with unitemized "sundries" to the extent of $113,202.83 between December 1969 and May 1970.

The attorney general demanded the return of the overcharges to the victimized guests, estimated to be at least 64,336, and in addition claimed treble damages amounting to $339,608.49.

'End-Of-War' Hearings Begin Tuesday

©The New York Times

Washington — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee announced Wednesday that it would begin next Tuesday its long scheduled hearings on "how to end the war" in Vietnam.

The public hearings, which will provide a new forum for the Vietnam critics in Congress, were being viewed by the administration with an apparent lack of interest in participating.

The committee had planned to turn over the opening round of the hearings to administration witnesses, but thus far, according to committee aides, no administration official has agreed to testify.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, according to the aides, has yet to reply to an invitation to testify sent ten days ago. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird declined an invitation on the grounds that he had to go into the hospital for an operation.

So instead, the committee will start the hearings with testimony from the Senate sponsors of various legislative proposals to end or limit American military involvement in Vietnam.

Among the senators who will be asked to testify are George S. McGovern, D.-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., co-sponsors of the "Vietnam disengagement act," which would require withdrawal of all forces by the end of 1971; Vance Hartke, D-Ind., sponsor of a resolution calling for immediate troop withdrawal; Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, co-sponsors of a resolution prohibiting any American support for a South Vietnamese invasion of North Vietnam, and Jack Miller, R-Iowa, sponsor of a resolution calling for withdrawal of troops within one year after the release of prisoners of war.

In later phases of the hearings, the committee expects to hear from former administration officials as well as academic authorities on Vietnam.

The Foreign Relations Committee, headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., decided on the "end the war" hearings as its first order of business in January. But it twice postponed the hearings, first because of the incursion into Laos and then to await President Nixon's Vietnam speech last week.

President Nixon Okays Saigon POW Proposal

Washington (AP) — President Nixon endorsed Wednesday a week-old Saigon proposal that sick, wounded and long-term prisoners on both sides in Vietnam be interned in a neutral country.

Although White House officials said the United States had been aware of the South Vietnamese recommendation before it was made at the Paris talks last Thursday, Nixon waited six days to make a formal statement on the subject.

Asked to explain the delay, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the timing of the statement was prompted by the fact that another Paris negotiating session is scheduled for Thursday.

Ziegler acknowledged that the Saigon proposal was not new — even last Thursday — which seemed to indicate a new and wider effort by the United States to get most American prisoners of war out of North Vietnam as soon as possible.

The press secretary said 378 Americans are known to be prisoners of the North Vietnamese and some others are held elsewhere in Indochina.

Nixon's effort to promote broad movement on the prisoners of war issue was underscored by the fact that, in his statement, he made no reference to the fact that the Saigon plan would affect only the sick and wounded and those held prisoner for an undefined "long" period of time.

'Hair' Road Company Is Hit By Tragedy In Hotel Fire

Cleveland (UPI) — Thick, acrid smoke from flaming furnishings was blamed Wednesday for the suffocation deaths of seven persons in a fire at the Pick Carter Hotel. The victims included the wives and children of two members of the road company of the rock musical "Hair."

Smoke from the fire billowed up stairwells and elevator shafts and penetrated into nearly all of the 11-story hotel's 600 rooms.

James Neelson, assistant city fire chief, said the choking smoke came from burning overstuffed furniture, drapes, carpeting, and wood trim.

The victims were identified as Robin Johnson, 18, and her daughter Melissa, 1, of Renton, Wash.; Carroll Carlson, 23, and her daughter, Corina, 1, of St. Louis; Gaston Lebalnc, 54, Pittsburgh; Robert Loftus, 66, Youngstown, Ohio, and Arthur Thomas, believed to be a soldier.

Russell R. Carlson is stage manager of the "Hair" road company and Jonathan Johnson is a member of the cast.

Moonlit Nude Causes Traffic Jams

Twyford, England (AP) — The phantom stripper is causing traffic jams at 3 a.m. in the tiny lanes around this country village.

The stripper is a curvaceous mystery teen-ager who disrobes by moonlight and poses for passing motorists at the edge of the roads around Twyford, a farming village.

Three times in the last month the moonlit nude has loomed into the headlights of startled motorists. The last time she was spotted she was adorned only with boots and a red umbrella.

Now eager nude spotters are prowling the lanes of Twyford hoping for another glimpse.

"Even if we catch her we don't know what to charge her with," said a police officer. "We can't call it indecent exposure because under the law a person —has to expose himself or herself — with intent to insult a female. So far the phantom stripper has only shown herself to male motorists — and they haven't complained.

New Drug Would Fight Diseases Including Cold

Chicago (AP) — The development of a drug which is reported to be effective against a wide spectrum of viral diseases, including the common cold, was described in reports to a conference of biologists this week.

The reports came in papers given by Dr. Paul Gordon and Dr. Eric R. Brown, both of the Chicago Medical School, and in a discussion of clinical studies in Argentina by Dr. Alvin J. Glasky.

Glasky is president of Newport pharmaceuticals, Inc., of Newport Beach, Calif., which makes the drug NPT-10381 that Gordon developed.

He said the Argentine ministry of health on April 8 approved the drug for commercial use on the basis of studies directed by Dr. Jose Ink, who Glasky said specializes in the field of infectious disease.

Glasky said Ink's report, published Jan. 8 in La Prensa Medica Argentina, showed NPT-10381 to be a highly effective treatment against viral pneumonia, encephalitis, measles, chicken pox, shingles, influenza and the common cold, among others.

"It would be unfortunate to concentrate on the common cold," he said, because this phase involved "only 20 or 30 patients — not enough to establish efficacy."

The big value of the drug, he said, is against more serious viral infections for which science had been unable to discover effective treatment.

In the treatment of viral infections, he said, NPT-10381 "could be a breakthrough comparable to the discovery of penicillin" and other related antibiotics in the treatment of bacterial diseases.

Argentine studies were conducted by 17 doctors in four hospitals, Glasky said, and the drug was administered in tablet form to more than 500 persons.

Within 24 Hours

The Argentine report said those treated for colds were rid of the usual symptoms — fever, headache, weakness, lack of appetite and rapid heartbeat within 24 hours. The tests indicated the drug has no toxic effects.

Glasky and Gordon said clinical studies were begun in Argentina and the United States in July 1970 and are being conducted in some 20 medical centers in these and other countries, including Germany and Mexico.

They said Argentina was able to approve the drug first for two reasons. Glasky said Ink's program was "more responsive and more efficient."

Gordon said requirements for approval for public use in the United States include "many more patients" and more time to evaluate results. Glasky said he hoped the U.S. findings would be released in a couple months.

The papers given by Gordon and Brown at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology dealt largely with animal experiments with NPT-10381.

Bills 'Padded' By Waldorf

©The New York Times

New York — State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz sued the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for more than $452,800 Wednesday, accusing the luxurious Park Avenue establishment of adding "hidden" charges on the bills of its customers.

The suit, filed in State Supreme Court in Manhattan, complained that the hotel had padded guests' bills with unitemized "sundries" to the extent of $113,202.83 between December 1969 and May 1970.

The attorney general demanded the return of the overcharges to the victimized guests, estimated to be at least 64,336, and in addition claimed treble damages amounting to $339,608.49.

'End-Of-War' Hearings Begin Tuesday

©The New York Times

Washington — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee announced Wednesday that it would begin next Tuesday its long scheduled hearings on "how to end the war" in Vietnam.

The public hearings, which will provide a new forum for the Vietnam critics in Congress, were being viewed by the administration with an apparent lack of interest in participating.

The committee had planned to turn over the opening round of the hearings to administration witnesses, but thus far, according to committee aides, no administration official has agreed to testify.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, according to the aides, has yet to reply to an invitation to testify sent ten days ago. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird declined an invitation on the grounds that he had to go into the hospital for an operation.

So instead, the committee will start the hearings with testimony from the Senate sponsors of various legislative proposals to end or limit American military involvement in Vietnam.

Among the senators who will be asked to testify are George S. McGovern, D.-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., co-sponsors of the "Vietnam disengagement act," which would require withdrawal of all forces by the end of 1971; Vance Hartke, D-Ind., sponsor of a resolution calling for immediate troop withdrawal; Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, co-sponsors of a resolution prohibiting any American support for a South Vietnamese invasion of North Vietnam, and Jack Miller, R-Iowa, sponsor of a resolution calling for withdrawal of troops within one year after the release of prisoners of war.

Helen Robbins Chosen LEA's President-Elect

Members of the Lincoln Education Association (LEA) have chosen Helen Robbins, a teacher at Meadow Lane Elementary School, as president-elect for the coming year.

A vote count Wednesday showed that she ousted contenders Robert Rogge of Mickle Junior High and Richard Fink of Irving Junior High for the post.

The current president-elect, Robert Wagner of Northeast High, will assume the presidency of the teachers association on June 1, when other new officers also assume their new duties.

Outgoing president is A. J. Mueller of Northeast.

Other new officers will be Marie Kramer of Goodrich Junior High, secretary, and Alan Egger of Arnold School, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors for three year terms were Rosalie Nagele of Belmont School, Robert Els of Lincoln Northeast and Lyle Rolofson of Irving.

New members of the professional rights and responsibilities commission include Lucille Hanna of Belmont, Florence Clark of Mickle and Tom Bassett of Lincoln High.

Stange New CARC Head

Jim Stange has been elected president at the fifth annual meeting of the Capitol Association for Retarded Children (CARC).

Other officers include Helen Draper, chairman of the board; Pat Crawford, first vice president; Ann Cech, second vice president; Peg Beranek, secretary, and Art Basso, treasurer.

Outgoing President Clancy Woolman presented 12 certificates of appreciation on behalf of CARC and later received a plaque for his service as president for the past two years.

Jaycee representative Ron Harris gave the group a check for $4,500, the profits from the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce Honey Sunday.

Other comments and presentations came from Dick Longacre, president of the Nebraska Association for Retarded Children (NARC); Richard Meile, chairman of the board of directors for the Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR), and CARC Executive Director Bill West.

Pointing out the growth of the organization, West praised the people who have made CARC grow and become a workable organization.

Outgoing President Woolman said an interest for helping others, as CARC has shown, comes because people realize "we are our brother's keeper." He said this spirit must continue and will if interested citizens work to make CARC a continued success.

Charges Against Three Involved In Protest Dropped

Misdemeanor charges of unlawful assembly filed against three persons last May in connection with an incident outside the Selective Service office were dismissed Wednesday by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas.

Douglas said that these individuals had not been in any trouble prior to that incident, were not "deeply involved" at the time and have been in no difficulty since, so he felt the charges should be dismissed.

He said he is reviewing the charges still pending against nine others and anticipates dismissing at least four or five of them and will further evaluate the others.

Peterson Wants To Debate With Mayor Schwartzkopf

Mayor candidate Erv Peterson Wednesday challenged incumbent Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf to meet with him in a series of debates in all sections of the city to discuss three specific issues in the mayor's race.

"I offer to meet the mayor for debates beginning immediately and running right up to election time," said Peterson.

"People in all sections of the city should be allowed to hear both of us, to question us and to hear our responses to audience information," he said.

The three issues which he said need discussion are:

—"The financial plight of the city as it faces needed programs and projects, yet has a property tax which is at an all-time high. What is his answer to meeting this crisis?"

—"The failure of city departments to be so directed that they are a positive influence in industrial and economic development of the city."

—"Why has the mayor failed to take advantage of all the state and federal funding that is available for various programs and facility construction needed by the city?"

Syphilis Unknown To Many Victims

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI) — More than a half million persons in the United States are suffering from undetected syphilis and "are in urgent need of skilled medical attention," the American Social Health Association (ASHA) said Wednesday.

The group recommended expenditure of $23.85 million in federal funds for the control of venereal disease in fiscal 1972.

Two Library Completion Dates Are Unchanged

Library Director Charles Dalrymple told the Library Board Wednesday that July construction completion dates for two new branch libraries have not changed.

Dalrymple said progress on the libraries is moving right along and that the libraries will possibly be opened with partial service to the public in July.

The board also generally agreed that the city should not have to pay out of taxpayer money costs for operating a state film service.

The city library through a contract with the State Library Commission provides films to out-of-city residents.

The operational cost previously has been paid out of a grant.

Dalrymple told board members there is a possibility state funds may not be sufficient to cover the cost of the service.

Other Sources

The board made no final decision on continuing the library service, but did instruct Dalrymple to meet with the state commission regarding the pursuing of other sources to cover the costs.

The Library Director also said the library foundation is $6,000 short of the $10,000 needed to match a $15,000 Woods Foundation grant for films, artworks and recordings.

Darlymple said the Woods Foundation would not approve the use of tax funds as the library had hoped.

Two Persons Charged With Conspiracy Waive Hearings

A man tagged as a "ringleader" in the alleged conspiracy to bomb Lincoln buildings and the police helicopter and one of the women charged with conspiracy and malicious destruction of property waived preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court Wednesday.

Judge Ralph Slocum bound Jason Rice, 19, and Katherine Allen, 20, over to District Court for further disposition.

Preliminary hearings for the pair had been set April 21.

A second man, tagged by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas as a "ringleader" in the alleged incident has pleaded guilty to both charges in Lancaster District Court.

Miss Allen, Rice and Dale R. Birkhahn, who is awaiting sentence pending a pre-sentence investigation, were all charged with conspiracy and malicious destruction of property in connection with damage to the Brunswick Corp. property.

Preliminary hearings for other defendants charged in connection with the alleged conspiracy are set April 21.

SCHOOL PACT TALKS FRIDAY

A negotiations session involving representatives of Lincoln teachers and the Board of Education has been set for 8 a.m. Friday, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The session will be held in the board room at the Public Schools Administration Building, 722 So. 22nd.

11% Hike Accepted

London (UPI) — Locomotive engineers agreed to accept an 11% increase in their average $76 weekly wage and to end a 10-day "work-to-rule" action which had disrupted commuter service in and out of London.

VFW Post Picks George Slama As Commander

George Slama has been elected commander of VFW Post 131 for the coming year with installation taking place in May.

Other officers are Einar Fuglemsmo, senior vice commander; Del Adams, junior vice commander; Dee Stults, quartermaster; Jim Kirk, judge advocate; Carlton Cook, chaplain; Dr. Jim Burlington, surgeon; Larry Hans, one-year year trustee; Dean Baumeister, two-year trustee and Lou Brown, three-year trustee.

Mrs. Wilma Slama was elected president of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary. Other officers are Mrs. Jewell St. Clair, senior vice president; Mrs. Joan Fraser, junior vice president; Mrs. Laura Bishop, conductress; Mrs. Frances Hill, chaplain and Mrs. Grace Klingel, guard.

Thefts Increasing

London (AP) —While 1970 London area crime statistics were slightly below those of 1969, certain types of crimes increased in numbers.

Officials said the biggest rise, 15.7%, was in the handling of stolen goods, while frauds were more numerous by 15.5%.

Helen Robbins Chosen LEA's President-Elect

Members of the Lincoln Education Association (LEA) have chosen Helen Robbins, a teacher at Meadow Lane Elementary School, as president-elect for the coming year.

A vote count Wednesday showed that she ousted contenders Robert Rogge of Mickle Junior High and Richard Fink of Irving Junior High for the post.

The current president-elect, Robert Wagner of Northeast High, will assume the presidency of the teachers association on June 1, when other new officers also assume their new duties.

Outgoing president is A. J. Mueller of Northeast.

Other new officers will be Marie Kramer of Goodrich Junior High, secretary, and Alan Egger of Arnold School, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors for three year terms were Rosalie Nagele of Belmont School, Robert Els of Lincoln Northeast and Lyle Rolofson of Irving.

New members of the professional rights and responsibilities commission include Lucille Hanna of Belmont, Florence Clark of Mickle and Tom Bassett of Lincoln High.

Stange New CARC Head

Jim Stange has been elected president at the fifth annual meeting of the Capitol Association for Retarded Children (CARC).

Other officers include Helen Draper, chairman of the board; Pat Crawford, first vice president; Ann Cech, second vice president; Peg Beranek, secretary, and Art Basso, treasurer.

Outgoing President Clancy Woolman presented 12 certificates of appreciation on behalf of CARC and later received a plaque for his service as president for the past two years.

Jaycee representative Ron Harris gave the group a check for $4,500, the profits from the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce Honey Sunday.

Other comments and presentations came from Dick Longacre, president of the Nebraska Association for Retarded Children (NARC); Richard Meile, chairman of the board of directors for the Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR), and CARC Executive Director Bill West.

Pointing out the growth of the organization, West praised the people who have made CARC grow and become a workable organization.

Outgoing President Woolman said an interest for helping others, as CARC has shown, comes because people realize "we are our brother's keeper." He said this spirit must continue and will if interested citizens work to make CARC a continued success.

Charges Against Three Involved In Protest Dropped

Misdemeanor charges of unlawful assembly filed against three persons last May in connection with an incident outside the Selective Service office were dismissed Wednesday by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas.

Douglas said that these individuals had not been in any trouble prior to that incident, were not "deeply involved" at the time and have been in no difficulty since, so he felt the charges should be dismissed.

He said he is reviewing the charges still pending against nine others and anticipates dismissing at least four or five of them and will further evaluate the others.

DIPLOMATIC EMBRACE

Costa Rica's President Jose Figueres, right, and United Nations Secretary General U Thant embrace Wednesday as they greet each other prior to the opening of the first annual assembly of the Organization of American States, in session at San Jose, Costa Rica.

Peterson Wants To Debate With Mayor Schwartzkopf

Mayor candidate Erv Peterson Wednesday challenged incumbent Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf to meet with him in a series of debates in all sections of the city to discuss three specific issues in the mayor's race.

"I offer to meet the mayor for debates beginning immediately and running right up to election time," said Peterson.

"People in all sections of the city should be allowed to hear both of us, to question us and to hear our responses to audience information," he said.

The three issues which he said need discussion are:

—"The financial plight of the city as it faces needed programs and projects, yet has a property tax which is at an all-time high. What is his answer to meeting this crisis?"

—"The failure of city departments to be so directed that they are a positive influence in industrial and economic development of the city."

—"Why has the mayor failed to take advantage of all the state and federal funding that is available for various programs and facility construction needed by the city?"

Syphilis Unknown To Many Victims

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI) — More than a half million persons in the United States are suffering from undetected syphilis and "are in urgent need of skilled medical attention," the American Social Health Association (ASHA) said Wednesday.

The group recommended expenditure of $23.65 million in federal funds for the control of venereal disease in fiscal 1972.

Two Library Completion Dates Are Unchanged

Library Director Charles Dalrymple told the Library Board Wednesday that July construction completion dates for two new branch libraries have not changed.

Dalrymple said progress on the libraries is moving right along and that the libraries will possibly be opened with partial service to the public in July.

The board also generally agreed that the city should not have to pay out of taxpayer money costs for operating a state film service.

The city library through a contract with the State Library Commission provides films to out-of-city residents.

The operational cost previously has been paid out of a grant.

Dalrymple told board members there is a possibility state funds may not be sufficient to cover the cost of the service.

Other Sources

The board made no final decision on continuing the library service, but did instruct Dalrymple to meet with the state commission regarding the pursuing of other sources to cover the costs.

The Library Director also said the library foundation is $6,000 short of the $10,000 needed to match a $15,000 Woods Foundation grant for films, artworks and recordings.

Darlymple said the Woods Foundation would not approve the use of tax funds as the library had hoped.

Two Persons Charged With Conspiracy Waive Hearings

A man tagged as a "ringleader" in the alleged conspiracy to bomb Lincoln buildings and the police helicopter and one of the women charged with conspiracy and malicious destruction of property waived preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court Wednesday.

Judge Ralph Slocum bound Jason Rice, 19, and Katherine Allen, 20, over to District Court for further disposition.

Preliminary hearings for the pair had been set April 21.

A second man, tagged by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas as a "ringleader" in the alleged incident has pleaded guilty to both charges in Lancaster District Court.

Miss Allen, Rice and Dale R. Birkhahn, who is awaiting sentence pending a pre-sentence investigation, were all charged with conspiracy and malicious destruction of property in connection with damage to the Brunswick Corp. property.

Preliminary hearings for other defendants charged in connection with the alleged conspiracy are set April 21.

SCHOOL PACT TALKS FRIDAY

A negotiations session involving representatives of Lincoln teachers and the Board of Education has been set for 8 a.m. Friday, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The session will be held in the board room at the Public Schools Administration Building, 722 So. 22nd.

London (UPI) — Locomotive engineers agreed to accept an 11% increase in their average $76 weekly wage and to end a 10-day "work-to-rule" action which had disrupted commuter service in and out of London.

VFW Post Picks George Slama As Commander

George Slama has been elected commander of VFW Post 131 for the coming year with installation taking place in May.

Other officers are Einar Fuglemsmo, senior vice commander; Del Adams, junior vice commander; Dee Stults, quartermaster; Jim Kirk, judge advocate; Carlton Cook, chaplain; Dr. Jim Burlington, surgeon; Larry Hans, one-year year trustee; Dean Baumeister, two-year trustee and Lou Brown, three-year trustee.

Mrs. Wilma Slama was elected president of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary. Other officers are Mrs. Jewell St. Clair, senior vice president; Mrs. Joan Fraser, junior vice president; Mrs. Laura Bishop, conductress; Mrs. Frances Hill, chaplain and Mrs. Grace Klingel, guard.

Thefts Increasing

London (AP) —While 1970 London area crime statistics were slightly below those of 1969, certain types of crimes increased in numbers.

Officials said the biggest rise, 15.7%, was in the handling of stolen goods, while frauds were more numerous by 15.5%.

Statewide Technical College Plan Is Advanced

The Legislature Wednesday voted to fund a proposed new statewide system of technical community colleges with state revenue, then pushed the plan over its first floor hurdle on a 32-8 vote.

Estimated price tag: $5 million a year.

Anticipated source of revenue: increased excise taxes on beer and liquor.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff gained astonishing 34-0 approval of the state funding proposal then won legislative consent to bring a beer-liquor tax hike bill from the Revenue Committee to the floor for action.

That motion prevailed on a 27-12 count.

Carpenter said he would attempt to amend the bill, LB66, which had long been stuck in committee, to provide new tax rates sufficient to entirely fund the community college proposal.

LB66 currently provides for these tax increases: beer, from eight to 12 cents a gallon; light wine, from 20 to 30 cents a gallon; fortified wine, from 55 to 70 cents a gallon; liquor, from $1.60 to $2 a gallon.

Although revenue estimates were not immediately available, it was considered likely that the proposed new rates would need to be increased further to raise sufficient revenue to fund LB759, Sen. Wayne Ziebarth's community college plan.

Ziebarth's bill would divide the state into eight community college areas, one of which would encompass the Lincoln School District.

The state funding proposal, Carpenter said, was ironed out at a meeting of senators in Lincoln Tuesday night.

The bill is likely to be further amended in the future to knock out provisions for a two-mill property tax levy for construction purposes in each area, he noted.

Ziebarth said implementation of the plan would probably need to wait until 1973.

The proposed statewide system would take over area vocational technical schools, junior colleges and two state vocational technical institutions at Milford and Sidney.

The schools would be governed by local boards, but their budgets would require legislative approval through the appropriations process.

State funding is required "if we are to keep faith with what the people have told us at the polls," Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell said.

The people would be "hostile" to funding the plan through local property taxes, Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice agreed.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway objected to the proposal earmarking beer-liquor revenue to finance the plan. It should be financed from the general fund, he said.

"My conscience used to bother me so much the first session I was down here that I couldn't sleep," Waldron said.

"I found that I had to get over that, but now I'm suffering a relapse."

Here is the vote on the motion to advance the community college plan:

Against: Carsten, Clark, Holmquist, Kime, Orme, Schmit, Stull, Wallwey.

Not Voting: Barnett, Chambers, Johnson, Klaver, Kremer, Mahoney, Waldron, Warner, Wiltse

No Cigarette Price Hike Here Yet

Plugging that extra nickel or dime into a vending machine for a pack of cigarettes started in several places in Omaha Tuesday but it is unlikely that the increase will be found in Lincoln business places until LB87 is passed.

Several business owners in Lincoln said they will have no other choice but to raise the cost of cigarettes in vending machines if the bill, which would increase the state tax on a pack from eight to 13 cents, is passed by the Legislature.

"Most cigarettes in Lincoln are selling for 40 or 45 cents a pack," a spokesman for the Amco Vending Co. said. Since it appears that the legislation will pass, he said, "it is easy to raise the prices now because of the talk about it." He said, however, that he felt Lincoln was "pretty conservative" to change prices yet.

A representative from the General Tobacco Co. said, "I can say we will not change our prices until the governor signs it or until it becomes law." He said he thought the move by the Omaha people was "bad publicity."

Several owners of restaurants and cocktail lounges said that most places cannot afford to pay the five-cent difference.

"Since things like alcohol, beer and tobacco are considered a luxury item," a restaurant operator said, "a certain segment of the society must pay for it through increased taxes."

Although a price increase is not anticipated immediately, the increase, when and if it comes, will probably raise the price per pack to 50 cents a pack, one vending machine operator said.

Whether or not retailers decide to change their prices is up to them at the present, but most vending machines will have a new price sticker on them before too long, a serviceman said, "if the Legislature gets its way."

Two Youths Held; Drugs Discovered In Stolen Auto

Bassett (UPI) — Two young persons were in jail here Wednesday after being arrested and charged Tuesday with auto theft and possession of narcotics.

Authorities identified the pair as Richard Gartner, 18, address unknown and David Krechelich, 20, of Wisconsin.

They were stopped after State Patrolman Russell Luth noticed them at Ainsworth and ran a check on the license plate on their car. It was found the car had been reported stolen April 11 at Hawthorne, Calif.

Assisting in the arrest were Rock County Sheriff's officers, Bassett police, personnel from the Nebraska Game Commission and Luth.

Gartner and Krechelich were being held in the Rock County Jail.

Judge Overrules Verdict Of Jury

Valentine (AP) — Cherry County District Court Judge Robert Moran ruled that Frank L. Colburn acted negligently as cashier and director of the defunct Nebraska State Bank at Valentine.

The judge sustained a judgement notwithstanding the verdict in favor of the State Banking Dept. In other words, the judge ruled that the evidence could not support an earlier finding of a district court jury that Colburn had not acted negligently.

The president of the Valentine bank, Richard L. Davenport, was convicted in 1965 of embezzling more than $3 million dollars over a 15-year period. The bank was closed after discovery of the fraud.

Helen Robbins Chosen LEA's President-Elect

Members of the Lincoln Education Association (LEA) have chosen Helen Robbins, a teacher at Meadow Lane Elementary School, as president-elect for the coming year.

A vote count Wednesday showed that she ousted contenders Robert Rogge of Mickle Junior High and Richard Fink of Irving Junior High for the post.

The current president-elect, Robert Wagner of Northeast High, will assume the presidency of the teachers association on June 1, when other new officers also assume their new duties.

Outgoing president is A. J. Mueller of Northeast.

Other new officers will be Marie Kramer of Goodrich Junior High, secretary, and Alan Egger of Arnold School, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors for three year terms were Rosalie Nagele of Belmont School. Robert Els of Lincoln Northeast and Lyle Rolofson of Irving.

New members of the professional rights and responsibilities commission include Lucille Hanna of Belmont, Florence Clark of Mickle and Tom Bassett of Lincoln High.

Stange New CARC Head

Jim Stange has been elected president at the fifth annual meeting of the Capitol Association for Retarded Children (CARC).

Other officers include Helen Draper, chairman of the board; Pat Crawford, first vice president; Ann Cech, second vice president; Peg Beranek, secretary, and Art Basso, treasurer.

Outgoing President Clancy Woolman presented 12 certificates of appreciation on behalf of CARC and later received a plaque for his service as president for the past two years.

Jaycee representative Ron Harris gave the group a check for $4,500, the profits from the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce Honey Sunday.

Other comments and presentations came from Dick Longacre, president of the Nebraska Association for Retarded Children (NARC); Richard Meile, chairman of the board of directors for the Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR), and CARC Executive Director Bill West.

Pointing out the growth of the organization, West praised the people who have made CARC grow and become a workable organization.

Outgoing President Woolman said an interest for helping others, as CARC has shown, comes because people realize "we are our brother's keeper." He said this spirit must continue and will if interested citizens work to make CARC a continued success.

Charges Against Three Involved In Protest Dropped

Misdemeanor charges of unlawful assembly filed against three persons last May in connection with an incident outside the Selective Service office were dismissed Wednesday by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas.

Douglas said that these individuals had not been in any trouble prior to that incident, were not "deeply involved" at the time and have been in no difficulty since, so he felt the charges should be dismissed.

He said he is reviewing the charges still pending against nine others and anticipates dismissing at least four or five of them and will further evaluate the others

Peterson Wants To Debate With Mayor Schwartzkopf

Mayor candidate Erv Peterson Wednesday challenged incumbent Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf to meet with him in a series of debates in all sections of the city to discuss three specific issues in the mayor's race.

"I offer to meet the mayor for debates beginning immediately and running right up to election time," said Peterson.

"People in all sections of the city should be allowed to hear both of us, to question us and to hear our responses to audience information," he said.

The three issues which he said need discussion are:

—"The financial plight of the city as it faces needed programs and projects, yet has a property tax which is at an all-time high. What is his answer to meeting this crisis?"

—"The failure of city departments to be so directed that they are a positive influence in industrial and economic development of the city."

—"Why has the mayor failed to take advantage of all the state and federal funding that is available for various programs and facility construction needed by the city?"

Syphilis Unknown To Many Victims

St. Louis, Mo (UPI) — More than a half million persons in the United States are suffering from undetected syphilis and "are in urgent need of skilled medical attention," the American Social Health Association (ASHA) said Wednesday.

The group recommended expenditure of $23.85 million in federal funds for the control of venereal disease in fiscal 1972

Two Library Completion Dates Are Unchanged

Library Director Charles Dalrymple told the Library Board Wednesday that July construction completion dates for two new branch libraries have not changed.

Dalrymple said progress on the libraries is moving right along and that the libraries will possibly be opened with partial service to the public in July.

The board also generally agreed that the city should not have to pay out of taxpayer money costs for operating a state film service.

The city library through a contract with the State Library Commission provides films to out-of-city residents.

The operational cost previously has been paid out of a grant.

Dalrymple told board members there is a possibility state funds may not be sufficient to cover the cost of the service.

Other Sources

The board made no final decision on continuing the library service, but did instruct Dalrymple to meet with the state commission regarding the pursuing of other sources to cover the costs.

The Library Director also said the library foundation is $6,000 short of the $10,000 needed to match a $15,000 Woods Foundation grant for films, artworks and recordings.

Darlymple said the Woods Foundation would not approve the use of tax funds as the library had hoped.

Two Persons Charged With Conspiracy Waive Hearings

A man tagged as a "ringleader" in the alleged conspiracy to bomb Lincoln buildings and the police helicopter and one of the women charged with conspiracy and malicious destruction of property waived preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court Wednesday.

Judge Ralph Slocum bound Jason Rice, 19, and Katherine Allen, 20, over to District Court for further disposition.

Preliminary hearings for the pair had been set April 21.

A second man, tagged by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas as a "ringleader" in the alleged incident has pleaded guilty to both charges in Lancaster District Court.

Miss Allen, Rice and Dale R. Birkhahn, who is awaiting sentence pending a pre-sentence investigation, were all charged with conspiracy and malicious destruction of property in connection with damage to the Brunswick Corp. property.

Preliminary hearings for other defendants charged in connection with the alleged conspiracy are set April 21.

SCHOOL PACT TALKS FRIDAY

A negotiations session involving representatives of Lincoln teachers and the Board of Education has been set for 8 a.m. Friday, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The session will be held in the board room at the Public Schools Administration Building, 722 So. 22nd.

Statewide Technical College Plan Is Advanced

The Legislature Wednesday voted to fund a proposed new statewide system of technical community colleges with state revenue, then pushed the plan over its first floor hurdle on a 32-8 vote.

Estimated price tag: $5 million a year.

Anticipated source of revenue: increased excise taxes on beer and liquor.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff gained astonishing 34-0 approval of the state funding proposal then won legislative consent to bring a beer-liquor tax hike bill from the Revenue Committee to the floor for action.

That motion prevailed on a 27-12 count.

Carpenter said he would attempt to amend the bill, LB66, which had long been stuck in committee, to provide new tax rates sufficient to entirely fund the community college proposal.

LB66 currently provides for these tax increases: beer, from eight to 12 cents a gallon; light wine, from 20 to 30 cents a gallon; fortified wine, from 55 to 70 cents a gallon; liquor, from $1.60 to $2 a gallon.

Although revenue estimates were not immediately available, it was considered likely that the proposed new rates would need to be increased further to raise sufficient revenue to fund LB759, Sen. Wayne Ziebarth's community college plan.

Ziebarth's bill would divide the state into eight community college areas, one of which would encompass the Lincoln School District.

The state funding proposal, Carpenter said, was ironed out at a meeting of senators in Lincoln Tuesday night.

The bill is likely to be further amended in the future to knock out provisions for a two-mill property tax levy for construction purposes in each area, he noted.

Ziebarth said implementation of the plan would probably need to wait until 1973.

The proposed statewide system would take over area vocational technical schools, junior colleges and two state vocational technical institutions at Milford and Sidney.

The schools would be governed by local boards, but their budgets would require legislative approval through the appropriations process.

State funding is required "if we are to keep faith with what the people have told us at the polls," Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell said.

The people would be "hostile" to funding the plan through local property taxes, Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice agreed.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway objected to the proposal earmarking beer-liquor revenue to finance the plan. It should be financed from the general fund, he said.

"My conscience used to bother me so much the first session I was down here that I couldn't sleep," Waldron said.

"I found that I had to get over that, but now I'm suffering a relapse."

Here is the vote on the motion to advance the community college plan:

For: Burbach, Carpenter, Carstens, Craft, DeCamp, Duis, Elrod, Epke, Goodrich, Hasebroock, Kennedy, Keyes, Kokes, Lewis, Luedike, Maresh, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Nore, Proud, Savage, Simpson, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Stromer, Swanson, Syas, Waldo, Whitney, Ziebarth.

Against: Carsten, Clark, Holmquist, Kime, Orme, Schmit, Stull, Wallwey.

No Cigarette Price Hike Here Yet

Plugging that extra nickel or dime into a vending machine for a pack of cigarettes started in several places in Omaha Tuesday but it is unlikely that the increase will be found in Lincoln business places until LB87 is passed.

Several business owners in Lincoln said they will have no other choice but to raise the cost of cigarettes in vending machines if the bill, which would increase the state tax on a pack from eight to 13 cents, is passed by the Legislature.

"Most cigarettes in Lincoln are selling for 40 or 45 cents a pack," a spokesman for the Amco Vending Co. said. Since it appears that the legislation will pass, he said, "it is easy to raise the prices now because of the talk about it." He said, however, that he felt Lincoln was "pretty conservative" to change prices yet.

A representative from the General Tobacco Co. said, "I can say we will not change our prices until the governor signs it or until it becomes law." He said he thought the move by the Omaha people was "bad publicity."

Several owners of restaurants and cocktail lounges said that most places cannot afford to pay the five-cent difference.

"Since things like alcohol, beer and tobacco are considered a luxury item," a restaurant operator said, "a certain segment of the society must pay for it through increased taxes."

Although a price increase is not anticipated immediately, the increase, when and if it comes, will probably raise the price per pack to 50 cents a pack, one vending machine operator said.

Whether or not retailers decide to change their prices is up to them at the present, but most vending machines will have a new price sticker on them before too long, a serviceman said, "if the Legislature gets its way."

Two Youths Held; Drugs Discovered In Stolen Auto

Bassett (UPI) — Two young persons were in jail here Wednesday after being arrested and charged Tuesday with auto theft and possession of narcotics.

Authorities identified the pair as Richard Gartner, 18, address unknown and David Krechelich, 20, of Wisconsin.

They were stopped after State Patrolman Russell Luth noticed them at Ainsworth, and ran a check on the license plate on their car. It was found the car had been reported stolen April 11 at Hawthorne, Calif.

Assisting in the arrest were Rock County Sheriff's officers, Bassett police, personnel from the Nebraska Game Commission and Luth.

Gartner and Krechelich were being held in the Rock County Jail.

Judge Overrules Verdict Of Jury

Valentine (AP) — Cherry County District Court Judge Robert Moran ruled that Frank L. Colburn acted negligently as cashier and director of the defunct Nebraska State Bank at Valentine.

The judge sustained a judgement notwithstanding the verdict in favor of the State Banking Dept. In other words, the judge ruled that the evidence could not support an earlier finding of a district court jury that Colburn had not acted negligently.

The president of the Valentine bank, Richard L. Davenport, was convicted in 1965 of embezzling more than $3 million dollars over a 15-year period. The bank was closed after discovery of the fraud.

Statewide Technical College Plan Is Advanced

The Legislature Wednesday voted to fund a proposed new statewide system of technical community colleges with state revenue, then pushed the plan over its first floor hurdle on a 32-8 vote.

Estimated price tag: $5 million a year.

Anticipated source of revenue: increased excise taxes on beer and liquor.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff gained astonishing 34-0 approval of the state funding proposal then won legislative consent to bring a beer-liquor tax hike bill from the Revenue Committee to the floor for action.

That motion prevailed on a 27-12 count.

Carpenter said he would attempt to amend the bill, LB66, which had long been stuck in committee, to provide new tax rates sufficient to entirely fund the community college proposal.

LB66 currently provides for these tax increases: beer, from eight to 12 cents a gallon; light wine, from 20 to 30 cents a gallon; fortified wine, from 55 to 70 cents a gallon; liquor, from $1.60 to $2 a gallon.

Although revenue estimates were not immediately available, it was considered likely that the proposed new rates would need to be increased further to raise sufficient revenue to fund LB759, Sen. Wayne Ziebarth's community college plan.

Ziebarth's bill would divide the state into eight community college areas, one of which would encompass the Lincoln School District.

The state funding proposal, Carpenter said, was ironed out at a meeting of senators in Lincoln Tuesday night.

The bill is likely to be further amended in the future to knock out provisions for a two-mill property tax levy for construction purposes in each area, he noted.

Ziebarth said implementation of the plan would probably need to wait until 1973.

The proposed statewide system would take over area vocational technical schools, junior colleges and two state vocational technical institutions at Milford and Sidney.

The schools would be governed by local boards, but their budgets would require legislative approval through the appropriations process.

State funding is required "if we are to keep faith with what the people have told us at the polls," Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell said.

The people would be "hostile" to funding the plan through local property taxes, Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice agreed.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway objected to the proposal earmarking beer-liquor revenue to finance the plan. It should be financed from the general fund, he said.

"My conscience used to bother me so much the first session I was down here that I couldn't sleep," Waldron said.

"I found that I had to get over that, but now I'm suffering a relapse."

Here is the vote on the motion to advance the community college plan:

For: Burbach, Carpenter, Carstens, Craft, DeCamp, Duis, Elrod, Epke, Goodrich, Hasebroock, Kennedy, Keyes, Kokes, Lewis, Luedtke, Maresh, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Nore, Proud, Savage, Simpson, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Stromer, Swanson, Syas, Waldo, Whitney, Ziebarth.

Several NU Budget Alterations Offered By Exon

Letters released Wednesday by Gov. J. James Exon and University of Nebraska Chancellor D. B. Varner indicate both sides in the budget debate have agreed to alterations which bring them within about $1.5 million in differences between Exon's recommendations and NU's requests.

Exon told the Legislature's Budget Committee he had agreed to the following increases in appropriations, "to make up for the shortages that university officials have convinced us were necessary to realize my proposed 8.5% increase" in all funds:

—Program 722, an additional $730,196 "for agricultural research left out of our original recommendations due to an error in preparing budget figures by the university."

University Hospital

—University hospital, $613,020 "to further supplement hospital bed costs that we concur were shorted by this amount because of an over-estimate by the hospital of cash income."

—Federal grant, $180,520, "to make up for the portion of federal funds in instruction that are being reduced by the federal government effective next year."

In addition to those changes, which total $1,523,736, the governor said he was prepared to increase his original general fund recommendations by another $733,138 for a total increase of $2,256,874.

—Program 701 (administration), $299,150, "to restore reductions made in the original budget in the area of business and financial operations, student affairs and counseling, admissions, environmental health, publications and reproductions, plus miscellaneous items."

—Program 702 (instruction), $939,429, "to increase secretarial salaries and restore supporting positions, such as lab assistants and some assistant directors and managers. This allows for the new students as projected by the university."

—Program 706 (plant operation and maintenance), $840,450, "for extraordinary increases in the cost of fuel, utilities, and police protection, and for partial restoration of reductions originally made in the areas of planning and design, repairs, custodial grounds and power plant operating cost."

Restore Reductions

—Program 720 (extension), $36,900, "to restore reductions originally made in the community development extension division."

—Program 724 (agricultural extension), $62,640, "to restore general fund reduction originally made in the agricultural extension program."

Exon said the university agrees to the last two of the items, all of which total $2,178,569. That figure, he said would be offset by $1,445,431 in four income items "not originally included in the budget recommendations:"

—Tuition from new students $267,000.

Dorm Receipts

—Receipts from dormitory operations due to charges made to those operations in the administration program $212.000.

—Reduction in $1 million originally recommended for regents discretionary fund, $751,431.

—Reduction in capital construction recommendations, $215,000.

Agree On Three

Exon said NU had agreed to the first three items, and that the capital construction reduction would have to be determined jointly by NU and his office.

Varner told the committee that NU and the governor have agreed on the budget for NU at Omaha and for the Medical Center, including the additional $613,000 Exon mentioned above for the hospital.

The chancellor also said they had agreed to several recommendations in outstate programs, including the abovementioned increases for ag research and extension, and the governor's original recommendations for conservation and survey ($303,673) and Curtis ($266,465.)

Disagreement

But Varner's letter indicated continued disagreement on the NU-Lincoln budget, for which the university is still seeking $3,765,176 more than original recommendations, as compared with the additional $1,643,854 Exon said he will now support.

Varner's letter also said the NU proposals, while assuming increase tuition, rates included in the governor's budget, would not anticipate growth in enrollment.

Both Varner and Exon asked the committee to allow flexibility to NU administrators.

Varner said he hoped through "internal adjustments" to move during the next year toward development of strengthened programs in engineering and environmental control and water management.

Joan Hopes Ted Doesn't Run

London (UPI) — Mrs. Joan Kennedy, wife of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., said Wednesday he is leaving "open" the question of his presidential candidacy in 1972 but that hopes he does not run.

"If my husband decides to stand, then I will be with him all the way," Mrs. Kennedy said the way," Mrs. Kennedy said on arrival at London from the United States. "But I would rather he did not. We have three young children."

(Asked in New York about his wife's remark, Kennedy said, "I've made my position clear on that. I'm keeping my mind open, but I'm not a candidate.")

Asked if she wanted to become First Lady, Mrs. Kennedy said: "Being the sister-in-law of a president, I've been close at hand and I know what it is really like. I do not want the job."

Asked if she thought Kennedy would run for president in 1972, she said: "He is leaving it open. You can't blame him, can you?"

Mrs. Kennedy was en route to Bonn, West Germany, to narrate a performance of "Peter and the Wolf" with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

53-Mile Pipeline Planned In Gulf

Chicago (AP) — Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of American announced Wednesday plans for a 53-mile pipeline into the Gulf of Mexico from the Louisiana coast to gather and transport natural gas reserves.

The company, a subsidiary of Peoples Gas Co. of Chicago, has acquired the reserves under two offshore drilling agreements. One agreement is with a group of three producers headed by Skelly Oil Co. and the other is with Chevron Oil Co.

The total estimated cost of the new pipeline is about $25 million.

Government Softens Its Better-Bumper Position

Washington (AP) — The Transportation Department softened its original position Wednesday in announcing requirements for improved bumpers on 1973 automobiles.

The department held to its proposal of last fall that front bumpers absorb a five-mile-an-hour crash without damage to vital car systems.

But, faced by massive resistance from automakers, it abandoned a similar standard for 1973 rear bumpers in favor of a 2½-m.p.h. requirement, which specialists say present cars can meet.

The bumper standard was described as final but still is subject to reconsideration if appeals are filed. Major auto firms have indicated they can meet requirements similar to those in the government standard.

Uniform Height Put Off

The department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration also postponed for one year, until 1974 models, a requirement for uniform bumper height front and back.

Auto officials have estimated the improved, energy-absorbing front bumpers will cost consumers about $50.

The standard also requires improvement of 1974 rear bumpers to pass a 4 m.p.h. crash test. Additional bumper requirements may be added later for 1974 models, the department said.

Federal safety officials said a 5 m.p.h. crash into a barrier is equivalent to a collision between a parked car and one traveling at 10 miles an hour.

Partially Spent

In such a collision some of the destructive force would be dissipated through movement of the stationary car, in contrast to the striking of a fixed surface such as a concrete wall.

Allstate Insurance Companies, which has been campaigning for improved bumpers, announced Wednesday afternoon that it will allow a 10% discount on collision insurance purchased on 1973 model cars which meet the new standards.

Earlier, Allstate had offered to cut such insurance by 20% if its collision-test and bumper-height standards were met. A spokesman explained that the initial reduction is being put at 10% since its objectives will not be fully realized under the Wednesday action.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader criticized the requirements for failing to regulate bumper shape to protect pedestrians, for setting different standards for front and rear bumpers, and for omitting crash protection of brakes, steering and tires.

"This minimal standard provides the manufacturers with the best of both worlds," Nader said in a statement.

"They have already used it as a threat to dramatically raise vehicle prices . . ., and at the same time it does not require significant upgrading of current designs."

Douglas W. Thoms, acting federal safety administrator, said he "decided to moderate the requirement for rear bumpers because to require rear-end strength comparable to the front would involve extensive structural redesign without a commensurate increase in safety."

The bumper requirement follows complaints from insurance companies and consumer advocates about the high cost of car repair after minor accidents.

Feeler Of Economic Pulse Dampens Hope Of Recovery

Washington (UPI) — Industrial production, one of the most sensitive economic barometers, continued in March at about its February level, dampening administration hopes for an early recovery from last year's lingering recession.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday that its industrial production index was 165.2% of the 1957-1959 average last month, an increase of less than 0.2% from the February figure. Last month's index was 0.4% below the January mark.

The March figure was only 0.5% higher than December, indicating that production by factories, mines and utilities has increased at a much slower rate than administration strategists had anticipated in forecasting that 1971 would be a good year for the economy.

The March index was well below the 171.1% recorded a year earlier and was down from the all-time peak of 174.6% reached in July, 1969.

The report showed that output of consumer goods rose in March but was offset by further curtailment in production of business and defense equipment

Auto production stood at an annual rate of about 9 million units last month, the same as in February. But production schedules for April show a decline, indicating the end of the catch-up period from the General Motors strike.

President Nixon has based his prediction that unemployment would fall from its current level of 6% to about 4.5% by mid-1972 on an estimate that the gross national product for this year would total $1.065 trillion.

First-quarter figures on the GNP, which measures the total value of goods and services produced in the economy, are to be announced Friday.

Soviet N-Blast Leak Is Detected

Stockholm (UPI) — Radioactivity leaking from an underground nuclear explosion in Russia's Ural Mountains was detected in Sweden last week, the National Defense Research Institute said Wednesday.

The research institute said it had determined that the leak originated from an underground nuclear bomb that was triggered in the Urals March 23.

The Seismological Institute in Uppsala, which recorded the March explosion, said it was the biggest blast carried out in the area.

The radioactivity measured in the air during the period March 31 to April 2 was twice or nearly three times as high as normal in middle and southern Sweden, the Research Institute said. On April 5 the level was unchanged but later receded and disappeared.

Soviet Space Feat Expected

Moscow (UPI) — Scientific sources said Wednesday the Soviet Union would send up at least two manned spaceships within the next few days in a spectacular series of launchings to inaugurate the second decade of Soviet cosmic exploration.

Specially equipped Soviet ships were reported in Pacific Ocean waters, presumably with the manned space vehicles.

Russian newsmen have already left for Baikonur, the main cosmodrome in Central Asia.

42% Wage Hike Suggested By Board For Enginemen

Washington (AP) — A presidential emergency board has recommended wage increases of up to 42% over 42 months for railroad enginemen who had threatened a nationwide strike.

The Labor Department said the complicated wage formula would bring 42% increases for men now paid on an hourly basis, $3.81 at present. The increases would bring their pay to $5.42.

Others among the approximately 10,000 members of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen are paid monthly, and their increase would differ, an official said.

The board's findings will now go to the union and the railroads represented by the National Railway Labor Conference. They will have 30 days in which to consider the document and, hopefully reach a settlement.

Although the union's 10,000 members represent only two per cent of all rail employes, other unions would honor their picket lines should they go ahead with strike plans after 30 days.

The board, headed by Paul N. Guthrie, a University of North Carolina economics professor, recommended a five per cent general wage increase retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970.

In addition, it suggested the following increases: 30 cents an hour to signalmen and maintainance workers and higher rated mechanics; 18 cents to assistants and helpers, retroactive to April 1; five per cent general increases effective Oct. 1 and April 1 and on Oct. 1, 1972; a 15-cent general wage boost effective Jan. 1, 1973, and a similar 10-cent increase effective April 1, 1973.

Government Softens Its Better-Bumper Position

Washington (AP) — The Transportation Department softened its original position Wednesday in announcing requirements for improved bumpers on 1973 automobiles.

The department held to its proposal of last fall that front bumpers absorb a five-mile-an-hour crash without damage to vital car systems.

But, faced by massive resistance from automakers, it abandoned a similar standard for 1973 rear bumpers in favor of a 2½-m.p.h. requirement, which specialists say present cars can meet.

The bumper standard was described as final but still is subject to reconsideration if appeals are filed. Major auto firms have indicated they can meet requirements similar to those in the government standard.

Uniform Height Put Off

The department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration also postponed for one year, until 1974 models, a requirement for uniform bumper height front and back.

Auto officials have estimated the improved, energy-absorbing front bumpers will cost consumers about $50.

The standard also requires improvement of 1974 rear bumpers to pass a 4 m.p.h. crash test. Additional bumper requirements may be added later for 1974 models, the department said.

Federal safety officials said a 5 m.p.h. crash into a barrier is equivalent to a collision between a parked car and one traveling at 10 miles an hour.

Partially Spent

In such a collision some of the destructive force would be dissipated through movement of the stationary car, in contrast to the striking of a fixed surface such as a concrete wall.

Allstate Insurance Companies, which has been campaigning for improved bumpers, announced Wednesday afternoon that it will allow a 10% discount on collision insurance purchased on 1973 model cars which meet the new standards.

Earlier, Allstate had offered to cut such insurance by 20% if its collision-test and bumper-height standards were met. A spokesman explained that the initial reduction is being put at 10% since its objectives will not be fully realized under the Wednesday action.

Nation's Railroads Are About To Profit From Running Passenger Trains

By STEPHEN M. AUG
(c) Washington Star

Washington —The nation's railroads, which long have contended they operate passenger service at huge losses, are about to start making a little money under the National Railroad Passenger Corp., it has been learned.

A copy of the proposed master contract to be signed by the railroads and Railpax, obtained Wednesday by the Washington Star, shows that the railroads will be paid their costs plus an additional 5% for operating passenger service for the new corporation starting May 1.

The 5% figure may be a considerable victory for the railroads, since it is understood that Railpax had at first wanted only to reimburse the railroads for their direct costs of running the passenger system. The corporation had felt the railroads should be happy enough just being able to shed the burden of passenger service.

$220 Million

Sources close to the negotiations now say that the payments to the railroads for the first year to operate a 184-train system will total about $220 million.

At this rate, the railroads would have a "profit" of perhaps $10 million. The "profit" would be shared among all the roads operating trains for Railpax, on the basis of the total expenses each line incurs running the service.

Whether the added 5% is a true profit, however, probably will be contested by the railroads.

The costs upon which the 5% is to be based are so-called "avoidable costs" — what the railroads would save if they didn't run any passenger trains. But these costs do not include such things as general maintenance of way expenses and the like.

Some of the other provisions of the contract disclose deep and still unresolved differences between Railpax and the industry. One example is the matter of insurance liability.

4% For Insurance

The contract provides that Railpax will pay the railroads 4% of the cost of running the trains to set up an insurance fund under which the railroads would assume all liability for injury, death or property damage arising out of operation of the Railpax trains.

This section, however, is to be renegotiated after Dec 1, 1971, and if no decision is reached the matter goes to arbitration. It is understood that the railroads originally wanted Railpax to pay 8%. Railpax contended it should pay no more than 2%.

Among other principal provisions:

The railroads may not back out of their operating agreements with Railpax for 10 years. The contract provides that any time on or after May 1, 1979, a railroad may give two years' notice it intends to terminate its obligations. Railpax still would be able to operate, but would either have to renegotiate or appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission to set up an operating agreement.

A Compromise

This provision is a compromise. Railpax had originally wanted a 99-year agreement, and the railroads had wanted only a two or three-year agreement.

Railroads are forbidden to dispose of more than 10% of their passenger equipment prior to Aug. 1, 1971. After that, they may sell or lease it, but must give Railpax the first opportunity to acquire it.

The railroads will have to assume the obligation to pay severance costs of railroad workers dismissed as a result of train discontinuances when Railpax starts. But if Railpax trains are discontinued, the matter of payments resulting from these discontinuances will have to be arbitrated. If, however, additional employes are hired because of Railpax and they are later dismissed, Railpax would have to pay severance.

Railpax trains that operate in suburban areas en route to distant destinations are forbidden to carry commuters between stations served by normal commuter trains.

Railpax trains may transport free of charge railroad company mail — provided no extra costs are involved — and they may continue to haul railroad business cars provided they do not cause "material delays" in passenger train operation.

Nation's Railroads Are About To Profit From Running Passenger Trains

By STEPHEN M. AUG
(c) Washington Star

Washington —The nation's railroads, which long have contended they operate passenger service at huge losses, are about to start making a little money under the National Railroad Passenger Corp., it has been learned.

A copy of the proposed master contract to be signed by the railroads and Railpax, obtained Wednesday by the Washington Star, shows that the railroads will be paid their costs plus an additional 5% for operating passenger service for the new corporation starting May 1.

The 5% figure may be a considerable victory for the railroads, since it is understood that Railpax had at first wanted only to reimburse the railroads for their direct costs of running the passenger system. The corporation had felt the railroads should be happy enough just being able to shed the burden of passenger service.

$220 Million

Sources close to the negotiations now say that the payments to the railroads for the first year to operate a 184-train system will total about $220 million.

At this rate, the railroads would have a "profit" of perhaps $10 million. The "profit" would be shared among all the roads operating trains for Railpax, on the basis of the total expenses each line incurs running the service.

Whether the added 5% is a true profit, however, probably will be contested by the railroads.

The costs upon which the 5% is to be based are so-called "avoidable costs" — what the railroads would save if they didn't run any passenger trains. But these costs do not include such things as general maintenance of way expenses and the like.

Some of the other provisions of the contract disclose deep and still unresolved differences between Railpax and the industry. One example is the matter of insurance liability.

4% For Insurance

The contract provides that Railpax will pay the railroads 4% of the cost of running the trains to set up an insurance fund under which the railroads would assume all liability for injury, death or property damage arising out of operation of the Railpax trains.

This section, however, is to be renegotiated after Dec. 1, 1971, and if no decision is reached the matter goes to arbitration. It is understood that the railroads originally wanted Railpax to pay 8%. Railpax contended it should pay no more than 2%.

Among other principal provisions:

The railroads may not back out of their operating agreements with Railpax for 10 years. The contract provides that any time on or after May 1, 1979, a railroad may give two years' notice it intends to terminate its obligations. Railpax still would be able to operate, but would either have to renegotiate or appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission to set up an operating agreement.

A Compromise

This provision is a compromise. Railpax had originally wanted a 99-year agreement, and the railroads had wanted only a two or three-year agreement.

Railroads are forbidden to dispose of more than 10% of their passenger equipment prior to Aug. 1, 1971. After that, they may sell or lease it, but must give Railpax the first opportunity to acquire it.

The railroads will have to assume the obligation to pay severance costs of railroad workers dismissed as a result of train discontinuances when Railpax starts. But if Railpax trains are discontinued, the matter of payments resulting from these discontinuances will have to be arbitrated. If, however, additional employes are hired because of Railpax and they are later dismissed, Railpax would have to pay severance.

Railpax trains that operate in suburban areas en route to distant destinations are forbidden to carry commuters between stations served by normal commuter trains.

Railpax trains may transport free of charge railroad company mail — provided no extra costs are involved — and they may continue to haul railroad business cars provided they do not cause "material delays" in passenger train operation.

Varner Proposes TV Study At Home

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska Chancellor D. B. Varner said Wednesday he hopes within a year to launch a plan to permit Nebraskans to complete a freshman year of study in their homes through educational television.

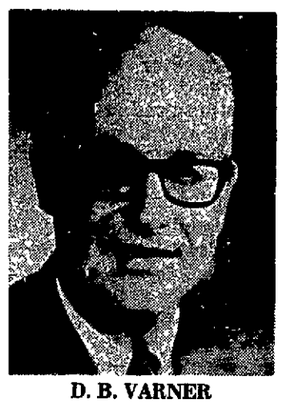
Varner told trustees of the NU Foundation that he has decided to dig into discretionary funds which the foundation has supplied to establish five member committee to study the proposal.

He said he hopes the committee, within a minimum of time, would both study the feasibility of the plan and come up with a plan of action to set it into motion.

Support Sought

"It is our hope and our belief that a major foundation will join us in this undertaking," Varner said, and afterwards he added that he had informally contacted two foundations already.

In a briefing Tuesday, Varner told newsmen that General Manager Jack McBride of the Nebraska ETV Network believes the program would be "not only possible, but exciting."



D. B. VARNER

"I know of no such program in America," Varner said.

NU's Regents, he added, "think it's a grand thing to try."

3 Free Nights

The chancellor said McBride believes the Nebraska network could free Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights for broadcast of courses from 6 to 10 p.m.

The program, which he said would supplenemt the freshmen program on campus rather than replace it, would permit anyone, without regard to age or classes and take them at home.

If they perform, they would be awarded a year of freshman credit which he said he hopes would be applicable at most institutions of higher education in the state.

Possible Courses

Courses which might be offered, he said, are history, psychology, sociology, economics, literature and perhaps a interdisciplinary course in western civilization.

Exams, he said, could be administered at examination centers spread throughout the state, and instructors could meet with students periodically at those centers to answer questions and help with other problems.

In order to avoid a "sterile" TV approach, he said local teachers might be used as regular contacts with the students enrolled.

Spring Of 1972

Earliest possible starting date, he told newsmen, would probably be spring of 1972, and he said he believed NU should commit itself to a three- to five-year program to give it a chance for success.

He suggested the ETV idea, although perhaps more costly than regular programs at the start, might put NU on the road to a new and less rigid approach to higher education.

He termed "foolish" the practice of enrolling on a campus students of 18 who are expected to complete their education in four years.

'Nothing Magic'

"There's nothing magic" about the ages 18 to 22, he said, or about a "piece of real estate."

Varner said his committee would probably study a British project which uses home-television in instruction as well as the "university without walls" concept used by the State University of New York.

Varner Probes 'Regional Compact' In Programs

University of Nebraska Chancellor D. B. Varner said Wednesday he has begun discussions with presidents of neighboring universities to probe the feasibility of establishing a "regional compact" in instructional programs.

Speaking to trustees of the NU Foundation, Varner said he believes the university must move to a smaller number of graduate programs, and make those offered of "greater quality."

Then, he said, he would hope NU might develop a cooperative relationship with universities in Kansas, Iowa and Missouri so that students could study at whichever institution offers a program in the discipline of his choice.

'Distinguished Programs

Such a plan, Varner said, would provide more opportunity for universities in those states to offer "distinguished" programs in the areas they are operating.

The move would apparently require some agreement on what programs were to be offered at which schools and then a cooperative trade plan for students in each of the states.

Varner noted that NU now offers Ph.D. programs in 45 disciplines, but he said he would prefer to move eventually to about 30 "first-class programs."

Elimination Moves

He noted that moves are now under way to identify programs for elimination.

NU should "select certain areas for emphasis," the chancellor told some 65 trustees, and he said he would personally favor immediate action in two areas — engineering and water management.

Strengthened engineering and math programs could significantly aid the state's economic growth, he said, by attracting electronics industries.

Water Supplies

He said both agriculture and industry also depend on good water supplies.

The chancellor also said he believes NU has not, since the addition of the NU at Omaha campus, "achieved the integration and coordination essential" among that campus, the Medical center and NU-Lincoln.

"On this front, we must move with more vigor than in the past," he said.

Speaking briefly on NU's budget requests, Varner said he knows "of no conceivable way of making this university stronger by cutting its budget."

Repeating his contention that NU fares poorly in comparison with other schools in the Big 8, Varner said he has "no intention whatsoever in heading an institution that remains at this level"

NU "must move" to the top of the Big 8, he said.

Nebraska University Foundation Records Gifts Totaling $3.7 Million

The University of Nebraska Foundation recorded gifts totaling $3.7 million last year, the largest amount in its 35-year-history, Foundation trustees were told Wednesday at the annual meeting.

In his president's report, Harry R. Haynie said this is the first time that the Foundation has surpassed the $3 million mark in gifts, and "then by some $700,000." He said assets now stand at $15.7 million, an increase of nearly $2 million in one year.

Chairman of the Foundation's Board, George B. Cook of Lincoln, presided at the meeting attended by 90 trustees.

Other highlights of Haynie's report:

—$2.5 million in benefits to the University in 1970, including the Miskell Memorial Pipe Organ and Broyhill Memorial Fountain on the Lincoln Campuses.

—11,093 alumni donors during the year, an increase of 72, plus an additional 2,504 non-alumni, organizations, companies and other foundations.

—$1,124,598 in bequests from estates of alumni

—$278,213 in student loans outstanding, an increase of $63,000 over the previous year.

Haynie said the record gift total was recorded despite a drop in gifts from living alumni, from $676,000 in 1969 to $390,000 in 1970. He attributed the decrease to the declining stock market, "since our larger gifts from individual alumni usually come in the form of securities."

With the depressed stock market, the larger gifts were few and far between, he said. "In 1970, the largest gift from a living alumnus was $15,000 . . . a far cry from the top gift of $200,000 received the previous year.

"Despite this drop in alumni gifts, the number of alumni donors increased to a record number. This is an indication that the alumni still believe in our program. It is in contrast to severe drops in donors reported by many other schools . . . schools which have been centers of student unrest."

Haynie explained that alumni giving is also reflected in bequests and in gifts from individually owned companies and family foundations, but they are not specifically reported as alumni gifts.

He reported that several private foundations in Nebraska dissolved last year as the result of the Tax Reform Act of 1969, transferring their entire assets to the University Foundation. "They were forced, in a sense, to do this to avoid the excise tax which the act levied on their net investment incomes and the burdensome reporting program which was imposed.

"The University Foundation is administering these funds for the benefit of the university and according to the wishes of the donors who originally established the private foundations Even the names are retained within the University Foundation." He pointed out that the Tax Reform Act encourages such transfers.

Foundation benefits to the University in 1970 included $1,284,086, research projects, $507,658, scholarships, $151,544, research equipment; $136,098, fellowships; $118,255, professorships, $70,608, university and faculty support; $39,101, economic education program, $38,174, Sheldon Art Gallery; $25,000, part payment toward Miskell Memorial Pipe Organ, $17,500, School of Journalism research projects, $15,141, Medical College Library, $12,050, University State Museum; $10,000 Centennial College; $10,000, Woods Fellowships in Humanities; $9,600, College of Agriculture judging team awards; and $8,000, College of Engineering and Architecture projects

In other business, Bert Reed of Lincoln was elected to the board of trustees.

FBI Arrests One Of 'Most Wanted'

Washington (UPI) — The FBI announced the capture in Pacifica, Calif., Wednesday of one of 16 fugitives on its most wanted list, 44-year-old Warren David Reddock wanted on murder charges in Waukegan, Ill.

In a statement from headquarters here, the bureau said Reddock was arrested by FBI agents and offered no resistance. He was to be arraigned before a U.S. magistrate in San Francisco Thursday.

The FBI said that at the time of his arrest, Reddock was employed at a ranch and kennel in Pacifica and was using the name of Walter P. Thompson.

Buses Backed By C. Hamilton

Speaking Wednesday night before the Democratic Women's Club, Charlie Hamilton candidate for the City Council, urged everyone regardless of political persuasion, to get out the vote in support of the bond issue for buses.

Hamilton stated that "if ever there was an issue that everyone ought to be able to get together on it is this question of buses."

"I simply can't imagine a city the size of Lincoln without a public transportation system. But this could happen if we don't all work to turn out a big vote."

Thant To Visit

Cairo (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General Thant has accepted an invitation to visit Sudan, the Middle East News Agency reported in a dispatch from Khartoum. The agency said the invitation was delivered by Sudan's new permanent delegate, Mansour Khaled, but the date of the visit has not yet been set.

J&L Steel Corp. Increases Prices

Pittsburgh, Pa. (AP) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., citing increased costs for labor, materials and freight, announced Wednesday price hikes of from $10 to $13 a ton on hot rolled rods and certain types of manufacturers' carbon steel wire.

"Effective with shipments of May 1, and in line with increases previously announced by other producers, the increases range an average of 6.3% to 6.5% on these products which account for approximately 3% of J&L's total product mix." said a spokesman for the company.

J&L said the price hikes, which do not come under a previous 12-month price protection policy, would offset only partially increased manufacturing and shipping costs.

Woman Is Injured In Husband's Fall

Solomon, Kan. (AP) — Gerald Webb fell 14 feet when a scaffold tipped as he was working on a machine shed. He escaped unhurt. His wife suffered a back injury and possible broken ribs.

Mrs. Webb said she saw the scaffolding tip Her husband managed to grab hold of a rafter. She hurried to his rescue with a ladder just as he lost his grip. He fell on top of her.

Sir George Mills Dies In London

London (AP) — Air Chief Marshal Sir George Holroyd Mills, former chief of Britain's bomber command, died Wednesday at the age of 69.

He commanded Allied air forces in central Europe from 1955 to 1959. From 1956 until 1962 he was aide de camp to Queen Elizabeth II. He retired in 1962.

Staley Mfg. Co. Income Increases

Decatur, Ill (AP) — A. E. Staley Mfg. Co. reported Wednesday net income of $4,096,000 or $1 54 a share on record sales of $157,099,000 for six months ended March 31.

This compares with net income of $4,027,000 or $1 52 a share on sales of $154,203,000 for the same period a year ago. The company is a grain processor.

Wisconsin Approves

Madison, Wis. (UPI) — The Wisconsin Assembly voted to ratify the 18-year-old voting amendment to the U.S. constitution. Representatives voted 91-8 to approve the resolution, which went to the Wisconsin Senate where quick approval was expected.

Adoption Benefits

Skokie, Ill. (UPI) — G. D. Searle & Co., which brought out the first birth control pill in 1960 said it was extending maternity allowance coverage to employes who adopt a child.

"We pay an allowance to employes who have their own children; why shouldn't we pay those who adopt an unwanted child and help society, in addition to taking on the responsibility of parenthood," the company said.

Such a plan, Varner said, would provide more opportunity for universities in those states to offer "distinguished" programs in the areas they are operating.

The move would apparently require some agreement on what programs were to be offered at which schools and then a cooperative trade plan for students in each of the states.

Varner noted that NU now offers Ph.D. programs in 45 disciplines, but he said he would prefer to move eventually to about 30 "first-class programs."

Elimination Moves

He noted that moves are now under way to identify programs for elimination.

NU should "select certain areas for emphasis," the chancellor told some 65 trustees, and he said he would personally favor immediate action in two areas — engineering and water management.

Strengthened engineering and math programs could significantly aid the state's economic growth, he said, by attracting electronics industries.

Water Supplies

He said both agriculture and industry also depend on good water supplies.

The chancellor also said he believes NU has not, since the addition of the NU at Omaha campus, "achieved the integration and coordination essential" among that campus, the Medical center and NU-Lincoln.

"On this front, we must move with more vigor than in the past," he said.

Speaking briefly on NU's budget requests, Varner said he knows "of no conceivable way of making this university stronger by cutting its budget."

Repeating his contention that NU fares poorly in comparison with other schools in the Big 8, Varner said he has "no intention whatsoever in heading an institution that remains at this level."

NU "must move" to the top of the Big 8, he said.

Nebraska University Foundation Records Gifts Totaling $3.7 Million

The University of Nebraska Foundation recorded gifts totaling $3.7 million last year, the largest amount in its 35-year-history, Foundation trustees were told Wednesday at the annual meeting.

In his president's report, Harry R. Haynie said this is the first time that the Foundation has surpassed the $3 million mark in gifts, and "then by some $700,000." He said assets now stand at $15.7 million, an increase of nearly $2 million in one year.

Chairman of the Foundation's Board, George B. Cook of Lincoln, presided at the meeting attended by 90 trustees.

Other highlights of Haynie's report:

—$2.5 million in benefits to the University in 1970, including the Miskell Memorial Pipe Organ and Broyhill Memorial Fountain on the Lincoln Campuses.

—11,093 alumni donors during the year, an increase of 72, plus an additional 2,504 non-alumni, organizations, companies and other foundations.

—$1,124,598 in bequests from estates of alumni.

—$278,213 in student loans outstanding, an increase of $63,000 over the previous year.

Haynie said the record gift total was recorded despite a drop in gifts from living alumni, from $676,000 in 1969 to $390,000 in 1970. He attributed the decrease to the declining stock market, "since our larger gifts from individual alumni usually come in the form of securities."

With the depressed stock market, the larger gifts were few and far between, he said. "In 1970, the largest gift from a living alumnus was $15,000 . . . a far cry from the top gift of $200,000 received the previous year.

"Despite this drop in alumni gifts, the number of alumni donors increased to a record number. This is an indication that the alumni still believe in our program. It is in contrast to severe drops in donors reported by many other schools . . . schools which have been centers of student unrest."

Haynie explained that alumni giving is also reflected in bequests and in gifts from individually owned companies and family foundations, but they are not specifically reported as alumni gifts.

He reported that several private foundations in Nebraska dissolved last year as the result of the Tax Reform Act of 1969, transferring their entire assets to the University Foundation. "They were forced, in a sense, to do this to avoid the excise tax which the act levied on their net investment incomes and the burdensome reporting program which was imposed.

"The University Foundation is administering these funds for the benefit of the university and according to the wishes of the donors who originally established the private foundations. Even the names are retained within the University Foundation." He pointed out that the Tax Reform Act encourages such transfers.

Foundation benefits to the University in 1970 included: $1,284,086, research projects; $507,658, scholarships; $151,544, research equipment; $136,098, fellowships; $118,255, professorships; $70,608, university and faculty support; $39,101, economic education program; $38,174, Sheldon Art Gallery; $25,000, part payment toward Miskell Memorial Pipe Organ; $17,500, School of Journalism research projects; $15,141, Medical College Library; $12,050, University State Museum; $10,000 Centennial College; $10,000, Woods Fellowships in Humanities; $9,600, College of Agriculture judging team awards; and $8,000, College of Engineering and Architecture projects.

In other business, Bert Reed of Lincoln was elected to the board of trustees.

FBI Arrests One Of 'Most Wanted'

Washington (UPI) — The FBI announced the capture in Pacifica, Calif., Wednesday of one of 16 fugitives on its most wanted list, 44-year-old Warren David Reddock wanted on murder charges in Waukegan, Ill.

In a statement from headquarters here, the bureau said Reddock was arrested by FBI agents and offered no resistance. He was to be arraigned before a U.S. magistrate in San Francisco Thursday.

The FBI said that at the time of his arrest, Reddock was employed at a ranch and kennel in Pacifica and was using the name of Walter P. Thompson.

Buses Backed By C. Hamilton

Speaking Wednesday night before the Democratic Women's Club, Charlie Hamilton candidate for the City Council, urged everyone regardless of political persuasion, to get out the vote in support of the bond issue for buses.

Hamilton stated that "if ever there was an issue that everyone ought to be able to get together on it is this question of buses."

"I simply can't imagine a city the size of Lincoln without a public transportation system. But this could happen if we don't all work to turn out a big vote."

Thant To Visit

Cairo (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General Thant has accepted an invitation to visit Sudan, the Middle East News Agency reported in a dispatch from Khartoum. The agency said the invitation was delivered by Sudan's new permanent delegate, Mansour Khaled, but the date of the visit has not yet been set.

J&L Steel Corp. Increases Prices

Pittsburgh, Pa. (AP) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., citing increased costs for labor, materials and freight, announced Wednesday price hikes of from $10 to $13 a ton on hot rolled rods and certain types of manufacturers' carbon steel wire.

"Effective with shipments of May 1, and in line with increases previously announced by other producers, the increases range an average of 6.3% to 6.5% on these products which account for approximately 3% of J&L's total product mix." said a spokesman for the company.

J&L said the price hikes, which do not come under a previous 12-month price protection policy, would offset only partially increased manufacturing and shipping costs.

Woman Is Injured In Husband's Fall

Solomon, Kan. (AP) — Gerald Webb fell 14 feet when a scaffold tipped as he was working on a machine shed. He escaped unhurt. His wife suffered a back injury and possible broken ribs.

Mrs. Webb said she saw the scaffolding tip. Her husband managed to grab hold of a rafter. She hurried to his rescue with a ladder just as he lost his grip. He fell on top of her.

Sir George Mills Dies In London

London (AP) — Air Chief Marshal Sir George Holroyd Mills, former chief of Britain's bomber command, died Wednesday at the age of 69.

He commanded Allied air forces in central Europe from 1955 to 1959. From 1956 until 1962 he was aide de camp to Queen Elizabeth II. He retired in 1962.

Staley Mfg. Co. Income Increases

Decatur, Ill. (AP) — A. E. Staley Mfg. Co. reported Wednesday net income of $4,096,000 or $1.54 a share on record sales of $157,099,000 for six months ended March 31.

This compares with net income of $4,027,000 or $1.52 a share on sales of $154,203,000 for the same period a year ago. The company is a grain processor.

Wisconsin Approves

Madison, Wis. (UPI) — The Wisconsin Assembly voted to ratify the 18-year-old voting amendment to the U.S. constitution. Representatives voted 91-8 to approve the resolution, which went to the Wisconsin Senate where quick approval was expected.

Adoption Benefits

Skokie, Ill. (UPI) — G. D. Searle & Co., which brought out the first birth control pill in 1960 said it was extending maternity allowance coverage to employes who adopt a child.

"We pay an allowance to employes who have their own children; why shouldn't we pay those who adopt an unwanted child and help society, in addition to taking on the responsibility of parenthood," the company said.

Majority Of Priests Reject Birth Stand

©The New York Times

New York — Two studies sponsored by the American bishops of the Roman Catholic Church have found that a majority of the country's priests reject the church's teaching against artificial birth control and believe that priests should be free to marry.

They also found, however, that despite recent unrest in the church, priests maintain a "high degree of personal morale" and that only one priest in five would be likely to marry if given the choice.

The reports, which together constitute the most comprehensive survey of the priesthood in any country, will be formally presented to the bishops at their spring meeting in Detroit April 27 to 29.

Times Gets Copy

Summaries and selected statistical tables were mailed to the bishops in the last few days. A copy was made available to the New York Times.

The first study — from the sociological perspective — was conducted by the National Opinion Research Center, a research organization affiliated with the University of Chicago. It was based on questionnaires and some telephone interviews with 6,000 priests, former priests and bishops.

The second — from the psychological perspective — drew on in-depth interviews with 271 priests. It was conducted by the department of psychology of Loyola University in Chicago.

The findings brought into question a number of widespread assumptions about the priesthood and included the following:

—Conflicts with bishops and other authorities are seen as a greater source of frustration to priests than restrictions against marriage.

—Five per cent of diocesan priests resigned between 1966 and 1969, and three per cent said that they were likely to leave. These figures, the first authoritative ones to be released on the number of Americans leaving the priesthood, are lower than many previous estimates.

—Most priests who have left are quite satisfied with their decision, and, contrary to the statements of some priests' groups, only two out of five are interested in returning.

—A large proportion of priests are shown by psychological testing to be "underdeveloped" persons who do not make full use of the freedom they have.

Parat Of Report

The two studies are part of a seven-part report on the priesthood that was initiated by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops in the spring of 1967. It was intended as an aid to church reform following the Second Vatican Council, but was also seen by some as a way of responding to the issue of celibacy, which at the time was emerging as a major source of controversy.

A major finding was the existence of "drastic differences" of opinion between priests and bishops on sexual morality. The survey reported, for instance, that the church's position on birth control "does not command majority support among the priests."

Moreover, the study found that support for the official position has deteriorated considerably since Pope Paul VI's 1967 encyclical "Humanae Vitae," which reaffirmed the traditional ban on artificial contraception. Twenty-seven per cent of the priests surveyed said they had become more "liberal" since the papal proclamation. Only three per cent indicated that they had become more "conservative."

FARMERS HELP NEIGHBOR WITH FERTILIZING

Joe Yeackley, who had farmed with his father, John, southwest of Milford, died last winter, and now his father, age 81, and his two sons, 16 and 17, are trying to keep the farm going. Friends and neighbors came in with equipment Wednesday to help by fertilizing 350 acres of corn and milo. Helping with the work were Dick and Wayne Stutzman, Kenneth Roth, Galen and Cleo Schweitzer, Darral Kraemer and Roland and Kenneth Miller. (Star Photo.)

Mom Nature's Dryness Makes Many Use Hoses

April showers bring May flowers . . . so the saying goes, but with a lack of April showers, to date only .03 of an inch has fallen, many people are getting their garden and lawn hoses out of and are trying to take the place of mother nature.

The average amount of rain received during April in previous years has been approximately .90 of an inch, a Weather Bureau spokesman said.

"Overall we are running almost normal with 4.47 inches of precipitation during the year so far, with 4.64 inches being about normal," he said. He added that there will probably be showers Thursday night and Friday, which will help the situation greatly.

'Little Bit Early'

Emery Nelson, Lancaster County extension agent, said he felt "it is just a little bit early for things to be growing now. I think we would be real wise to wait about watering everything." He said, however, that new grass seedlings from last fall or this spring should definitely be watered.

Bob Campbell, a local nursery owner, said, "I think we are dry, but we are not dry down deep beneath the surface yet." He said most people add fertilizer or weed-killer-fertilizer combinations to lawns with a heavy water base, which he said, should "be adequate" moisture for lawns now.

He explained that the lawns are not as green as normal because of the lack of warm weather that has been normal for April in the past. "We are about two weeks behind in getting green grass and warm weather," he said.

No Frost Fear

He suggested that garden planters should be able to plant onions, cabbage, carrots, radishes and lettuce without fear of frost now.

"Plants like tomatoes, beans and corn, which are normally planted the last of April or around the first of May, should be planted when frost is not a possible hazard. It's all right to plant gardens now if you plant the right things," he added.

Other nurserymen agreed that watering a lawn about once a week should be enough since there is enough sub-soil moisture present.

Florida Makes Rain

Although Nebraska may be dry at the present time, the Weather Bureau man said, "Florida is extremely dry — so dry that they are going to try to make rain instead of waiting for it to come."

He cited an area in Florida that receives about two and one-half inches of rain during March and received 10 to 18 inches last year. He said during the first 16 days of March, the area had received less than one-half inch of rain.

"Although we have only received .03 of an inch of rain, the sub-soil is still moist and if we keep things on the top watered down," he said, "we shouldn't have any problems."

Ag Council Says Leave Feed Grain On Farms

Concern over a spreading drought condition in much of the nation's farmland prompted the Nebraska Agriculture Council to ask that current government plans to call in feed grains stored on farms be deferred.

The resolution passed by the council also mentions the threat of corn leaf blight as a factor in asking that the grain remain on the farms where it was grown.

The council passed a resolution asking the Army Corps of Engineers to consider the impact that a return to dryland farming might have on the Blue River basin and on the economy of the area.

If such an impact were to be included in the cost-benefit study, it might make the projected dams on the Big and Little Blue Rivers feasable.

Dr. Glen Vollmar, chairman of the Department of Agriculture Economics at the University of Nebraska, appeared before the group to outline marketing studies being conducted by the university.

Council members, after an extended debate, tabled a resolution on the Farmers Home Administration activities in the state. They decided to ask representatives of the administration to attend the next meeting on May 12 to explain its policies and discuss farm credit problems.

Group Forms To Support Vote On Bus Issue

A group of citizens has formed to support the city bus revenue bond issue on the May 4 ballot.

Chairman of the Better Bus Committee organization is Bob Campbell.

"Our goal is to assure a favorable voter response to the issue," Campbell said, adding that a fund drive has resulted in a modest budget to support a small scale advertising campaign.

Meanwhile, the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, has backed the bond issue, supporting the 39 all-new-air-conditioned buses.

Quarter Income Declines At CBS

New York (AP) — CBS estimated Wednesday first quarter income at $6.5 million or 22 cents a share, down from $13.2 million or 47 cents a share in the first quarter of 1970.

Sales were estimated at $281.9 million, down from $305.3 million last year.

Four Guard Jets To Leave Lincoln For Exercise

Four Nebraska Air National Guard RF-84F tactical reconnaissance jets will leave Lincoln Thursday for exercise "Punchcard XIV" scheduled April 19-23 near Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska.

Exercise "Punchcard XIV" is an Alaskan command exercise series designed to acquaint "outside" Air Force units with Northern air and ground operations while demonstrating the Air Force's ability to rapidly augment units assigned to the 49th state.

Nebraska Adjutant General Maj. Gen Lyle A. Welch will accompany the Nebraska contingent.

Also participating in the exercise are eight F-100 Supersabre tactical jet fighters from the 121st Tactical Fighter Group at Lockbourne AFB, Ohio.

Nebraska's RF-84F's are asked to meet the photographic requirements of the Alaskan Air Command.

Panel Of Four Ecologists View Garden Club's Contest Project

A panel of four nationally known ecologists were in Lincoln Wednesday to hear a verbal presentation and inspect a project entered by the Garden Club of Lincoln in the Environmental Improvement Program (EIP).

The Lincoln project is one of six chosen from among winners in 49 states and the District of Columbia as finalists in the EIP beautification contest and is now competing for one of five national awards to be presented at the council's national convention in Miami May 18.

The environmental contest is co-sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., and Sears, Roebuck and Co.

The top award to be presented in Miami is $2,500 and a silver tray. The next four winners will receive a silver tray and $1,500 for second place, $1,000 for third, $750 for fourth and $500 for fifth.

Lincoln's entry, winner of both state and district competition so far, consists of a city-wide beautification project implemented by the Garden Club of Lincoln in 1970.

The four main projects within the framework of the beautification program include the Beautify Lincoln campaign last summer in which businesses and homeowners planted greenery, and a four-week landscaping school conducted by Lancaster County Extension Agent Emery Nelson, assisted by garden club members.

19th Century Style

Also included in the overall program is the co-sponsorship of a project where developing hyacinth bulbs were placed in Lincoln school rooms for students to observe and enjoy, and the planning and planting of the landscape design of the Kennard Home in authentic 19th century style.

Other finalists in the EIP contest which is aimed at halting the destruction of the environment include garden clubs in Cumberland, Me.; Sumter, S.C.; Evansville, Ind.; and Salt Lake City, Utah.

The judges met with garden club members Wednesday morning to learn details of the overall program and individual projects first-hand and later visited some of the areas affected by the Lincoln project.

The judging panel is comprised of Dr. Neil Odewald, landscape architect from Louisiana State University Extension Service; Marshall Burk, executive secretary of the National Resources Council of Maine; Mark Paddock, ecologist and assistant director of the Missouri Botanical Garden in St. Louis; and Norvell Gillespie, executive vice president of the California Anti-Litter League, located in San Francisco.

Lincoln was one of the stops the four judges will make this week during personal inspections of the six projects in final competition.

Lincoln Follows Temporary Ban On Open Burning

Lincoln Fire Chief Dallas Johnson announced Wednesday that effective immediately Lincoln will follow the State Fire Marshall office's move placing a "ban on open burning" in the state.

This will place an indefinite time limit on any type of burning within the city limits except by those businesses or persons presently holding burning permits.

Dallas said that this policy will be enforced until the present dry conditions are alleviated — probably until Lincoln receives precipitation.

Fire officials said that any burning in the city by those persons without burning permits will be subject to warning citations from the fire department and that constant offenders will be referred to the city legal department for possible court action.

Governor Names Seven Persons To Nebraska's ETV Commission

Gov. J. J. Exon announced Wednesday the appointment of seven persons to the Nebraska Educational Television Commission for four-year terms.

The appointees are Mrs. Violet Richter of Kearney, James M. McGaffin Jr. of Omaha, Dr. John Prasch of Lincoln, Joseph Maresh of Dodge, Mrs. Don Popken of Brady, Dr. Phillip Heckman of Crete and Dr. Francis J. Brown of Genoa.

In addition to the newly-appointed members, Chancellor Durward Varner of the University of Nebraska and State Education Commissioner Cecil Stanley are statutory members of the commission.

The governor's appointments are all subject to confirmation by the Legislature.

Holt To Assume Cannon Position

Kannapolis, N.C. (AP) — Don S. Holt, president of Cannon Mills Co., has been elected by the directors of the huge textile firm to hold the additional job of chairman of the board. As chairman he succeeds Charles A. Cannon, who died April 2, after 50 years at the helm of the company.

Concern over a spreading drought condition in much of the nation's farmland prompted the Nebraska Agriculture Council to ask that current government plans to call in feed grains stored on farms be deferred.

The resolution passed by the council also mentions the threat of corn leaf blight as a factor in asking that the grain remain on the farms where it was grown.

The council passed a resolution asking the Army Corps of Engineers to consider the impact that a return to dryland farming might have on the Blue River basin and on the economy of the area.

If such an impact were to be included in the cost-benefit study, it might make the projected dams on the Big and Little Blue Rivers feasable.

Dr. Glen Vollmar, chairman of the Department of Agriculture Economics at the University of Nebraska, appeared before the group to outline marketing studies being conducted by the university.

Council members, after an extended debate, tabled a resolution on the Farmers Home Administration activities in the state. They decided to ask representatives of the administration to attend the next meeting on May 12 to explain its policies and discuss farm credit problems.

Group Forms To Support Vote On Bus Issue

A group of citizens has formed to support the city bus revenue bond issue on the May 4 ballot.

Chairman of the Better Bus Committee organization is Bob Campbell.

"Our goal is to assure a favorable voter response to the issue," Campbell said, adding that a fund drive has resulted in a modest budget to support a small scale advertising campaign.

Meanwhile, the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, has backed the bond issue, supporting the 39 all-new-air-conditioned buses.

Quarter Income Declines At CBS

New York (AP) — CBS estimated Wednesday first quarter income at $6.5 million or 22 cents a share, down from $13.2 million or 47 cents a share in the first quarter of 1970.

Sales were estimated at $281.9 million, down from $305.3 million last year.

Mom Nature's Dryness Makes Many Use Hoses

April showers bring May flowers . . . so the saying goes, but with a lack of April showers, to date only .03 of an inch has fallen, many people are getting their garden and lawn hoses out of and are trying to take the place of mother nature.

The average amount of rain received during April in previous years has been approximately .90 of an inch, a Weather Bureau spokesman said.

"Overall we are running almost normal with 4.47 inches of precipitation during the year so far, with 4.64 inches being about normal," he said. He added that there will probably be showers Thursday night and Friday, which will help the situation greatly.

'Little Bit Early'

Emery Nelson, Lancaster County extension agent, said he felt "it is just a little bit early for things to be growing now. I think we would be real wise to wait about watering everything." He said, however, that new grass seedlings from last fall or this spring should definitely be watered.

Bob Campbell, a local nursery owner, said, "I think we are dry, but we are not dry down deep beneath the surface yet." He said most people add fertilizer or weed-killer-fertilizer combinations to lawns with a heavy water base, which he said, should "be adequate" moisture for lawns now.

He explained that the lawns are not as green as normal because of the lack of warm weather that has been normal for April in the past. "We are about two weeks behind in getting green grass and warm weather," he said.

No Frost Fear

He suggested that garden planters should be able to plant onions, cabbage, carrots, radishes and lettuce without fear of frost now.

"Plants like tomatoes, beans and corn, which are normally planted the last of April or around the first of May, should be planted when frost is not a possible hazard. It's all right to plant gardens now if you plant the right things," he added.

Other nurserymen agreed that watering a lawn about once a week should be enough since there is enough sub-soil moisture present.

Florida Makes Rain

Although Nebraska may be dry at the present time, the Weather Bureau man said, "Florida is extremely dry — so dry that they are going to try to make rain instead of waiting for it to come."

He cited an area in Florida that receives about two and one-half inches of rain during March and received 10 to 18 inches last year. He said during the first 16 days of March, the area had received less than one-half inch of rain.

"Although we have only received .03 of an inch of rain, the sub-soil is still moist and if we keep things on the top watered down," he said, "we shouldn't have any problems."

Four Guard Jets To Leave Lincoln For Exercise

Four Nebraska Air National Guard RF-84F tactical reconnaissance jets will leave Lincoln Thursday for exercise "Punchcard XIV" scheduled April 19-23 near Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska.

Exercise "Punchcard XIV" is an Alaskan command exercise series designed to acquaint "outside" Air Force units with Northern air and ground operations while demonstrating the Air Force's ability to rapidly augment units assigned to the 49th state.

Nebraska Adjutant General Maj. Gen Lyle A. Welch will accompany the Nebraska contingent.

Also participating in the exercise are eight F-100 Supersabre tactical jet fighters from the 121st Tactical Fighter Group at Lockbourne AFB, Ohio.

Nebraska's RF-84F's are asked to meet the photographic requirements of the Alaskan Air Command.

Panel Of Four Ecologists View Garden Club's Contest Project

A panel of four nationally known ecologists were in Lincoln Wednesday to hear a verbal presentation and inspect a project entered by the Garden Club of Lincoln in the Environmental Improvement Program (EIP).

The Lincoln project is one of six chosen from among winners in 49 states and the District of Columbia as finalists in the EIP beautification contest and is now competing for one of five national awards to be presented at the council's national convention in Miami May 18.

The environmental contest is co-sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., and Sears, Roebuck and Co.

The top award to be presented in Miami is $2,500 and a silver tray. The next four winners will receive a silver tray and $1,500 for second place, $1,000 for third, $750 for fourth and $500 for fifth.

Lincoln's entry, winner of both state and district competition so far, consists of a city-wide beautification project implemented by the Garden Club of Lincoln in 1970.

The four main projects within the framework of the beautification program include the Beautify Lincoln campaign last summer in which businesses and homeowners planted greenery, and a four-week landscaping school conducted by Lancaster County Extension Agent Emery Nelson, assisted by garden club members.

19th Century Style

Also included in the overall program is the co-sponsorship of a project where developing hyacinth bulbs were placed in Lincoln school rooms for students to observe and enjoy, and the planning and planting of the landscape design of the Kennard Home in authentic 19th century style.

Other finalists in the EIP contest which is aimed at halting the destruction of the environment include garden clubs in Cumberland, Me.; Sumter, S.C.; Evansville, Ind.; and Salt Lake City, Utah.

The judges met with garden club members Wednesday morning to learn details of the overall program and individual projects first-hand and later visited some of the areas affected by the Lincoln project.

The judging panel is comprised of Dr. Neil Odewald, landscape architect from Louisiana State University Extension Service; Marshall Burk, executive secretary of the National Resources Council of Maine; Mark Paddock, ecologist and assistant director of the Missouri Botanical Garden in St. Louis; and Norvell Gillespie, executive vice president of the California Anti-Litter League, located in San Francisco.

Lincoln was one of the stops the four judges will make this week during personal inspections of the six projects in final competition.

Lincoln Follows Temporary Ban On Open Burning

Lincoln Fire Chief Dallas Johnson announced Wednesday that effective immediately Lincoln will follow the State Fire Marshall office's move placing a "ban on open burning" in the state.

This will place an indefinite time limit on any type of burning within the city limits except by those businesses or persons presently holding burning permits.

Dallas said that this policy will be enforced until the present dry conditions are alleviated — probably until Lincoln receives precipitation.

Fire officials said that any burning in the city by those persons without burning permits will be subject to warning citations from the fire department and that constant offenders will be referred to the city legal department for possible court action.

Governor Names Seven Persons To Nebraska's ETV Commission

Gov. J. J. Exon announced Wednesday the appointment of seven persons to the Nebraska Educational Television Commission for four-year terms.

The appointees are Mrs. Violet Richter of Kearney, James M. McGaffin Jr. of Omaha, Dr. John Prasch of Lincoln, Joseph Maresh of Dodge, Mrs. Don Popken of Brady, Dr. Phillip Heckman of Crete and Dr. Francis J. Brown of Genoa.

In addition to the newly-appointed members, Chancellor Durward Varner of the University of Nebraska and State Education Commissioner Cecil Stanley are statutory members of the commission.

The governor's appointments are all subject to confirmation by the Legislature.

Holt To Assume Cannon Position

Kannapolis, N.C. (AP) — Don S. Holt, president of Cannon Mills Co., has been elected by the directors of the huge textile firm to hold the additional job of chairman of the board. As chairman he succeeds Charles A. Cannon, who died April 2, after 50 years at the helm of the company.

2 Objects Said Flying Apart At 10 Times Speed Of Light

The New York Times

By WALTER SULLIVAN

Boston — Radio astronomers have observed in distant space what appear to be two objects flying apart at 10 times the speed of light.

Because the laws of physics say such a velocity is impossible, it is suspected that the observation is in some way misleading. Nevertheless, it was described here Wednesday by three teams of astronomers who have independently detected or confirmed the phenomenon.

While they were unable to agree on a plausible explanation, they were virtually unanimous that this celestial observation was one of the most challenging of recent years.

The objects seem to be two components of a quasar known as 3C-279. Quasars are objects that look like stars but show evidence of being extremely distant. They are also powerful emitters of radio waves.

3 Billion Years

In long-exposure photographs taken through the most powerful telescopes, 3C-279 is dimly visible as a single point of light and is generally believed to be so distant that its light has taken three billion years to reach Earth.

If quasars such as this one are indeed so distant they must be generating extraordinary amounts of energy to produce radio and light waves intense enough to be observable at that range.

The estimate of the speed at which the two components of 3C-279 are flying apart assumes they are, in fact, that distant.

The discovery was reported and debated here at symposium at the American Academy of Arts and Sciences on the use of antennas thousands of miles apart to determine the angular width and precise direction of distant radio sources. The technique is known as long baseline interferometry.

Prize To 21

After the symposium the Rumford Premium, America's oldest scientific prize, was given to 21 scientists from American and Canadian observatories who pioneered in development of the method.

What have been detected are two intense and seemingly identical radio sources that together account for about a quarter of the total emission from 3C-279. They were first observed last October, and in February they were found to be moving apart at an extremely high velocity.

In October, antennas on opposite sides of the United States were used to observe the passage of 3C-279 behind the sun. The discovery of its double components was accidental.

As described Wednesday by Dr. Irwin I. Shapiro of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the goal was to settle a long-standing debate as to the precise effect that gravity has upon light and radio waves. Solar gravity would deflect the beam of radio waves from 3C-279 as the waves skirted the sun.

Faded Twice Daily

Between Oct. 1 and 15, some 600 miles of magnetic tape recordings were made and twice each day it was found that the interference pattern faded away, then returned. Clearly this was because the Earth's spin was changing the orientation of the transcontinental baseline between the antennas with respect to the source.

But this effect would be observed only from a pair of wave sources, not just one, and the interval between the two daily "nulls," or times of zero interference, could be used to measure the angular distance between the sources...

The antennas used in the experiment were the haystack Radio Telescope in Massachusetts, operated by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for a consortium of universities, and the Goldstone Antenna in California, which receives television pictures of the Apollo astronauts when they are on the moon and which is operated by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of the California Institute of Technology.

The observing team at the two facilities, for which Shapiro acted as spokesman, consisted of nine scientists from MIT, the Goddard Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory and the University of Maryland.

Tantalizing

So tantalizing was the discovery of celestial twins that this team and a second group decided to repeat the experiment in February, using the same antenna combination.

Those who made the original observation went to work first on correlating their data and discovered that the null points, which were originally 3½ hours apart each day, were now separated by 4½ hours. Twelve days later the separation had grown by five minutes.

According to Shapiro, the rate of motion indicates that the explosive events giving birth to this phenomenon should have been observable on Earth in late 1967. He said that total emissions from 3C-279 rose to a peak in 1966-67 and have subsided since then.

JEAN CLAUDE DUVALIER

'Papa Doc' Is Not Seen On Balcony

Port Au Prince, Haiti (AP) — President Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier failed to appear Wednesday to review a parade in honor of his 64th birthday, strengthening speculation Haiti's "president for life" is seriously ill.

"The doctors have told him to take a rest," a government spokesman said. The same official denied reports last week Duvalier had suffered a stroke in mid-March and was gravely ill.

Tourism Director Gerard de Catalogne also said last week that Duvalier was "feeling fit" and announced that he would be on hand for the parade.

Instead, Duvalier's son and heir-designated, Jean Claude, appeared on a balcony of the gleaming white national palace.

The rotund, 20-year-old youth was flanked by two army officers, Gen. Claude Raymond and Col. Claude Breton.

The tourist director said Jean's Claude's appearance was only "ceremonial."

The president recently had the Haitian constitution amended to make it possible for his son to take over in case of his disability or death.

Duvalier's daughter, 29-year-old Marie Denise, however, is said to be making day-by-day governmental decisions. She too remained secluded.

Clean-Up Week To Last April 26 Through May 2

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Wednesday there will be an environmental clean-up week in Lincoln from April 26 to May 2.

Schwartzkopf said Orville DeFrain, Assistant director of the environmental health division of the health department, would coordinate the clean-up program involving both the private and public sectors of the city.

"This clean-up program is badly needed to remove accumulations of refuse, debris and trash piled up during the long winter," the mayor said.

The first planning meeting for the cleanup is scheduled for April 19 in the mayor's office.

The mayor said one possibility is that the landfill site will extend its normal hours of operation during the clean-up week to accommodate people helping in the project.

Poor City Areas Show No Gains In Employment

Washington (UPI) — Unemployment in poor neighborhoods of the 100 largest U.S. metropolitan areas remained unchanged at an average of nine per cent in the first three months of 1971, the government said Wednesday.

This was well above the 5.8% jobless rate for workers in other neighborhoods of the same areas and the 5.9% unemployment rate for the nation as a whole during the first quarter of the year.

Merger Approved

Washington (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission, by a 4-3 decision, approved the merger of John Hay Whitney's Corinthian Broadcasting Corp. with Dun and Bradstreet, Inc.

Water Pollution Suits Are Filed Against 6 Firms

Washington (UPI) — The Justice department filed criminal charges Wednesday against four Wisconsin companies and civil suits against two others, charging the firms polluted local waterways with hazardous substances.

All the firms — which included two dairies, an auto dealer and three paper-product companies — were charged with violating the 1899 Refuse Act prohibiting the discharge of industrial wastes into navigable waters.

The criminal charges were filed against Wisconsin Dairies Cooperative, Union Center; Genoa Cooperative Creamery, Genoa; Consolidated Papers Inc., Wisconsin River Division, Stevens Point, and Moody Chevrolet and Buick Co., River Falls.

The civil suits named Wasau Paper Mills Co., Brokaw and Ward Paper Co., a division of Arvey Corp., Merrill.

All the actions were filed in U.S. District Court, Madison.

Judge Says Wiretapping Data Usable

Chicago (AP) — A federal judge ruled Wednesday the government has a right to tap telephone conversations and use information so obtained in a trail.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court handed down the ruling in the case of Judith A. Clark of New York, a member of the left-wing Weatherman organization.

Miss Clark, 21, and 11 other alleged Weatherman members are under indictment here on charges of conspiring to cross state lines to incite rioting in Chicago in October 1969.

She is now serving a nine-month jail sentence in the Chicago House of Correction on state charges of mob action and bail jumping.

Judge Hoffman's decision was on a motion of Miss Clark's lawyers that the federal charge be dismissed on grounds that wiretap evidence could prejudice her right to a fair trial.

The government admitted it had tapped her conversations and filed transcripts of them with Judge Hoffman.

Judge Hoffman did not set a date for trial. Only Miss Clark and Linda Sue Evans, 23, of Fort Dodge, Iowa, have been arrested on the federal charges. The other 10 defendants are fugitives.

Meany Accuses Nixon Of Siding With Employers

Washington (AP) — Labor leader George Meany angrily accused the White House Wednesday of siding with steel industry employers in an inflation alert warning against big wage hikes for 450,000 steelworkers.

"They are going into negotiations with the government definitely on the side of the the employer," Meany said of the United Steelworkers' upcoming talks on steel contracts which expire Aug. 1.

"How's that for interfering with collective bargaining?" said Meany, president of the 13.6-million-member AFL-CIO. The Steelworkers is one of the labor federation's largest unions and its talks with the steel industry will be one of this year's major labor-management confrontations.

2 Objects Said Flying Apart At 10 Times Speed Of Light

The New York Times

By WALTER SULLIVAN

Boston — Radio astronomers have observed in distant space what appear to be two objects flying apart at 10 times the speed of light.

Because the laws of physics say such a velocity is impossible, it is suspected that the observation is in some way misleading. Nevertheless, it was described here Wednesday by three teams of astronomers who have independently detected or confirmed the phenomenon.

While they were unable to agree on a plausible explanation, they were virtually unanimous that this celestial observation was one of the most challenging of recent years.

The objects seem to be two components of a quasar known as 3C-279. Quasars are objects that look like stars but show evidence of being extremely distant. They are also powerful emitters of radio waves.

3 Billion Years

In long-exposure photographs taken through the most powerful telescopes, 3C-279 is dimly visible as a single point of light and is generally believed to be so distant that its light has taken three billion years to reach Earth.

If quasars such as this one are indeed so distant they must be generating extraordinary amounts of energy to produce radio and light waves intense enough to be observable at that range.

The estimate of the speed at which the two components of 3C-279 are flying apart assumes they are, in fact, that distant.

The discovery was reported and debated here at symposium at the American Academy of Arts and Sciences on the use of antennas thousands of miles apart to determine the angular width and precise direction of distant radio sources. The technique is known as long baseline interferometry.

Prize To 21

After the symposium the Rumford Premium, America's oldest scientific prize, was given to 21 scientists from American and Canadian observatories who pioneered in development of the method.

What have been detected are two intense and seemingly identical radio sources that together account for about a quarter of the total emission from 3C-279. They were first observed last October, and in February they were found to be moving apart at an extremely high velocity.

In October, antennas on opposite sides of the United States were used to observe the passage of 3C-279 behind the sun. The discovery of its double components was accidental.

As described Wednesday by Dr. Irwin I. Shapiro of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the goal was to settle a long-standing debate as to the precise effect that gravity has upon light and radio waves. Solar gravity would deflect the beam of radio waves from 3C-279 as the waves skirted the sun.

Faded Twice Daily

Between Oct. 1 and 15, some 600 miles of magnetic tape recordings were made and twice each day it was found that the interference pattern faded away, then returned. Clearly this was because the Earth's spin was changing the orientation of the transcontinental baseline between the antennas with respect to the source.

But this effect would be observed only from a pair of wave sources, not just one, and the interval between the two daily "nulls," or times of zero interference, could be used to measure the angular distance between the sources...

The antennas used in the experiment were the haystack Radio Telescope in Massachusetts, operated by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for a consortium of universities, and the Goldstone Antenna in California, which receives television pictures of the Apollo astronauts when they are on the moon and which is operated by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of the California Institute of Technology.

The observing team at the two facilities, for which Shapiro acted as spokesman, consisted of nine scientists from MIT, the Goddard Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory and the University of Maryland.

Tantalizing

So tantalizing was the discovery of celestial twins that this team and a second group decided to repeat the experiment in February, using the same antenna combination.

Those who made the original observation went to work first on correlating their data and discovered that the null points, which were originally 3½ hours apart each day, were now separated by 4½ hours. Twelve days later the separation had grown by five minutes.

According to Shapiro, the rate of motion indicates that the explosive events giving birth to this phenomenon should have been observable on Earth in late 1967. He said that total emissions from 3C-279 rose to a peak in 1966-67 and have subsided since then.

Clean-Up Week To Last April 26 Through May 2

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Wednesday there will be an environmental clean-up week in Lincoln from April 26 to May 2.

Schwartzkopf said Orville DeFrain, Assistant director of the environmental health division of the health department, would coordinate the clean-up program involving both the private and public sectors of the city.

"This clean-up program is badly needed to remove accumulations of refuse, debris and trash piled up during the long winter," the mayor said.

The first planning meeting for the cleanup is scheduled for April 19 in the mayor's office.

The mayor said one possibility is that the landfill site will extend its normal hours of operation during the clean-up week to accommodate people helping in the project.

Poor City Areas Show No Gains In Employment

Washington (UPI) — Unemployment in poor neighborhoods of the 100 largest U.S. metropolitan areas remained unchanged at an average of nine per cent in the first three months of 1971, the government said Wednesday.

This was well above the 5.8% jobless rate for workers in other neighborhoods of the same areas and the 5.9% unemployment rate for the nation as a whole during the first quarter of the year.

Merger Approved

Washington (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission, by a 4-3 decision, approved the merger of John Hay Whitney's Corinthian Broadcasting Corp. with Dun and Bradstreet, Inc.

JEAN CLAUDE DUVALIER

'Papa Doc' Is Not Seen On Balcony

Port Au Prince, Haiti (AP) — President Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier failed to appear Wednesday to review a parade in honor of his 64th birthday, strengthening speculation Haiti's "president for life" is seriously ill.

"The doctors have told him to take a rest," a government spokesman said. The same official denied reports last week Duvalier had suffered a stroke in mid-March and was gravely ill.

Tourism Director Gerard de Catalogne also said last week that Duvalier was "feeling fit" and announced that he would be on hand for the parade.

Instead, Duvalier's son and heir-designated, Jean Claude, appeared on a balcony of the gleaming white national palace.

The rotund, 20-year-old youth was flanked by two army officers, Gen. Claude Raymond and Col. Claude Breton.

The tourist director said Jean's Claude's appearance was only "ceremonial."

The president recently had the Haitian constitution amended to make it possible for his son to take over in case of his disability or death.

Duvalier's daughter, 29-year-old Marie Denise, however, is said to be making day-by-day governmental decisions. She too remained secluded.

The civil suits named Wasau Paper Mills Co., Brokaw and Ward Paper Co., a division of Arvey Corp., Merrill.

All the actions were filed in U.S. District Court, Madison.

The government admitted it had tapped her conversations and filed transcripts of them with Judge Hoffman.

Judge Hoffman did not set a date for trial. Only Miss Clark and Linda Sue Evans, 23, of Fort Dodge, Iowa, have been arrested on the federal charges. The other 10 defendants are fugitives.

Blue Chips Pace Market's Advance

New York (AP) — The stock market demonstrated "a basic underlying resilience" Wednesday as gains in blue chips paced another stock market advance.

"Profit-taking dried up when it was indicated that the market really had no downward momentum," said Monte Gordon, analyst for Bache & Co.

Profit taking, which was to be expected in the light of recent strong market gains, cropped up at midsession Tuesday but dried up by midday Wednesday.

There was a surge in blue chips, with Westinghouse Electric, which reported a record March quarter, helping to boost the Dow Jones Industrial average. Westinghouse closed up 3⅛ at 87 .

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed ahead 5.27 at 932.55. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks gained .20 to 56.97.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 1.1 to 324.9, a new 1971 closing high. Industrials added 2.1, rails gained .4, and utilities advanced .3.

The American Stock exchange's price-change index was ahead .06 at 26.48.

Of the 1,695 issues traded on the Big Board, 804 advanced, and 605 declined. On the Amex, gainers led losers 458 to 436 among 1,745 issues traded.

Big Board volume of 19.44 million shares, compared with turnover of 23.25 million shares Tuesday. On the Amex, 5.68 million shares changed hands, compared with 6.23 million shares traded Tuesday.

Topping the Big Board's active list was Pan American, which closed up ¾ at 19¾ on 261,600 shares.

Closing Big Board prices included:

Chrysler, up 1⅛ at 30¾; Northwest Airlines, ahead 1 to 32½ UAL Inc., up 2½ to 39; Raytheon, down ¼ at 39⅜; American Export Industries, up 1⅜ to 12⅜; and chemical New York, down 2⅜ to 65.

Slaughter Cattle Up At Omaha

Omaha (AP) —Demand was good for top quality cattle at Omaha Wednesday, resulting in a fairly brisk trade on slaughter steers and heifers.

Prices shaped up strong to 25 cents higher, most steers and choice to prime heifers at the full quarter advance.

A paradox of sorts has developed in the trade thus far this week. Moderate to light area marketings — prompted in part by a lack of market-ready cattle in feedlots and the necessity of spring field work — appears to be the only supporting factor in the market's strength.

Omaha unloads were moderate at around 5,000 head, with the percentage of high choice and better cattle in the total consist fairly small.

Locally, a part load of choice to prime around 1,150 lb fed steers drew 34.00, bulk choice 32.25-33.25.

Load choice to prime 1,044 lb heifers topped at 33.10. Bulk choice 31.50-32.75.

Hogs sold steady to 25 cents lower, backing steady to lower quotations at wholesale.

Most 190-240 lb barrows and gilts 16.00-16.75. Sows grouped 14.25-15.00 for 375-650 lb weights.

Spring lambs turned 25 cents higher, topping at 30.75.

Soybeans, Corn, Wheat Advance

Chicago (AP) — Corn, wheat and soybeans futures advanced from 1½ to 2¼ cents a bushel early on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, then gave up most of the gains to late profit taking.

Most of the corn gains, however, were maintained. Oats also closed a little higher.

One reason for the early buying was some optimistic feeling that President Nixon's announcement concerning Red China might contain a reference that agricultural goods would be sold to that country now, with seemingly improved relations in the offing. When the announcement failed to indicate this, profit taking set in and prices tumbled.

At the close, wheat was 2 to 1⅝ cents a bushel lower, May 1.65¼; corn was 1 to 1½ cents higher, May 1.49¾; oats were ¾ to ⅞ higher, May 71¼; and soybeans were ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, May 2.91⅞.

Blue Chips Pace Market's Advance

New York (AP) — The stock market demonstrated "a basic underlying resilience" Wednesday as gains in blue chips paced another stock market advance.

"Profit-taking dried up when it was indicated that the market really had no downward momentum," said Monte Gordon, analyst for Bache & Co.

Profit taking, which was to be expected in the light of recent strong market gains, cropped up at midsession Tuesday but dried up by midday Wednesday.

There was a surge in blue chips, with Westinghouse Electric, which reported a record March quarter, helping to boost the Dow Jones Industrial average. Westinghouse closed up 3⅛ at 87 .

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed ahead 5.27 at 932.55. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks gained .20 to 56.97.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 1.1 to 324.9, a new 1971 closing high. Industrials added 2.1, rails gained .4, and utilities advanced .3.

The American Stock exchange's price-change index was ahead .06 at 26.48.

Of the 1,695 issues traded on the Big Board, 804 advanced, and 605 declined. On the Amex, gainers led losers 458 to 436 among 1,145 issues traded.

Big Board volume of 19.44 million shares, compared with turnover of 23.25 million shares Tuesday. On the Amex, 5.68 million shares changed hands, compared with 6.23 million shares traded Tuesday.

Topping the Big Board's active list was Pan American, which closed up ⅜ at 1⅜ on 261,600 shares.

Closing Big Board prices included: Chrysler, up 1⅛ at 30⅜; Northwest Airlines, ahead 1 to 32½; UAL Inc., up 2½ to 39; Raytheon, down ¼ at 39⅜; American Export Industries, up 1¼ to 12⅜; and chemical New York, down 2⅜ to 65.

Slaughter Cattle Up At Omaha

Omaha (AP) —Demand was good for top quality cattle at Omaha Wednesday, resulting in a fairly brisk trade on slaughter steers and heifers.

Prices shaped up strong to 25 cents higher, most steers and choice to prime heifers at the full quarter advance.

A paradox of sorts has developed in the trade thus far this week. Moderate to light area marketings — prompted in part by a lack of market-ready cattle in feedlots and the necessity of spring field work — appears to be the only supporting factor in the market's strength.

Omaha unloads were moderate at around 5,000 head, with the percentage of high choice and better cattle in the total consist fairly small.

Locally, a part load of choice to prime around 1,150 lb fed steers drew 34.00, bulk choice 32.25-33.25.

Load choice to prime 1,044 lb heifers topped at 33.10. Bulk choice 31.50-32.75.

Hogs sold steady to 25 cents lower, backing steady to lower quotations at wholesale.

Most 190-240 lb barrows and gilts 16.00-16.75. Sows grouped 14.25-15.00 for 375-650 lb weights.

Spring lambs turned 25 cents higher, topping at 30.75.

Soybeans, Corn, Wheat Advance

Chicago (AP) — Corn, wheat and soybeans futures advanced from 1½ to 2¼ cents a bushel early on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, then gave up most of the gains to late profit taking.

Most of the corn gains, however, were maintained. Oats also closed a little higher.

One reason for the early buying was some optimistic feeling that President Nixon's announcement concerning Red China might contain a reference that agricultural goods would be sold to that country now, with seemingly improved relations in the offing. When the announcement failed to indicate this, profit taking set in and prices tumbled.

At the close, wheat was 2 to 1¾ cents a bushel lower, May 1.65¼; corn was 1 to 1½ cents higher, May 1.49¾; oats were ¼ to ⅝ higher, May 71¼; and soybeans were ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, May 2.91⅞.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Love in Paradise: "There was quite a wedding reception in Kailua the other night. The best man got hit over the head with a shotgun. The bride grabbed the gun as it was pointed at her new husband. It fired, putting a hole through the roof . . ."

That's the morning news. Love in bloom among the flowering hibiscus.

We are having Kona coffee and pineapple pancakes on the rich resort beach at Kaanapali. Island of Maui. It's da kine. The best.

A couple of hitchhiker hippies were shot. "They were spreading hippie-titis," said the shooter. He has a Hawaiian name. A record of gun violence. (Not too bright. He read that the beards are hepatitis carriers.)

A resident haole (white) said: "The travel poster picture of Hawaii doesn't show that the Hawaiian is inclined to be a violent person.

"His idols are prize fighters. He gets into pool hall brawls. Dance hall fights. He runs with a gang. Get into a fight with one, you find you're into it with a dozen of his pals."

The Honolulu Advertiser has a reporter looking into the hippie problem. How does the Hawaiian look on the hippies?

"There is finally a haole population on the island that a local kid can beat up without too much community disapproval."

☆ ☆ ☆

It's an airline calender morning at Kaanapali. Blue water. Blue skies. The coco palm leaves streamed out before the trade wind. The coco palm is tall as a three-story building. Curves like a bow bending before the blowing trades. The big nuts hang in green clusters.

For the 750,000 people in the five islands, tourist business is the coconut cream in their Kona coffee. Numbah One. But—

They don't mean the boy with the beard and beads hitchhiking. Sleeping on a warm beach. Picking papaya off a wild tree

The Advertiser says: "There isn't a fruit tree in the islands that doesn't have a traditional owner—a family that has picked fruit from it for generations.

"A lot of complaints about longhairs seem to center about stealing fruit."

"New hotels catering to middle-class tourists are taking up much of the limited beach frontage. It's pretty hard to beat up a hotel. It's not so hard to beat up a hippie."

Our Mainland social problems follow us to the azure islands. The newspaper "gets the feeling that the real conflict in the islands is between two groups of Mainlanders (straights and hippies), with the local people being forced to take a position."

☆ ☆ ☆

This is "straight" country at Kaanapali. Elegant hotels. The water warmed to a temperature approved by the Hawaii Visitors Bureau. Plumeria blossoms shower the ground, exactly as advertised on the promotion literature.

The adman can let these islands write their own folders.

A fourth of Hawaii residents are haoles. "They don't approve of hippies, but they don't interfere." AJAs (Americans of Japanese ancestry) are 29%. "They take the same attitude as the haoles."

Hawaiians number 100,000—really part-Hawaiians. (Only one per cent of the 750,000 is pure Hawaiian.)

The part-Hawaiian may be any mixture. Chinese, Portuguese, American soldier are all mixed into the heritage. He has a Hawaiian name. Looks Hawaiian. Acts Hawaiian. Talks pidgin with his friends.

☆ ☆ ☆

"These are the ones who cross up with the mainland hippies." The way they look statistically: 35% of the relief rolls; 42% of the juvenile arrests; only five per cent are in the high school graduating class.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Thursday

Aries persons, described as natural pioneers, are leaders but usually are seeking someone who can lead them. That is, Aries needs affection, love, more so than perhaps most persons. Aries can appear arrogant, but usually is saying, "Please notice me!" Natives of this sign are drawn to Leo, often marry Libra and can lend spice to almost anyone's life. Some famous persons born under Aries include Marlon Brando, Bette Davis and Gloria Swanson.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be receptive. Enlarge scope of ideas. Refuse to accept unreasonable restrictions. Sagittarius individual can now prove a valuable ally. See beyond the immediate. Plan ahead.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Versatile approach can surmount seemingly perplexing problem. Money is involved. Stick to quality. Don't waste time with one who constantly sings the blues. Maintain optimistic attitude.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Permit mate or business partner to take initiative. Be a careful observer. Check details. Read between the lines. Legal question can be favorably settled. Be diplomatic.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Diligence now pays dividends. Get co-operation of co-workers, associates. Change of routine may prove upsetting to a friend, but revision is necessary. Act accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your feelings dominate logic. That's fine but don't get carried away. You do have to face yourself in the morning. Means give logic a place with impulse

VIRGO (Aug. 23 Sept. 22): You may be drawn in two directions at once. Past commitment coincides with current desire Both are necessary, but have opposite goals. Take time to be analytical You'll get right answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Solidity replaces flimflam; ideas become productive You get backing from person of means. Your emotions stabilize. Relative who opposed you now becomes a staunch ally.

POSTCARD by Stan Kallaplan

Love in Paradise: "There was quite a wedding reception in Kailua the other night. The best man got hit over the head with a shotgun. The bride grabbed the gun as it was pointed at her new husband. It fired, putting a hole through the roof . . ."

That's the morning news. Love in bloom among the flowering hibiscus.

We are having Kona coffee and pineapple pancakes on the rich resort beach at Kaanapali. Island of Maui. It's da kine. The best.

A couple of hitchhiker hippies were shot. "They were spreading hippie-titis," said the shooter. He has a Hawaiian name. A record of gun violence. (Not too bright. He read that the beards are hepatitis carriers.)

A resident haole (white) said: "The travel poster picture of Hawaii doesn't show that the Hawaiian is inclined to be a violent person.

"His idols are prize fighters. He gets into pool hall brawls. Dance hall fights. He runs with a gang. Get into a fight with one, you find you're into it with a dozen of his pals."

The Honolulu Advertiser has a reporter looking into the hippie problem. How does the Hawaiian look on the hippies?

"There is finally a haole population on the island that a local kid can beat up without too much community disapproval."

☆ ☆ ☆

It's an airline calender morning at Kaanapali. Blue water. Blue skies. The coco palm leaves streamed out before the trade wind. The coco palm is tall as a three-story building. Curves like a bow bending before the blowing trades. The big nuts hang in green clusters.

For the 750,000 people in the five islands, tourist business is the coconut cream in their Kona coffee. Numbah One. But—

They don't mean the boy with the beard and beads hitchhiking. Sleeping on a warm beach. Picking papaya off a wild tree.

The Advertiser says: "There isn't a fruit tree in the islands that doesn't have a traditional owner—a family that has picked fruit from it for generations.

"A lot of complaints about longhairs seem to center about stealing fruit."

"New hotels catering to middle-class tourists are taking up much of the limited beach frontage. It's pretty hard to beat up a hotel. It's not so hard to beat up a hippie."

Our Mainland social problems follow us to the azure islands. The newspaper "gets the feeling that the real conflict in the islands is between two groups of Mainlanders (straights and hippies), with the local people being forced to take a position."

☆ ☆ ☆

This is "straight" country at Kaanapali. Elegant hotels. The water warmed to a temperature approved by the Hawaii Visitors Bureau. Plumeria blossoms shower the ground, exactly as advertised on the promotion literature.

The adman can let these islands write their own folders.

A fourth of Hawaii residents are haoles. "They don't approve of hippies, but they don't interfere." AJAs (Americans of Japanese ancestry) are 29%. "They take the same attitude as the haoles."

Hawaiians number 100,000—really part-Hawaiians. (Only one per cent of the 750,000 is pure Hawaiian.)

The part-Hawaiian may be any mixture. Chinese, Portuguese, American soldier are all mixed into the heritage. He has a Hawaiian name. Looks Hawaiian. Acts Hawaiian. Talks pidgin with his friends.

☆ ☆ ☆

"These are the ones who cross up with the mainland hippies." The way they look statistically: 35% of the relief rolls; 42% of the juvenile arrests; only five per cent are in the high school graduating class.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Thursday

Aries persons, described as natural pioneers, are leaders but usually are seeking someone who can lead them. That is, Aries needs affection, love, more so than perhaps most persons. Aries can appear arrogant, but usually is saying, "Please notice me!" Natives of this sign are drawn to Leo, often marry Libra and can lend spice to almost anyone's life. Some famous persons born under Aries include Marlon Brando, Bette Davis and Gloria Swanson.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be receptive. Enlarge scope of ideas. Refuse to accept unreasonable restrictions. Sagittarius individual can now prove a valuable ally. See beyond the immediate. Plan ahead.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Versatile approach can surmount seemingly perplexing problem. Money is involved. Stick to quality. Don't waste time with one who constantly sings the blues. Maintain optimistic attitude.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Permit mate or business partner to take initiative. Be a careful observer. Check details. Read between the lines. Legal question can be favorably settled. Be diplomatic.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Diligence now pays dividends. Get co-operation of co-workers, associates. Change of routine may prove upsetting to a friend, but revision is necessary. Act accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your feelings dominate logic. That's fine but don't get carried away. You do have to face yourself in the morning. Means give logic a place with impulse.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may be drawn in two directions at once. Past commitment coincides with current desire. Both are necessary, but have opposite goals. Take time to be analytical. You'll get right answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Solidity replaces flimflam; ideas become productive. You get backing from person of means. Your emotions stabilize. Relative who opposed you now becomes a staunch ally.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You get reward for long-range effort. Means what you have been waiting for now makes appearance. Appreciate quality. Protect valuables. Realize your own worth. Build self-esteem.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Lunar cycle high; circumstances favor special efforts. Take initiative. Make new starts in new directions. Be willing to give special aid to Aries person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Give special consideration to one who is confined to home, hospital. Co-operate in charitable endeavors. You can gain recognition from group, organization. Be discreet, receptive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Social event dominates. Encourage friendship, romance. Aries and Sagittarius individuals figure prominently. You can go far in fulfillment of hopes, desires.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Break through red tape; go directly to source. Refuse to be discouraged by one of little faith. Leo individual makes emotional plea. Listen and evaluate. Appreciate sincerity.

Backes Has Special Problem

Bill Backes, the basketball coach at the Nebraska Vocational Technical School in Milford, has a special kind of problem.

The school has approved his request to try and field a football team in the fall for the first time in the school's history, but there aren't funds available to purchase enough new equipment for a team.

Backes says the only way he'll be able to fulfill his plan is to receive used equipment through donations or at greatly reduced prices. He reports the student body is enthusiastic about the idea and they understand the money situation.

If Backes is successful in obtaining enough equipment, he wants to play the state college junior varsity teams and possibly Fairbury and McCook Junior Colleges.

Frank, Sr. and Clementine Irions of Park Forest, Ill. brought sons Darrell and Derrick to Lincoln last weekend to see two other Irions sons, Frank, Jr. and Cookie, play for the Nebraska Wesleyan baseball team.

NWU's diamond club has benefited greatly from the talents of Cookie and Frank, Jr., but it seems Darrell and Derrick are equally talented.

Darrell, known as Lucky, is a high school senior and has several schools interested in his basketball abilities. Included in those who are interested are not only Wesleyan coach Dr. Irv Peterson but also Husker coach Joe Cipriano.

Since NWU offers no athletic scholarships, the senior Irions say NU may have top priority but both admitted there is a strong family tradition at Wesleyan.

The other Irions son, Derrick who is known as Candy, in two games on his freshman baseball team has four hits in seven trips to the plate and has stolen eight bases. His parents say he is even better at basketball, so it appears there will be an Irions on Plainsmen athletic teams for several more years.

Chaffee Likes Competition

Coach Harald Chaffee of the NWU golf team may have his best squad in his four years at Wesleyan. So far some returning letterman have been beaten out by freshman and this has created a competitive atmosphere Chaffee thinks is healthy for the team.

Although the Plainsmen lost to Peru State in their first outing, they have won their last two meets from Hastings and Doane. Peru, by the way, was undefeated in dual meets last year and only lost its No. 2 player.

Most persons will agree one big reason Wesleyan has been successful in its track program is hard-working coach Woody Greeno. Another reason is Greeno has been able to recruit dedicated athletes.

A prime example is Andy Aiken, a sophomore from Southeast, who is a member of the talent-laden distance corps at NWU.

When the Plainsmen were on spring break, Aiken went to Crete to run between races and after the Doane College Night Indoor Relays to keep in shape. This was in March and since NWU has no indoor facilities, Doane was the closest Aiken could go to train.

So far the extra training has paid off for Aiken because he has placed in three grueling races this spring.

He won the three-mile in NWU's dual with South Dakota, was sixth in the mile steeplechase at the Kearney State Relays and fifth in an AAU 25-kilometer race at Pioneers Park. In the race at Pioneers, Aiken raced against most of the top amateur runners in this area.

Same Old Baseball Story, But It's Hardly True

. . . UPI COLUMNIST POINTS OUT ERRORS IN CONTENTION BASEBALL IS DYING

By MILTON RICHMAN

New York (UPI) — Spring is officially here.

Baseball is reported to be on its deathbed . . . That's right, again . . . Only this time the awful news comes like it never has before, amply documented with impressive figures and with expert opinions from some of the heavyweight thinkers of our time.

Bearer of the sad tidings this time around is Forbes Magazine.

Forbes undisputably is one of the more influential financial magazines and its accuracy generally leaves little room for question but it bobbled the ball any number of times this trip.

On the cover of its April issue Forbes shows a picture of the kind of baseball you'd be ashamed to let your kid play with. The cover of the ball is ripped, the stitching has long since come apart and some of the yarn already is hanging out.

Only six words are on the magazine cover and those six words say: Baseball — The Beat Up National Sport.

Then when you turn to the feature article inside the heading reads: Who Says Baseball Is Like Ballet? Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, That's Who. Which May Be Why Baseball Is Losing Out As The Great National Sport.

A little further along there's a table listing all the major league clubs and such other information as the key owner of each club, what other business he's in besides baseball, how much of a profit or loss his club showed last year, and any change in the value of his franchise since he acquired it.

There also are opinions pertaining to how long baseball has yet to go from such experts as Thomas Dockerty, a gentleman from Scotland whose real bag is soccer, and Dr. Joyce Brothers, the eminent psychologist who can also tell you what's causing your daughter's pimples.

The only expert really missing is Howard Cosell and I'm a little surprised Forbes didn't check with him because I never feel I have the definitive opinion on anything, especially pertaining to baseball, until I've heard from Howard Cosell.

Thomas Dockerty says flatly, "Baseball will be dead in 20 years," and if the name Thomas Dockerty escapes you maybe it's only because you don't follow soccer that closely. Dockerty came over here from Scotland a few years ago trying to make big-time soccer go in the U.S. You saw how far it went. Before returning to Scotland, Dockerty took time out to make his prediction about baseball. Suddenly he's an expert, too.

But let's look at some of the other things Forbes has to say about that funeral coming up.

Quote: "The grand old game has been groaning, but it really seemed to come apart at the seams last year."

Comment: It sure came apart, all right. Major league baseball drew 28.6-million last year — more than the National Football Conference, the American Football Conference, the National Basketball Association, the American Basketball Association, and the National Hockey League combined.

Quote: "The Louis Harris organization ran a nationwide sports popularity poll last year which showed baseball trailed football in popularity for the second year in a row."

Comment: What about the Sindlinger poll which showed that among all adults in the U.S., baseball still is the No. 1 sport? The exact figures were baseball 27.1, football 24.4, and basketball 6.2. Maybe it depends on what poll you wish to climb.

Quote: "Ewing M. Kaufman, owner of the Kansas City Royals, says 'Anyone would be idiotic to go into baseball as an investment'."

Comment: So how come New Orleans, Dallas, Toronto and Buffalo keep clamoring for a major league baseball franchise? I've met those people and they don't look like idiots to me. Besides, I never heard Ewing Kaufman say he's interested in selling.

Quote: "Where are the heroes? The fans loved Babe Ruth, Bob Feller and Joe DiMaggio. Now team ball dominates."

Comment: I dunno. It seems to me a lot of kids still go ga-ga about such ballplayers as Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Johnny Bench, Brooks Robinson, Carl Yastrzemski, Tom Seaver, Bob Gibson, Frank Robinson and Al Kaline to name only a few. Cesar Cedeno and Nate Colbert keep picking up followers every day, too.

Forbes muffed some others, too, like "promoting" Frank Lucchesi from field manager of the Phillies to general manager and reporting the Houston Astros turned only a $100,000 profit last year when they'll tell you themselves they made $1.5-million.

JACKSON ROCKS TWINS

Two Big Blasts Ignite Oakland

. . . OLD FORM FLICKERS

By Associated Press

Oakland's Reggie Jackson showed a flash of his style as a long-ball threat Wednesday with a pair of tremendous home runs and pitcher Diego Segui joined the act as the A's ripped Minnesota 6-1.

In the day's other games, Baltimore blanked Cleveland 3-0, the New York Yankees dumped Detroit 8-4, Milwaukee clipped the Chicago White Sox 2-0 and San Francisco topped Houston 2-1 in 11 innings. The New York Mets' afternoon game at Montreal was rained out and wet grounds forced postponement of the Chicago Cubs' night game in San Diego.

Jackson, who crashed 47 homers in the 1969 season before slipping to 23 last year, unloaded his first of 1971 in the sixth inning, a 422-foot shot that triggered a five-run uprising climaxed by Segui's three-run 373-footer.

In the next inning Jackson blasted a 437-footer. Segui, meanwhile, held the Twins to five hits until Rich Reese's RBI double in the ninth wrecked the A's bid for a third straight shutout.

Boog Powell's two-run homer was all Mike Cuellar needed as the Orioles' left-hander twirled a four-hitter that snapped the Indians' three-game winning string.

Felipe Alou made his debut with the Yankees a successful one, triggering a four-run fourth with a homer. Horace Clarke, Gene Michaels and winning pitcher Fritz Peterson drove in two runs apiece against the tigers.

Jim Slaton, Marcelino Lopez and Ken Sanders of the Brewers combined for a four-hitter while Tommy Harper and Ted Savage singled in the two runs that beat the White Sox.

Bobby Bonds of the Giants and Bob Watson of the Astros traded early home runs but Tito Fuentes knocked in Frank Johnson with the winning run on a two-out single.

In the night action Philadelphia rallied to beat Pittsburgh 6-5, Washington stunned Boston 6-5, Cincinnati belted Atlanta 8-3 and California ripped Kansas City 4-1.

Singles by Willie Montanez and Deron Johnson and a walk set up Denny Doyle's two-run single that lifted the Phils past the Bucs.

Tim Cullen's two-run single capped a six-run explosion in the seventh that gave the Senators a win over the Red Sox.

The Reds, sweeping their three-game series with the Braves, withstood a pair of homers by Atlanta's Hank Aaron. Losing pitcher Phil Niekro's throwing error and a two-run double by Hal McRae keyed Cincinnati's decisive four-run third.

Tony Gonzalez wielded the Angels' big bat, walloping a three-run double to highlight their four-run seventh that sent the Royals reeling.

In a late night game on the West Coast, St. Louis played Los Angeles.

—NWU BREAKS THREE MARKS—

Plainsmen Shatter Records In Midland College Relays

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Fremont — Records fell in nine of the 15 events here Wednesday night at the 15th annual Midland College Relays.

Nebraska Wesleyan led the parade by accounting for three records while the University of Nebraska at Omaha had two and John F. Kennedy College, Doane, Peru and Hastings each had one. The Plainsmen shattered both meet and school records in the two-mile and sprint medley relays with Kurt Nielsen breaking the high jump standard with a leap of 6-6.

Nielsen broke the meet mark of 6-3¼ set by NWU's Jim Booker in 1965. Nielsen holds the school record of 6-8.

In the two-mile relay NWU coach Woody Greeno did something for the first time — he took out Bob Graham because he wanted Graham to anchor the sprint medley.

Terry Trook, Tom Krejci, Lee Newcomer and Mike Struebing, running in that order, responded to Greeno's change with a sizzling 7:43.1. The time broke the meet standard of 7:51.7 set by UNO in 1964 and the outdoor school mark of 7:43.9 set last year at the Doane College Night Relays.

The overall school record for Wesleyan is 7:39-9, which was set this year at the Astrodome in an indoor meet.

The split on the times for the two-mile relay were 1:56.5 for both Trook and Krejci, 1:57.7 for Newcomer and 1:53.3 for Struebing. The times were the best outdoor for all four runners.

Then came the sprint medley with anchorman Graham making up a 20-yard deficit and finishing a good 40 yards in front of second place Doane. Graham was timed in his lifetime best of 1:52.2.

The time for the team, 3:27.8, broke the meet record of 3:28.6 set by Doane in 1964 and the school record of 3:31.0 set in 1967.

Bob Rutledge led NWU off in the sprint medley with a :22.9 220 with Vonn Roberts running an identical time in the second 220. Then Roger Hurst ran a :49.8 quarter before handing off to Graham.

Other records were established in the 440-yard relay, mile run and the mile relay with new marks also coming in the long jump, triple jump and pole vault.

Doane clocked a :41.8 in the 440 relay to break the record of :42.5 set by Hastings in 1970.

Peru's Jack Weyers, Jay Hagerman and Dave Harris swept the first three places in the mile with Weyers breaking his own meet record of 4:19.2 set last year with a new clocking of 4:11.7.

The mile relay turned out to be one of the night's best with Hastings' George Davis coming from third place to win in the last 220 yards. The Broncos were timed in 3:19.6, which broke the mark of 3:20.8 created by Doane last year.

Lincoln To Host Regional Rodeo

Students from 20 colleges and universities in nine states will battle for top honors in the University of Nebraska's annual rodeo, scheduled for April 23 and 24 at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Contestants from schools in the Great Plains Region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) will represent Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

The NIRA-sanctioned rodeo features events for both cowboys and cowgirls. The top three contestants in each event and the top two teams in each region, as determined at the end of the rodeo season, will be eligible for competition in the finals at Bozeman, Mont., in July.

Brawling Knights Even Series With Blackhawks In Finals

. . . FANS GET INTO ACT

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — When Fred Shero talks, the Omaha Knights respond with goals.

After a scoreless first period, the veteran coach told his players the second stanza would be the determining aspect of the fourth game of the Adams Cup playoff finals in the Central Hockey League Wednesday night.

Omaha then ripped Dallas for two goals while the Blackhawks scored one and then went on to blitz the Texans 2-0 in the third period as the Knights won a 4-1 match to even the best-of-seven series at two games each.

"The breaks just went against us in the first period," Shero said, "we knew that it just couldn't go on all night and I told them we had to beat them in the second period to win."

Morris Stefaniw and Gerry Ouellette added insurance goals in the last period.

"You've got to win a period big to have a chance in the playoffs and that's what we did," said Shero, "McDuffe and Murphy (Mike, who was credited with three assists) played well."

Shero looks at the fifth game which is set at Ak-Sar-Ben ice beginning at 8 p.m. Friday as an all-even affair.

"You've got to say we're all-even now," he added, "you can't quit now and both teams know it — with only possibly three games left in the season, both teams will go all out to win."

Dallas goalie Jim Shaw turned aside 25 shots before 5,427 fans — several of whom tried to get into the action on the ice. Omaha policemen were forced to wrestle two spectators from the arena after they tried to leap over the boards and join in the scuffles between the players.

Three steel folding chairs were tossed on the ice during a late third period dispute between Murphy and J. P. Leblanc which resulted in two five-minute major fighting penalties. In all, 14 penalties were assessed against the two clubs — eight against Omaha.

Tickets for the fifth game may be obtained by telephone from the Knights' office. Business manager Curt Gordon said a limited supply are available.

Pettes Leads Decathlon During Kansas Relays

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Andrew Pettes, two-sport star from the University of Oklahoma, held a narrow lead after the first five events of the Kansas Relays decathlon Wednesday.

Pettes, who doubles in basketball, had 3,857 points at the halfway mark in the two-day event.

Gary Hill, Oklahoma Christian, was second with 3,647.

Pettes had the best performances of the day in the long jump, 22 feet 2¼ inches, and the 400-meter run, 48.3 seconds, and tied with Hill for the top mark in the 100-meter dash, 10.8.

Bruce Jenner, Graceland College, had the best shotput, 45.2¼, Don Allbritton, Northeast Missouri State, was tops in the high jump at 6-10¼.

Hill finished third in the decathlon here last year, and Pettes fourth when it was an open event. This year only collegiate and university performers are competing. This ruled out Jeff Bennett, formerly of Oklahoma Christian, who won in 1970 with a record 7,704 points.

Following Pettes and Hill at the end of five events were Allbritton, 3,609; Jenner, 3,564; Larry Reineke, Kansas, 3,500; Barry Schur, Kansas, 3,442; and Marc Harris, Kansas, 3,431.

Doug Underwood, Kansas, withdrew after three events.

100-meter dash—1, Andrew Pettes, Oklahoma, :10.8, 853; 2, Gary Hill, Oklahoma Christian, :10.8, 853; 3, Don Allbritton, Northeast Missouri, :11.0, 804; 4, Larry Reinke, Kansas, :11.0, 804; 5, Marc Harris, Kansas, :11.2, 756; 6, Bruce Jenner, Graceland, :11.4, 710; 7, Doug Underwood, Kansas, :11.4, 710; 8, Barry Schur, Kansas :11.5, 687.

Long jump—1, Pettes, 22-2¼, 770; 2, Hill 21-10½, 751; 3, Harris, 21-9⅛, 742; 4, Underwood, 21-3⅝, 712; 5, Allbritton, 21-1½, 701; Jenner, 21-0, 693; 7, Reineke, 20-9⅛, 680; 8, Schur, 20-6⅛, 660.

High jump—1, Allbritton, 6-10¼, 934; 2, Reineke, 6-7½, 874; 3, Schur, 6-6, 840; 4, Pettes, 6-4, 796; 5, Jenner, 6-0, 707; 6, Harris, 6-0, 707; 7, Hill, 5-9, 634; 8, Underwood withdrew.

400-meter dash—1, Pettes, :48.3, 884; 2, Hill, :49.8, 814; 3, Jenner, :51.5, 740; 4, Harris, :52.3, 707; 5, Schur, :54.2, 633; 6, Reineke, :54.9, 607; 7, Allbritton, :55.5, 564

Total after five events—1, Pettes, 3,857; 2, Hill, 3,647; 3, Allbritton, 3,609; 4, Jenner 3,564; 5, Reineke, 3,500; 6, Schur, 3,442; 7, Harris, 3,431.

JFK Takes Pair From Wesleyan

Wahoo — John F. Kennedy College, behind stout pitching performances in both games, swept a twin bill from Nebraska Wesleyan Wednesday, taking the first, 8-1 and the second, 2-0.

Wesleyan could manage only six hits for the day — two in the shutout contest and four in the other till.

In the opener, coach Bob Cerv's club combined five basehits and two Plainsmen errors for six runs in the second frame to ice the decision.

Glorioso Arrives At Fonner

Grand Island — Glorioso has arrived in Grand Island for his appearance in the Nebraska Derby to be run Saturday at Fonner Park.

The chestnut colt is owned by Ken Opstein of South Sioux City and Los Angeles.

His trainer, Monte Sims, will fly into Grand Island today to put Glorioso through his final training moves for the important local 3-year-old stake, which should gross nearly $10,000.

The son of The Pie King and Mylitta by My Host has been racing at Florida's Gulfstream and Hialeah parks. Glorioso did not win in Florida, but turned in two very good efforts to mark himself fit for the Nebraska Derby.

Carl Stones, his groom, said the Opstein 3-year-old shipped very well on the long trip and is in fine fettle.

Glorioso won three races as a 2-year-old. His first win came during the Ak-Sar-Ben meeting, then he added two more wins to his record at Detroit's Hazel Park.

The nation's leading trainer, Jack VanBerg, refused to commit himself as to which of his chargers he would bring in for the derby. His father, Marion H. Van Berg, named Mr. Bum Bum, Road Man, and Joy Prince to the stake. He merely said, "I will have one of them there.

Other possible starters in the 1971 renewal of the Nebraska Derby are O K Farms' Navareigh, D. F. Clugston's and R. E. Ekwall's Miss Spy Song, T. C. Evans' Lincoln's Miss, Barton H. Ford's Noble Nova, W. A. Morris' Swinging Lisa C. W. Renstrom's Poster Painter, and Guy Rorick's Pepper Man.

Miss Spy Song recently won the Grand Island Elks' Handicap at Fonner Park. The triumph gave the daughter of Polly's Jet a record of eight wins in only 12 starts in her career.

Backes Has Special Problem

Bill Backes, the basketball coach at the Nebraska Vocational Technical School in Milford, has a special kind of problem.

The school has approved his request to try and field a football team in the fall for the first time in the school's history, but there aren't funds available to purchase enough new equipment for a team.

Backes says the only way he'll be able to fulfill his plan is to receive used equipment through donations or at greatly reduced prices. He reports the student body is enthusiastic about the idea and they understand the money situation.

If Backes is successful in obtaining enough equipment, he wants to play the state college junior varsity teams and possibly Fairbury and McCook Junior Colleges.

Frank, Sr. and Clementine Irions of Park Forest, Ill. brought sons Darrell and Derrick to Lincoln last weekend to see two other Irions sons, Frank, Jr. and Cookie, play for the Nebraska Wesleyan baseball team.

NWU's diamond club has benefited greatly from the talents of Cookie and Frank, Jr., but it seems Darrell and Derrick are equally talented.

Darrell, known as Lucky, is a high school senior and has several schools interested in his basketball abilities. Included in those who are interested are not only Wesleyan coach Dr. Irv Peterson but also Husker coach Joe Cipriano.

Since NWU offers no athletic scholarships, the senior Irions say NU may have top priority but both admitted there is a strong family tradition at Wesleyan.

The other Irions son, Derrick who is known as Candy, in two games on his freshman baseball team has four hits in seven trips to the plate and has stolen eight bases. His parents say he is even better at basketball, so it appears there will be an Irions on Plainsmen athletic teams for several more year.s

Chaffee Likes Competition

Coach Harald Chaffee of the NWU golf team may have his best squad in his four years at Wesleyan. So far some returning letterman have been beaten out by freshman and this has created a competitive atmosphere Chaffee thinks is healthy for the team.

Although the Plainsmen lost to Peru State in their first outing, they have won their last two meets from Hastings and Doane. Peru, by the way, was undefeated in dual meets last year and only lost its No. 2 player.

Most persons will agree one big reason Wesleyan has been successful in its track program is hard-working coach Woody Greeno. Another reason is Greeno has been able to recruit dedicated athletes.

A prime example is Andy Aiken, a sophomore from Southeast, who is a member of the talent-laden distance corps at NWU.

When the Plainsmen were on spring break, Aiken went to Crete to run between races and after the Doane College Night Indoor Relays to keep in shape. This was in March and since NWU has no indoor facilities, Doane was the closest Aiken could go to train.

So far the extra training has paid off for Aiken because he has placed in three grueling races this spring.

He won the three-mile in NWU's dual with South Dakota, was sixth in the mile steeplechase at the Kearney State Relays and fifth in an AAU 25-kilometer race at Pioneers Park. In the race at Pioneers, Aiken raced against most of the top amateur runners in this area.

Same Old Baseball Story, But It's Hardly True

. . . UPI COLUMNIST POINTS OUT ERRORS IN CONTENTION BASEBALL IS DYING

By MILTON RICHMAN

New York (UPI) — Spring is officially here.

Baseball is reported to be on its deathbed . . . That's right, again . . . Only this time the awful news comes like it never has before, amply documented with impressive figures and with expert opinions from some of the heavyweight thinkers of our time.

Bearer of the sad tidings this time around is Forbes Magazine.

Forbes undisputably is one of the more influential financial magazines and its accuracy generally leaves little room for question but it bobbled the ball any number of times this trip.

On the cover of its April issue Forbes shows a picture of the kind of baseball you'd be ashamed to let your kid play with. The cover of the ball is ripped, the stitching has long since come apart and some of the yarn already is hanging out.

Only six words are on the magazine cover and those six words say: Baseball — The Beat Up National Sport.

Then when you turn to the feature article inside the heading reads: Who Says Baseball Is Like Ballet? Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, That's Who. Which May Be Why Baseball Is Losing Out As The Great National Sport.

A little further along there's a table listing all the major league clubs and such other information as the key owner of each club, what other business he's in besides baseball, how much of a profit or loss his club showed last year, and any change in the value of his franchise since he acquired it.

There also are opinions pertaining to how long baseball has yet to go from such experts as Thomas Dockerty, a gentleman from Scotland whose real bag is soccer, and Dr. Joyce Brothers, the eminent psychologist who can also tell you what's causing your daughter's pimples.

The only expert really missing is Howard Cosell and I'm a little surprised Forbes didn't check with him because I never feel I have the definitive opinion on anything, especially pertaining to baseball, until I've heard from Howard Cosell.

Thomas Dockerty says flatly, "Baseball will be dead in 20 years," and if the name Thomas Dockerty escapes you maybe it's only because you don't follow soccer that closely. Dockerty came over here from Scotland a few years ago trying to make big-time soccer go in the U.S. You saw how far it went. Before returning to Scotland, Dockerty took time out to make his prediction about baseball. Suddenly he's an expert, too.

But let's look at some of the other things Forbes has to say about that funeral coming up.

Quote: "The grand old game has been groaning, but it really seemed to come apart at the seams last year."

Comment: It sure came apart, all right. Major league baseball drew 28.6-million last year — more than the National Football Conference, the American Football Conference, the National Basketball Association, the American Basketball Association, and the National Hockey League combined.

Quote: "The Louis Harris organization ran a nationwide sports popularity poll last year which showed baseball trailed football in popularity for the second year in a row."

Comment: What about the Sindlinger poll which showed that among all adults in the U.S., baseball still is the No. 1 sport? The exact figures were baseball 27.1, football 24.4, and basketball 6.2. Maybe it depends on what poll you wish to climb.

Quote: "Ewing M. Kaufman, owner of the Kansas City Royals, says 'Anyone would be idiotic to go into baseball as an investment'."

Comment: So how come New Orleans, Dallas, Toronto and Buffalo keep clamoring for a major league baseball franchise? I've met those people and they don't look like idiots to me. Besides, I never heard Ewing Kaufman say he's interested in selling.

Quote: "Where are the heroes? The fans loved Babe Ruth, Bob Feller and Joe DiMaggio. Now team ball dominates."

Comment: I dunno. It seems to me a lot of kids still go ga-ga about such ballplayers as Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Johnny Bench, Brooks Robinson, Carl Yastrzemski, Tom Seaver, Bob Gibson, Frank Robinson and Al Kaline to name only a few. Cesar Cedeno and Nate Colbert keep picking up followers every day, too.

Forbes muffed some others, too, like "promoting" Frank Lucchesi from field manager of the Phillies to general manager and reporting the Houston Astros turned only a $100,000 profit last year when they'll tell you themselves they made $1.5-million.

JACKSON ROCKS TWINS

Two Big Blasts Ignite Oakland

. . . OLD FORM FLICKERS

By Associated Press

Oakland's Reggie Jackson showed a flash of his style as a long-ball threat Wednesday with a pair of tremendous home runs and pitcher Diego Segui joined the act as the A's ripped Minnesota 6-1.

In the day's other games, Baltimore blanked Cleveland 3-0, the New York Yankees dumped Detroit 8-4, Milwaukee clipped the Chicago White Sox 2-0 and San Francisco topped Houston 2-1 in 11 innings. The New York Mets' afternoon game at Montreal was rained out and wet grounds forced postponement of the Chicago Cubs' night game in San Diego.

Jackson, who crashed 47 homers in the 1969 season before slipping to 23 last year, unloaded his first of 1971 in the sixth inning, a 422-foot shot that triggered a five-run uprising climaxed by Segui's three-run 373-footer.

In the next inning Jackson blasted a 437-footer. Segui, meanwhile, held the Twins to five hits until Rich Reese's RBI double in the ninth wrecked the A's bid for a third straight shutout.

Boog Powell's two-run homer was all Mike Cuellar needed as the Orioles' left-hander twirled a four-hitter that snapped the Indians' three-game winning string.

Felipe Alou made his debut with the Yankees a successful one, triggering a four-run fourth with a homer. Horace Clarke, Gene Michaels and winning pitcher Fritz Peterson drove in two runs apiece against the tigers.

Jim Slaton, Marcelino Lopez and Ken Sanders of the Brewers combined for a four-hitter while Tommy Harper and Ted Savage singled in the two runs that beat the White Sox.

Bobby Bonds of the Giants and Bob Watson of the Astros traded early home runs but Tito Fuentes knocked in Frank Johnson with the winning run on a two-out single.

In the night action Philadelphia rallied to beat Pittsburgh 6-5, Washington stunned Boston 6-5, Cincinnati belted Atlanta 8-3 and California ripped Kansas City 4-1.

Singles by Willie Montanez and Deron Johnson and a walk set up Denny Doyle's two-run single that lifted the Phils past the Bucs.

Tim Cullen's two-run single capped a six-run explosion in the seventh that gave the Senators a win over the Red Sox.

The Reds, sweeping their three-game series with the Braves, withstood a pair of homers by Atlanta's Hank Aaron. Losing pitcher Phil Niekro's throwing error and a two-run double by Hal McRae keyed Cincinnati's decisive four-run third.

Tony Gonzalez wielded the Angels' big bat, walloping a three-run double to highlight their four-run seventh that sent the Royals reeling.

In a late night game on the West Coast, St. Louis played Los Angeles.

—NWU BREAKS THREE MARKS—

Plainsmen Shatter Records In Midland College Relays

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Fremont — Records fell in nine of the 15 events here Wednesday night at the 15th annual Midland College Relays.

Nebraska Wesleyan led the parade by accounting for three records while the University of Nebraska at Omaha had two and John F. Kennedy College, Doane, Peru and Hastings each had one. The Plainsmen shattered both meet and school records in the two-mile and sprint medley relays with Kurt Nielsen breaking the high jump standard with a leap of 6-6.

Nielsen broke the meet mark of 6-3¼ set by NWU's Jim Booker in 1965. Nielsen holds the school record of 6-8.

In the two-mile relay NWU coach Woody Greeno did something for the first time — he took out Bob Graham because he wanted Graham to anchor the sprint medley.

Terry Trook, Tom Krejci, Lee Newcomer and Mike Struebing, running in that order, responded to Greeno's change with a sizzling 7:43.1. The time broke the meet standard of 7:51.7 set by UNO in 1964 and the outdoor school mark of 7:43.9 set last year at the Doane College Night Relays.

The overall school record for Wesleyan is 7:39-9, which was set this year at the Astrodome in an indoor meet.

The split on the times for the two-mile relay were 1:56.5 for both Trook and Krejci, 1:57.7 for Newcomer and 1:53.3 for Struebing. The times were the best outdoor for all four runners.

Then came the sprint medley with anchorman Graham making up a 20-yard deficit and finishing a good 40 yards in front of second place Doane. Graham was timed in his lifetime best of 1:52.2.

The time for the team, 3:27.8, broke the meet record of 3:28.6 set by Doane in 1964 and the school record of 3:31.0 set in 1967.

Bob Rutledge led NWU off in the sprint medley with a :22.9 220 with Vonn Roberts running an identical time in the second 220. Then Roger Hurst ran a :49.8 quarter before handing off to Graham.

Other records were established in the 440-yard relay, mile run and the mile relay with new marks also coming in the long jump, triple jump and pole vault.

Doane clocked a :41.8 in the 440 relay to break the record of :42.5 set by Hastings in 1970.

Peru's Jack Weyers, Jay Hagerman and Dave Harris swept the first three places in the mile with Weyers breaking his own meet record of 4:19.2 set last year with a new clocking of 4:11.7.

The mile relay turned out to be one of the night's best with Hastings' George Davis coming from third place to win in the last 220 yards. The Broncos were timed in 3:19.6, which broke the mark of 3:20.8 created by Doane last year.

Lincoln To Host Regional Rodeo

Students from 20 colleges and universities in nine states will battle for top honors in the University of Nebraska's annual rodeo, scheduled for April 23 and 24 at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Contestants from schools in the Great Plains Region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) will represent Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

The NIRA-sanctioned rodeo features events for both cowboys and cowgirls. The top three contestants in each event and the top two teams in each region, as determined at the end of the rodeo season, will be eligible for competition in the finals at Bozeman, Mont., in July.

Brawling Knights Even Series With Blackhawks In Finals

. . . FANS GET INTO ACT

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — When Fred Shero talks, the Omaha Knights respond with goals.

After a scoreless first period, the veteran coach told his players the second stanza would be the determining aspect of the fourth game of the Adams Cup playoff finals in the Central Hockey League Wednesday night.

Omaha then ripped Dallas for two goals while the Blackhawks scored one and then went on to blitz the Texans 2-0 in the third period as the Knights won a 4-1 match to even the best-of-seven series at two games each.

"The breaks just went against us in the first period," Shero said, "we knew that it just couldn't go on all night and I told them we had to beat them in the second period to win."

The Blackhawks opened the scoring as Darryl Maggs streaked down the left side and blasted a drive past Knight goalie Peter McDuffe who kicked away 22 shots in the game. But Omaha, which received goals from four different shooters, took the lead for good when Gary Coalter scored at 11:22 and Gordon Kannegiesser connected with the winner at 17:30 of the period.

Morris Stefaniw and Gerry Ouellette added insurance goals in the last period.

"You've got to win a period big to have a chance in the playoffs and that's what we did," said Shero, "McDuffe and Murphy (Mike, who was credited with three assists) played well."

Shero looks at the fifth game which is set at Ak-Sar-Ben ice beginning at 8 p.m. Friday as an all-even affair.

"You've got to say we're all-even now," he added, "you can't quit now and both teams know it — with only possibly three games left in the season, both teams will go all out to win."

Dallas goalie Jim Shaw turned aside 25 shots before 5,427 fans — several of whom tried to get into the action on the ice. Omaha policemen were forced to wrestle two spectators from the arena after they tried to leap over the boards and join in the scuffles between the players.

Three steel folding chairs were tossed on the ice during a late third period dispute between Murphy and J. P. Leblane which resulted in two five-minute major fighting penalties. In all, 14 penalties were assessed against the two clubs — eight against Omaha.

Tickets for the fifth game may be obtained by telephone from the Knights' office. Business manager Curt Gordon said a limited supply are available.

Pettes Leads Decathlon During Kansas Relays

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Andrew Pettes, two-sport star from the University of Oklahoma, held a narrow lead after the first five events of the Kansas Relays decathlon Wednesday.

Pettes, who doubles in basketball, had 3,857 points at the halfway mark in the two-day event.

Gary Hill, Oklahoma Christian, was second with 3,647.

Pettes had the best performances of the day in the long jump, 22 feet 2¼ inches, and the 400-meter run, 48.3 seconds, and tied with Hill for the top mark in the 100-meter dash, 10.8.

Bruce Jenner, Graceland College, had the best shotput, 45.2¼, Don Allbritton, Northeast Missouri State, was tops in the high jump at 6-10¼.

Hill finished third in the decathlon here last year, and Pettes fourth when it was an open event. This year only collegiate and university performers are competing. This ruled out Jeff Bennett, formerly of Oklahoma Christian, who won in 1970 with a record 7,704 points.

Following Pettes and Hill at the end of five events were Allbritton, 3,609; Jenner, 3,564; Larry Reineke, Kansas, 3,500; Barry Schur, Kansas, 3,442; and Marc Harris, Kansas, 3,431.

Doug Underwood, Kansas, withdrew after three events.

JFK Takes Pair From Wesleyan

Wahoo — John F. Kennedy College, behind stout pitching performances in both games, swept a twin bill from Nebraska Wesleyan Wednesday, taking the first, 8-1 and the second, 2-0.

Wesleyan could manage only six hits for the day — two in the shutout contest and four in the other tilt.

In the opener, coach Bob Cerv's club combined five basehits and two Plainsmen errors for six runs in the second frame to ice the decision.

Johnson-Brock Takes Mudecas Track Title

. . . PALMYRA GIRLS GAIN ANOTHER CROWN

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Crete — Johnson-Brock, behind a double win by Phil Eads in the 440 and triple jump, captured the boys division championship at the Mudecas Conference track and field meet on the Doane College oval here Wednesday.

Palmyra, though recording just one first-place finish, used balance and depth to successfully defend its girls division title.

Jim Teten picked up a third individual crown for Johnson-Brock in the boys action by winning the long jump. He and Eads were the busiest competitors for the victors.

Eads was fourth in both the long jump and 220 in addition to his two triumphs, while Teten took third in both the 100 and triple jump in addition to his long jump win.

Gary Bowne of Adams led the way as four new records were set by the boys. Bowne skipped over both the low and high hurdles in record times, Sterling's Bob Albrecht established a new pole vault mark, and Eads' triple jump distance became the standard as a newly added event.

In addition to Eads there were three other double winners. Albrecht also captured the high jump, while Bruce Irland of Palmyra won both the shot put and discus and Glen Conradi of Sterling swept the two dash events.

The girls broke five records and tied a sixth. The most outstanding effort came from Lewiston's Joan Ruzicka who spun the discus 98-4½, the third best mark in the state this season.

Other new records were set by Cindy Pope of Table Rock in the 440, Vicki Seeba of Nemaha Valley in the hurdles, Barneston's Judy Leseburg in the high jump and Elaine Knipplemeyer of Elk Creek in the shot put.

Barb Lawson of Elmwood tied the existing record in the 50-yard dash.

Miss Seeba was one of two individual double winners. In addition to setting the hurdle record she captured the long jump, while Rita Steinkuhler of Douglas sped to victory in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Johnson-Brock Takes Mudecas Track Title

. . . PALMYRA GIRLS GAIN ANOTHER CROWN

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Crete — Johnson-Brock, behind a double win by Phil Eads in the 440 and triple jump, captured the boys division championship at the Mudecas Conference track and field meet on the Doane College oval here Wednesday.

Palmyra, though recording just one first-place finish, used balance and depth to successfully defend its girls division title.

Jim Teten picked up a third individual crown for Johnson-Brock in the boys action by winning the long jump. He and Eads were the busiest competitors for the victors.

Eads was fourth in both the long jump and 220 in addition to his two triumphs, while Teten took third in both the 100 and triple jump in addition to his long jump win.

Gary Bowne of Adams led the way as four new records were set by the boys. Bowne skipped over both the low and high hurdles in record times, Sterling's Bob Albrecht established a new pole vault mark, and Eads' triple jump distance became the standard as a newly added event.

In addition to Eads there were three other double winners. Albrecht also captured the high jump, while Bruce Irland of Palmyra won both the shot put and discus and Glen Conradi of Sterling swept the two dash events.

The girls broke five records and tied a sixth. The most outstanding effort came from Lewiston's Joan Ruzicka who spun the discus 98-4¼, the third best mark in the state this season.

Other new records were set by Cindy Pope of Table Rock in the 440, Vicki Seeba of Nemaha Valley in the hurdles, Barneston's Judy Leseburg in the high jump and Elaine Knipplemeyer of Elk Creek in the shot put.

Barb Lawson of Elmwood tied the existing record in the 50-yard dash.

Miss Seeba was one of two individual double winners. In addition to setting the hurdle record she captured the long jump, while Rita Steinkuhler of Douglas sped to victory in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Northeast Bombs Southeast, 15-4

The Northeast Rockets, behind the pitching of sophomore Bob Sampson and the power-hitting of Mike Reid, dumped the Southeast Knights, 15-4, in a baseball game Wednesday.

Sampson gave up seven hits in as many innings to boost his record to 1-

Aurora Gets Aid For Developing New City Park

Approval for a federal grant in aid has been given the state to assist the City of Aurora in acquiring and developing land for a city park, according to Willard R. Barbee, director of the Game and Parks Commission.

Federal money from the Land and Water Conservation Fund will cover half of the estimated $33,000 cost, while state funds will pay another 25 percent. Aurora will pay the remaining costs.

The project consists of acquisition of seven acres of land at the south edge of the city, adjacent to Nebraska Highway 14, and developing it with a baseball field, restrooms, interior roads, parking lots, and picnic and playground facilities.

Colorado Blacks Boycott Spring Football Drills

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — All but one of the black players on the University of Colorado football team are boycotting spring practice sessions, an unidentified team member said Tuesday.

Athletic director Eddie Crowder declined to comment on the boycott Monday, saying only that there had been "a misunderstanding."

When asked to elaborate he replied, "No comment. I will not discuss it at this time."

The black player who confirmed the boycott refused to give any details.

"I don't want to say what the problem is. We're not practicing, but we've tried to function in a way that it could be solved."

Asked if the athletes had a spokesman, the player said, "No one person is leading anything. We're a group."

KSC's Zikmund Will Watch 88 In Spring Drills

Kearney (UPI) — Coach Allen Zikmund has invited 88 players, including 61 from last fall's squad, to spring football drills at Kearney State College.

Several of the 27 new men were on the freshman squad last fall, while the remainder are transfer and-or veterans returning to college after duty in the armed forces.

Spring drills normally are set for mid-March, but bad weather forced postponement this year until after the spring break.

Prelim Matches For Pro Card Added At Omaha

Omaha (UPI) — A pair of six round preliminary bouts have been added to the professional boxing card April 23 at the Omaha Civic Auditorium.

Unbeaten lightweight Dale Hernandez of Omaha will go against Milwaukee's Jimmy Morton over six rounds. Hernandez is undefeated in seven pro fights. His last win was a bruising decision over Fred Jiminiz of St. Paul.

In another six rounder, former Alaskan middleweight champion Gene Coon will fight Stanley Moore of Milwaukee. Coon, now stationed at Offutt Air Force Base, scored an impressive knockout win in his only previous Omaha appearance.

Heavyweights Ron Stander of Council Bluffs and Thad Spencer of Portland, Ore., will meet in the ten round main event on the same night. Stander will risk his mark of 15-0-1 against Spencer, who boasts an impressive list of victims.

Concordia, KSC Split Twin Bill

Seward (UPI) — Concordia Teachers College and Kearney State College Wednesday afternoon traded baseball victories in a doubleheader here.

Concordia took the opener, 8-7, and Kearney won the nightcap, 8-3.

Aurora Gets Aid For Developing New City Park

Approval for a federal grant in aid has been given the state to assist the City of Aurora in acquiring and developing land for a city park, according to Willard R. Barbee, director of the Game and Parks Commission.

Federal money from the Land and Water Conservation Fund will cover half of the estimated $33,000 cost, while state funds will pay another 25 percent. Aurora will pay the remaining costs.

The project consists of acquisition of seven acres of land at the south edge of the city, adjacent to Nebraska Highway 14, and developing it with a baseball field, restrooms, interior roads, parking lots, and picnic and playground facilities.

Colorado Blacks Boycott Spring Football Drills

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — All but one of the black players on the University of Colorado football team are boycotting spring practice sessions, an unidentified team member said Tuesday.

Athletic director Eddie Crowder declined to comment on the boycott Monday, saying only that there had been "a misunderstanding."

When asked to elaborate he replied, "No comment. I will not discuss it at this time."

The black player who confirmed the boycott refused to give any details.

"I don't want to say what the problem is. We're not practicing, but we've tried to function in a way that it could be solved."

Asked if the athletes had a spokesman, the player said, "No one person is leading anything. We're a group."

KSC's Zikmund Will Watch 88 In Spring Drills

Kearney (UPI) — Coach Allen Zikmund has invited 88 players, including 61 from last fall's squad, to spring football drills at Kearney State College.

Several of the 27 new men were on the freshman squad last fall, while the remainder are transfer and-or veterans returning to college after duty in the armed forces.

Spring drills normally are set for mid-March, but bad weather forced postponement this year until after the spring break.

Prelim Matches For Pro Card Added At Omaha

Omaha (UPI) — A pair of six round preliminary bouts have been added to the professional boxing card April 23 at the Omaha Civic Auditorium.

Unbeaten lightweight Dale Hernandez of Omaha will go against Milwaukee's Jimmy Morton over six rounds. Hernandez is undefeated in seven pro fights. His last win was a bruising decision over Fred Jiminiz of St. Paul.

In another six rounder, former Alaskan middleweight champion Gene Coon will fight Stanley Moore of Milwaukee. Coon, now stationed at Offutt Air Force Base, scored an impressive knockout win in his only previous Omaha appearance.

Heavyweights Ron Stander of Council Bluffs and Thad Spencer of Portland, Ore., will meet in the ten round main event on the same night. Stander will risk his mark of 15-0-1 against Spencer, who boasts an impressive list of victims.

Concordia, KSC Split Twin Bill

Seward (UPI) — Concordia Teachers College and Kearney State College Wednesday afternoon traded baseball victories in a doubleheader here.

Concordia took the opener, 8-7, and Kearney won the nightcap, 8-3.

Poll: 64% Feel Taxes Have Hit Breaking Point

By LOUIS HARRIS

A substantial 64% of the American people feel that "taxes have reached the breaking point"—up from 60% last year and 54% in 1969. By a 66-27% margin, the public says that federal income taxes are simply "too high."

Nearly seven out of 10 Americans could sympathize with a "taxpayer's revolt" where "people would refuse to pay any more taxes unless taxes and spending were reduced."

The list of taxpayer grievances covers a wide range of ground:

—By an overwhelming 85% to 10%, the public agrees with the statement that "politicians promise tax relief before an election and then do nothing about it when elected."

—By 82% to 14%, it agrees that "the big tax burden falls on the little man in this country today."

—By 76% to 15%, it feels that "too much tax money is given to people who don't appreciate it."

—By 71% to 21%, it believes that "too much tax money is going into wars and defense."

—By 67% to 23%, it says "I resent the way my money is being spent by the government."

—By 58% to 36%, it reports "my standard of living has been hurt by high taxes."

LOUIS HARRIS

Sympathize With Revolt

So deep is the alienation over taxes that when asked directly whether they could foresee a time when they would sympathize with a "taxpayer's revolt" 69% answered in the affirmative. A cross section of 1,529 households was asked in late March:

"Can you foresee the time when taxes in this country would reach the point where you would sympathize with a taxpayer's revolt where people would refuse to pay any more taxes unless taxes and spending were reduced or don't you think you would sympathize with it?"

TAXPAYER'S REVOLT

	Total Public
Would sympathize	60%
Not sympathize	17%
Not Sure	14%

A measure of the growing intensity of feeling about taxes can be obtained by comparing the current lopsided 69-17% majority who might sympathize with a taxpayer revolt with a 43-41% result on a simular question only two years ago.

Of course a generalized expression of sympathy for such a revolt is not necesarily indicative of the actual numbers who might refuse to pay their taxes in future years. But there is little doubt that the temper of the times is reflected in these public attitudes toward taxation.

Two key targets of taxpayer resentment are spending on the war in Vietnam and for welfare. The public sees both as prime targets for potential budget cutting.

Crisis Of Confidence

But beyond these two popular candidates for reduced government spending is a general crisis of confidence over whether the public is getting its money's worth for its tax dollars. When the Harris Survey asked this specific question, two out of three replied in the negative.

Confidence in government has reached a low point over the past four or five years. The public no longer looks to the government as a credible agent for generating solutions to the problems which beset them. The prevailing mood of New Deal days, when sizable majorities of the public believed that government could accomplish anything, has now reversed almost 180 degrees.

There is another more personal dimension which also feeds a public sense of doubt, distrust, and reluctance over paying taxes on this April 15.

Proponents of the "new economics" view taxes as a leverage instrument to help control either inflation or deflation. In times of rising prices, the argument goes, taxes should be raised as a way of cutting consumer demand which heats up price pressures. In times of deflation, a tax cut will restimulate consumer spending and create economic expansion.

One More Drain

During the recent period of inflation, however, the public has regarded rising taxes as simply one more drain on hard-pressed pocketbooks. Tax cuts that stimulate consumer spending are more popular.

To the public, taxes are perceived as one more personal expense rather than as an instrument for guiding an economy beneficial to all.

That is why when asked if taxes had "reached the breaking point" the trend in 1971 has been up.

"As far as you and your family are concerned, do you feel you have reached the breaking point on the amount of taxes you pay, or not?"

NWU Tax To Help Needy Students

Nebraska Wesleyan University students have launched a student scholarship tax, which was endorsed at a general student election by a 203 for to 167 against vote.

The plan, which earlier won approval from the Student Affairs Senate, calls for each full-time student to pay $2.50 per semester to provide minority group student scholarships.

Chief sponsor Sam Calvert, Canton, Mo., junior, said that three-fifths of the amount will be given outright to needy students and the remainder will be invested with the income also to be used for minority student scholarships.

With 1200 full-time students, Calvert said the S.S.T. would raise $3,000 each semester with $1,800 immediately available in the form of scholarships and $1,200 to invest.

Calvert said the S.S.T. would be in affect for six years.

He said minority students would include American Indians, Oriental Americans, and Black Americans. Recipients would be required to maintain good standing to receive a scholarship, Calvert said.
